

STATE POLICE COME TO CONFER

Captains of Four Troops Summoned to Talk of Sub-Stations

Captains of the four troops of State Police have been summoned to this city for a conference later in the week in regard to the sub-stations which are generally established in the spring. There are requests from the District Attorneys of twenty-nine counties for such stations.

The State Police force has about seventy vacancies and will be governed in the number of stations established by the number of men on the rolls and the amount of money remaining for the maintenance of the force. Since the last appropriation was made the cost of uniforms, leather equipment, saddles and feed for the horses has advanced in many cases. The officers of the troops say that men are hard to get at the present rate of salaries.

The Honor Roll—The latest issue of Smull's Legislative Handbook contains the "Honor Roll" of the state government. It is the list of names of men of the departments in the United States service during the war. There are several hundred, the Highway Department alone having 125.

Expressmen Meet and Urge Better Packing and Marking

The nation-wide campaign inaugurated by the American Railway Express Company to bring about better methods of packing and marking express shipments, began to-day with the first of a series of meetings of express employees to be held in this city during the month of the drive. At convenient periods throughout the day, Agent J. C. McNiece called together groups of his co-workers and urged them to put their full force behind the campaign now under way and to work with shippers in accomplishing decisive results in bettering the express service.

Vehicle men, depot platform and claim bureau and office employees were each addressed by the agent of his "four minute men," who made stirring appeals for their active cooperation and keen interest in the drive. The speakers told the express workers that they, individually and collectively, could give valuable aid in the campaign by bringing their work up to the highest standards. There is room for improvement everywhere, they stated. Owing to conditions brought about by the war, they admitted, the express service had not been as good as the company had expected to make it. But with these obstacles removed and every expressman doing his part, the way has been cleared for a very marked change for the better.

In urging the men to seek the cooperation of shippers in the drive, the agent brought to the attention of the drivers the necessity of giving them all the aid possible in bringing their packing and marking methods up to the required standard. It was acknowledged that the manner of packing and marking varies with the commodities, but the question of whether a shipment is in proper condition for handling to destination safely must be left to the good judgment of the driver, who has been thoroughly instructed on the rules and regulations. After the "four minute" speeches, Agent J. C. McNiece announced the appointment of a better service campaign committee, made up of the following: Mrs. M. Cook, office, F. A. Myers, vehicle, S. M. Douglas, depot, representing each branch of the local organization. He requested the men and women selected to keep watch on the conditions of business as it passed through the terminals and to call personally on shippers whose consignments needed attention.

Governor Sproul Will Address Social Welfare Conference at First Session

Governor William C. Sproul will be the principal speaker at the opening session of the Pennsylvania Conference on Social Welfare, to be held in the Penn-Harris Hotel tomorrow night. At the conference housing conditions in the state; disposition of dependent and neglected children; insurance as a state contribution to public welfare; federating charities; community programs and Americanization; mental hygiene and problems of the family and the child will be among the subjects to be discussed.

To-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock the executive board will meet. The evening meeting will have as its presiding officer David E. Tracy, Harrisburg, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Conference of Social Welfare. Mrs. Helen Glenn Tyson, of the department of social economy, University of Pittsburgh, will read the president's address, Governor Sproul will speak and Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, New York, will deliver an address.
