Mrs. L. Rapp, 5107 Warren street, Philadelphia, whose husband is with the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company, believes in helping others when she can. "I was so nervous at night I couldn't sleep. Sometimes I wouldn't give two cents for my life. I couldn't eat; gas got up around my heart and the distress was most disturbing. My sister took Tanlac and friends on Fifty-second street spoke well of it. My very first trial of Tanlac was gratifying, and I am getting better with every dose. I have so much faith in it I told a number of my neighbors in Warren street about it."

borne by the Housing Corporation, he added. Portable houses were bought and erected often in less than three weeks. Besides these methods, ninety-eight housing projects were being housed. In November 1918, having a "hunch" that the armistice would be signed, all but twenty-three of the ninety-eight projects were eliminated, and those twenty-three were greatly curtailed. Thirty million dollars of the $100,000,000 appropriation not having been needed, it will be turned back to the treasury department.

Labor Problem. "The most serious problem in the country today is the laborer," he continued, "especially the $85,000,000 misty foreigners, who wander from place to place, making trouble. It is our problem to stabilize this class, and make citizens of them, because these fellows who are raising hell, and unfortunately our Housing Corporation has been unable to do anything for them."

It is an appalling fact that less people are employed in the United States than in any other civilized country," he continued. Private capital is the cause of the lack of individually owned houses, he declared. He is opposed to the Government's building houses, as it fosters "house leeches." It is for that reason that he favors the establishment of the fund to provide money to laborers at reasonable rates of interest, and there-by encourage home-making.

The luncheon was held in conjunction with the joint conference of the Pennsylvania Housing and Town Planning Association and the Pennsylvania Conference on Social Welfare.

Alderman Shaner Gives Supper at West End

More than three hundred members, guests, committeemen and politicians attended the supper given by the West End Republican Club last evening at the club's home in honor of Alderman John H. Shaner, of the Seventh Ward, a candidate for mayor.

The rooms were beautifully decorated in red, white and blue electrical effects. Mannix's Banjo Orchestra, The Quixote and several singers from the local theatres furnished the entertainment. Arthur Simms acted as toastmaster. Many of the guests made speeches during the supper and Alderman Shaner responded with a brief talk.

Among the guests were committeemen from virtually every precinct in the city. A special feature was the singing of a song to be used in the coming campaign.

agree there shall be full and frank interchange of information as to their military and naval programs.

Article XIV The high contracting parties shall undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing local independence of all states members of the league. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression the executive council shall advise upon the means by which the obligation shall be fulfilled.

Article XV "Any war or threat of war, whether or not it immediately affects the high contracting parties or not, is hereby declared a matter of concern to the league. Each high contracting party reserves the right to take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations."

Article XVI "It is hereby also declared and agreed that the right of each of the high contracting parties to draw the attention of the body of delegates to any dispute, or to submit to it any circumstances affecting international intercourse, which threaten to disturb international peace or the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends."

Article XVII "The high contracting parties agree that should any dispute between them which cannot be adjusted by the ordinary processes of diplomacy, they will in no case resort to war, and will not submit the questions and matters involved either to arbitration or to enquiry by the executive council and arbitrators or to a recommendation by the executive council; and that they will not even then resort to war against a member of the league which complies with the recommendation of the executive council."

Article XVIII "In any case under this article, the award of the arbitrators shall be final and binding on the parties. The recommendation of the executive council shall be made within six months after the submission of the dispute."

Article XIX "The high contracting parties agree that whenever any dispute or difficulty shall arise between them which they recognize to be suitable for submission to arbitration and which cannot be adjusted by the ordinary processes of diplomacy, they will submit the whole matter to arbitration. For this purpose the court of arbitration to which the case is referred shall be that agreed on by the parties or stipulated in any convention existing between them. The high contracting parties agree that they will carry out in full good faith any award that may be rendered. In the event of any dispute as to the interpretation of the award the executive council shall propose what steps can best be taken to give effect thereto."

Article XX "The executive council shall formulate plans for the establishment of a permanent court of justice, and this court shall, when established, be competent to hear and determine any matter which the parties recognized as suitable for submission to it for arbitration under the foregoing article."

Article XXI "If there should arise between states members of the league a dispute which is likely to lead to rupture, which is not submitted to arbitration as above, the high contracting parties agree that they will refer the dispute to the executive council; either party to the dispute may give notice of the existence of the dispute to the secretary general, who will make all necessary arrangements for a full investigation and consideration thereof. For those purposes the parties agree to communicate to the secretary general, as promptly as possible, statements with all the relevant facts and papers, and the executive council may forthwith direct the secretary general to cause to be prepared a report on the settlement of the dispute, a statement shall be published, indicating the nature of the dispute and the terms of settlement, together with such explanations as may be appropriate. If the dispute has not been settled by a report by the council shall be published, setting forth with all necessary explanations the recommendation which the council think just and proper for the settlement of the dispute. If the report of the council is not accepted by the members of the council other than the parties to the dispute, the high contracting parties agree that they will not go to war with any party which complies with the recommendations and conditions of the council, and that if any party shall so comply, the council shall propose measures necessary to give effect to the recommendations of the council, and the privilege of the majority to issue statements indicating what they believe to be the facts and containing the reasons which they consider to be just and proper."

Article XXII "The executive council may in any case under this article refer the dispute to the body of delegates. The dispute shall be so referred at the request of either party to the dispute, which request must be made within fourteen days after the submission of the dispute. In a case referred to the body of delegates all the provisions of this article and of Article XII relating to the action and powers of the executive council shall apply to the action and powers of the body of delegates."

Article XXIII "Should any of the high contracting parties break or disregard its covenants under Article XIII, it shall thereby also be deemed to have committed an act of war against all the other members of the league, which hereby undertakes immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade and financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant-breaking state, and the prevention of all financial, commercial, or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the league or not."

Article XXIV "It shall be the duty of the executive council in such case to recommend what effective military or naval force the members of the league shall severally contribute to the armed forces to be used to protect the covenants of the league."

Article XXV "The high contracting parties agree that every treaty or international agreement entered into hereafter by any state member of the league, shall be forthwith registered with the secretary general and as soon as possible published by him, and that no such treaty or international agreement shall be binding until so registered."

Article XXVI "It shall be the right of the body of delegates to refer to the secretary general the reconsideration by states members of the league, of treaties which have become applicable in the light of the international conditions of which the continuance may endanger the peace of the world."

Article XXVII "The high contracting parties severally agree that the present covenant accepted by them, and the obligations inter se which are inconsistent with the terms thereof, and solemnly engage that they will not hereafter enter into any treaty or international agreement which is inconsistent with the terms thereof. In case any of the powers signatory to the present covenant is admitted to the league shall, before coming into force, be subject to the conditions of the present covenant, and shall be bound to take immediate steps to procure its release from such obligations."

Article XXVIII "Amendments to this covenant will take effect when ratified by the states whose representatives compose the executive council and by three-fourths of the states whose representatives compose the body of delegates."

NEWPORT ROAD OPEN TO TRAFFIC

Legal Questions Bob Up When the Cut Off Proposition Is Discussed Today

The question was raised to-day by Highway Commissioner Sadler whether the state could take over a road route not improved in discussing the request of a delegation of people from Dauphin and Perry counties for a new link which would shorten the road between Harrisburg and Newport by twelve miles.

The delegation, composed of prominent residents asked that a new link be built between Amity Hall and Newport on the William Penn highway, which would go away with the route embracing Liverpool and Millerstown which is traveled by many persons touring across the state. The link was added by 1917 legislation. Commissioner Sadler said that he would refer the question to the Attorney General as part of the route was damaged in the 1889 flood and virtually abandoned.

Next day, Wednesday, will see the lounge open to the public. Reopening Next Wednesday "Patrons of the Penn-Harris have been compelled to submit to some discomfort," observed Manager Wiggins, "but they had small knowledge of what the company was going through. The lobby of the hotel had to be used for dining tables and the regular dining room was the grill. With the reopening of the lounge on Wednesday, all this will be changed and the 'coffee room' will, of course, be a great hit."

So strenuous is the demands for a reopening for banquets, dinners and conferences that every token point to an enlargement of this splendid hotel, which is making good in every activity with the space at hand. The weekly party for employees for the last seven days amounted to $772.

"Surpasses all expectation," was the brief comment of George Harry to-day for banquets, dinners and conferences that every token point to an enlargement of this splendid hotel, which is making good in every activity with the space at hand. The weekly party for employees for the last seven days amounted to $772.

Thirteen Properties Are Purchased From the Moffitt Estate by Warren Van Dyke

A deed filed at the recorder's office late yesterday afternoon from the Moffitt estate to Warren Van Dyke involves one of the largest real estate transfers of the year. Thirteen properties were conveyed on Susquehanna and Fourth streets, at a consideration of $1, although the city of Harrisburg had offered to purchase price was in the neighborhood of $40,000. Samuel A. Greene negotiated the deal. It is understood that Mr. Van Dyke proposes to sell all of these properties into two and three family apartments, for occupancy by April 1.

One of Two Lost Men Found by Relatives

Daniel Barr, 256 Crescent street, who wandered from his room yesterday, has been found and returned to his relatives, it was learned today. Caspar Shaffner, 330 Reily street, who also is reported to be delirious, and who has not been located by the police.

Deaths and Funerals

MARY ELIZABETH IRWIN Mary Elizabeth Irwin, aged 7 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Irwin, 1112 State street, died last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of her parents, from pneumonia. She was buried at 7 o'clock at the Mt. Calvary cemetery.

WILLIAM H. YOCUM Funeral services for William H. Yocum, aged 54 years, who died at his home at 7 o'clock yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, will be held at 7 o'clock at the Fifth Street Methodist church, which will officiate. Burial will be in the East Harrisburg cemetery. He was a member of the Pennsylvania Automotive Engineers, No. 459, Woodmen of the World, K. of P. No. 59, and American Mechanics, No. 3.

BUNCO MAN ON SCHEDULE The clever bunco man who announced in yesterday's paper as expected to arrive here and play a game whereby he fleeces store keepers of twenty dollars to be returned in exchange for a twenty dollar bill, we then puts in his pockets while apparently sealing it in an envelope, and then leaves the envelope with the store keeper, who returns it to him, he got an additional one dollar bill, the clerk discovers he only gave 19 one dollar bills for the $20, arrived on time last evening, and at 7 o'clock announced that he was going to play his game on Mrs. Galbraith, a clerk in Weaver's confectionary store at 7 o'clock, and getting away with it. She evidently did not see the papers which announced that he was going to play his game, he saw his game already being played last evening's paper, and made his escape after going into Weaver's.

prevent the selling of the bonds. He said the terms likely will be so reasonable that everyone will recognize the soundness of the investment, and buy bonds.

It is likely the issue will mature in not more than five years, he said. There is a probability that the bonds will be issued in two forms, for the benefit of the small buyer, the interest will be at a comparatively high rate and the bonds will be subject to taxation. For the small bond buyer this would be a best investment. For large purchasers, he said, there likely will be an issue free from taxation, but bearing a lower rate of interest. The superintendent of the treasury department would make the purchase of the bonds bearing the higher interest, but subject to taxation, less profitable for heavy investors.

The new secretary of the Treasury, said Mr. McCormick, has asked Congress to make concessions to the purchasers of bonds in the previous Liberty Loans, so that they will not suffer by a higher rate of interest being paid on the new bonds.

seeing the important job. His workmen were saddened to-day to hear that he had died of influenza and would never be able to see the materialization of his plans in the lounge room. This magnificent apartment was the scene of expert handling to-day, with a dozen of Mr. Phillips' men rehanging the huge window drapery, which weigh several tons. The high broad windows were being draped with light box tapestry, all conforming to the Adam style of architecture.

The Chamber of Commerce held its luncheon in the lounge room to-day, and this organization will stage the most elaborate meeting yet recorded at the hotel on Tuesday night next, when it banquets Governor Sprout and all state legislators. Next day, Wednesday, will see the lounge open to the public.

Reopening Next Wednesday "Patrons of the Penn-Harris have been compelled to submit to some discomfort," observed Manager Wiggins, "but they had small knowledge of what the company was going through. POLICE CASES ARE RIGIDLY PROBED investigated every scrap of evidence in my possession." This is unquestionably true. It was expected that the hearing would develop some of the charges that Magnelli made against other members of the force, to the effect that the police department is generally rotten and that many other officers were guilty of worse offenses than those with which he is charged, but nothing of that kind came out. Nobody raised the question, Mayor Keith having previously said he did not intend to pay any attention to the Magnelli allegations.

Solicitor Fox said to-day the Magnelli charges did not involve an investigation of the whole force and that as city solicitor his only duty in the matter and the extent to which he was empowered to go in the case was to show upon the evidence presented, that the Mayor's charges were well founded.

In city circles it is not believed that the city solicitor is going to go deeply into the affairs of the department. They profess to believe that Magnelli cannot substantiate his charges, and fall back upon the old "form" charge, that the charges having been filed with us, there is nothing on which to base an investigation. Magnelli, also, has become strangely silent and has had a word to say at the hearing yesterday concerning the affidavits with which he was so free when he was first dismissed by the Mayor. Neither he nor his counsel intend to introduce his counter-charges into the hearing and since they did not figure in the evidence laid before the city solicitor they were not brought up.

Nevertheless there is a widespread belief that things are not as they are. The Mayor's friends say he could strengthen himself greatly in the opinion of the public if he would order a complete investigation of the reports and rumors that have gained such wide currency, and no other reason than that he owes it to well-behaved officers of the force to clear their skirts of blame.

GRADE CROSSING CASH AVAILABLE

Decision May Have Bearing Upon the Derry Township Propositions, Too

The Public Service Commission was to-day informed by Deputy General Hargest that if "the commission enters into a specific contract for payment out of the appropriation for $200,000 for elimination of grade crossings and provides that the work shall not be begun during the war or at a date prior to June 1, 1919, so much of said appropriation as is necessary to carry out said contract will not lapse and will be available after the two fiscal years have expired." In an opinion to Governor Sprout relating to extradition proceedings it is held that Pennsylvania having adhered to the rules of practice governing extradition proceedings outlined at an interstate conference some years ago, it is better that there should be uniformity of practice. In the case under discussion the requisition from Massachusetts for a man charged with "begging with child" is advised to be refused.

Governor Sprout to-day announced appointment of Francis J. Kooser, a former judge of Somerset, to fill the vacancy on the Somerset county bench. A statement issued from the governor's office is said: "In speaking of the appointment Governor Sprout let it be known that he had no desire to enter into any factional alignments there. There was a great divergence of opinion apparently between the various political elements in the county and among the members of the bar as to the succession and as Judge Russell had been ill for several months the business of the court has been much delayed and there is a great accumulation of matter awaiting attention. Rather than await an agreement between the different factions the governor decided that the commonwealth's business was paramount and should be cared for and as Judge Kooser has had ten years experience as a judge and could assume his duties at once, his appointment was promptly settled upon. The people of the county will now have abundant time to nominate a candidate for the next election, and Judge Kooser will be satisfied to have the honor of the position."

Adjutant General Beary went to Washington to-day to discuss militia affairs and the reorganization of the National Guard. A Pennsylvania War Department official, military training will also be taken up. An amendment to the public buildings and grounds act that the deputy superintendent shall be an engineer and be in charge of the construction of new buildings, bridges and capitol park improvements. This proposition will be taken up here next week.

Auditor General Charles A. Snyder intends not only to urge his proposed minimum salary increase plan in the solution of the problem of pay for teachers, but to emphasize what he considers necessary changes in the high and grammar school plans. The position of Mr. Snyder, who has been a student of teachers salary acts, holds that under present conditions a good man will have a hard time becoming a professional man and that unless a change is made there will be no rural physicians in the next decade.

DIES OF PNEUMONIA Isaac Lebo, a farmer aged 28, who was admitted to the Harrisburg Hospital at 2 o'clock yesterday, died at 6 o'clock last evening of pneumonia. He lived near Dauphin.

RETURNS TO CAMP

Sergeant John Yostadt, who spent a week's furlough at his home, returned to Camp Humphries, last evening.

This rash may become serious.

Some people are inclined to neglect a slight rash. They consider it a mere trifle and expect it to disappear next day. On the contrary this delay permits the rash often times to become more malignant in nature, and consequently more difficult to overcome and heal.
