

NEW SHOPS WILL TAKE PLACE OF ONES DESTROYED

Destruction of Buildings at Lalance-Grosjean Company Will Not Cause Idleness

Modern, fireproof structures will be built at once to replace the machine shop and blacksmith shop of the Lalance-Grosjean Manufacturing Company, Park lane, near Sixth street, which were destroyed by fire early last evening, it was announced by John Grey, local manager, after the fire. An investigation is being made to determine how the fire started.

The fire has not interfered with the operation of the remainder of the plant and none of the employees has been thrown out of work, Mr. Grey said. Ten men were employed in the two shops, and will be given work in other parts of the establishment.

The fire started about 6 o'clock in the machine shop, a frame building about 80 by 30 feet, along the north wall. Due to the oil and grease about the building, the flames burned fiercely. The blacksmith shop adjoined the machine shop on the south, and was completely destroyed. Idwal Richards, who was working in the building at the time, discovered the fire and ran to the company's office and summoned the Camp Curtin Fire Company. There was not enough pressure for the company's hose to render efficient service against the flames. The box alarm was followed by a general alarm, nearly every company in the upper part of the city responding.

Wilbur Stoner, of the Camp Curtin company, was overcome by smoke and was resuscitated by artificial respiration and sent to his home. During the fire workmen continued their routine work in other departments of the plant, and operations were resumed without interruption to-day.

FARM AGENTS HELPED

The work done by county farm agents during the war is summarized in the current issue of the weekly news letter of the Federal Department of Agriculture, received by H. G. Niesley, county farm agent, this morning. According to the bulletin, the 1,100 agents in the country during the war conducted 74,710 demonstrations which resulted in crop increases amounting to $21,851,000, increased the spring wheat acreage by 1,500,000 acres, and the winter wheat by 2,717,000 acres, increased live stock holdings by 5,117 registered bulls, and 8,770 registered cows, and caused the canning of 3,202,600 quarts of fruits and vegetables.

TO ADDRESS ENGINEERS SOCIETY ON BY-PRODUCTS

E. W. Winship, superintendent of the coke oven department of the Steelton plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company, will speak on Monday evening at 8 o'clock before the Engineers' Society of Pennsylvania, on "Recovery of By-Products From Coal by Means of Modern By-product Coke Ovens."

W. S. Baldwin, who is connected with the Harrisburg Gas Company, will speak on the problems of gas to the consumer.

USUAL DROP IN COAL PRICES IS NOT ASSURED

Local Dealers Fear April Reductions Will Not Materialize This Year

Information received from Pottsville this morning is to the effect that the usual reduction of fifty cents a ton for anthracite coal on April 1 will be made by the operators this year. Thereafter the price will increase ten cents monthly until the regular prices are reached.

Local dealers said they have received no information regarding the customary decrease in price, and look for none immediately. According to them, there is not a great surplus of coal, but rather a decreased demand. They say the mines are not working more than half their capacity to produce anthracite.

Coal prices no longer being regulated by the Government, neither dealers nor operators are obliged to conform to war-time prices. The independent coal producers, as an example, who during the war were allowed an additional seventy-five cents a ton over the prices received by those producers affiliated with common carriers, are said to be selling their coal for a price which does not include the seventy-five cents allowed for freightage. This is because the demand is not great enough to allow them that additional charge, it is said.

Dealers could predict no change in coal prices and were not prepared to-day to tell what changes the immediate future will develop. The clearing house established for war emergencies by the Fuel Administration and dealers will automatically cease to function with the end of the Fuel Administration, it was said.

Final Vote on Army Bill Not Reached

Washington, Feb. 14.—There is no indication when a final vote will be reached on the eleven hundred million dollar army appropriation bill.

Universal military training was advocated by Representative Kahn, of California, Republican, who is expected to head the military committee in the next Congress. He urged the training for six months of all youths when they attain their nineteenth birthday.

HELD FOR DISORDER

Mayor Keister disposed of a number of cases of disorderliness in police court this afternoon. Henry Metz, who was arrested by Policeman Benjamin, at Dewberry and Cherry streets, on the charge of attacking Fritz Murray, breaking his nose and dislocating his shoulder, was on the lists. Lemma also arrested Benjamin Foreney on a charge of raising a disturbance in Cherry street. Ada Jones, arrested at Verbeke and Cherry streets, was fined on a charge of disorderly conduct. Edward Reedy, arrested at the Second and Mulberry street subway, by Policeman Ross, was charged with drunkenness.

FIGHT AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS TO BE WAGED HERE

Campaign to Begin in Public Schools Among the Children

An active campaign against the spread of tuberculosis is to be inaugurated by the recently reorganized Anti-Tuberculosis Society of Harrisburg. Miss Richardella Gibson, of Baltimore, an experienced social and tuberculosis worker, has been selected to act as executive secretary to direct the work in this territory.

In explaining the broadening of the work of the society, Miss Gibson says: "The support of the work previously done by this organization has come from the Red Cross sales, but this year on account of the many war activities, the seal sale was eliminated and the roll call substituted. Under this arrangement, Miss Gibson tells that several hundred thousands of dollars more than ordinary has been set aside for expansion in the anti-tuberculosis work. This sum, she says, has been paid to the National Tuberculosis Association to aid in carrying on the work of itself and co-operating societies.

It is the general conception of those in authority that preventive measures of modern medical science can become effective on a large scale only through very general and very thorough popular education. Miss Gibson tells a dad that it will be with education that the local society will deal principally within the next several months.

It will be confined for the first few months to the public schools of this territory, where the modern health crusade movement will be instituted. The crusade will supply the child with a motive for patient work in acquiring good health habits. Miss Gibson explains. The abstract advantages of health and the truths of physiology will be explained. "It holds up to them the chivalry of health and gives them something to do and honors to earn with visible rewards," Miss Gibson believes. "The strain and deprivations of war have increased its ravages," the workers explain.

The Law and The Name

The name of the new table luxury which bids fair to replace dairy butter in many thousands of families is Benoit Brand "Sweet Nut," but the law passed before it was invented, requires that the word "oleomargarine" be placed on every package. Such is the law, but in point of fact the new table luxury is very different from ordinary oleomargarine. In the first place, it contains no animal fats or preservatives of any kind except high-grade salt. It is made entirely from sweetening natural foods, especially like to eat. The crisp, white meat of the coconut and pasteurized milk are inviting ingredients. In the second place, you cannot distinguish it when served from the best creamery butter. Its price is a daily economy—two a pound. Sold only at Tamul Tea Co., 231 Market St., up 1 flight, Harrisburg, where Benoit Brand Teas, Coffees and Grocery Specialties are retailed at wholesale prices.
