

Report of Coal Land Probe to Be Made This Week, Engineer Reports

T. Ellsworth Davies, of Scranton, the mining engineer secured by Dauphin county officials to make a complete survey of coal lands in this section, conferred with the county commissioners to-day, and will submit his final report before the end of the week they announced. As soon as the valuations of the coal lands are fixed by the commissioners, notices will be sent to the companies holding titles to them. It is generally believed Davies will recommend immense increases in the assessments of these lands. The first of the triennial assessment appeals will be heard by the commissioners on Friday when property owners of Penbrook may enter objections to valuations as they have been fixed now. On Saturday the commissioners will sit at Millersburg.

Famo Stops Seborrhea and Grows Healthy Hair

We ask you to put FAMO to the most exacting test. Have a member of your family examine your scalp before you start the use of FAMO. Apply FAMO daily for one month. Have your scalp examined again. If they do not report the growth of new hair, return the FAMO bottle to where you purchased it and you will receive your money back. FAMO DOES grow new hair luxuriantly. It makes the hair fluffy and soft. FAMO intensifies a natural tendency to waviness and retards grayness. It contains no harmful alcohol to dry the scalp and produce gray hair. Every woman should use FAMO regularly. Its use is a daily habit you will enjoy. But not only does FAMO beautify the hair. FAMO kills the deadly seborrhea microbe, which is the cause of dandruff. It stops all itching of the scalp and nourishes and feeds the hair roots.

AGED PREMIER IS SHOT BY ASSASSIN

[Continued from First Page.] the windows of the premier's automobile was smashed by the bullets. Long a Big Figure. Georges Clemenceau has been one of the leading statesmen of France for decades, but it was not until the critical stages of the great war came and he took the reins and guided the country through to the end of the struggle that he became a world-renowned figure that he is to-day.

With the fighting ended, M. Clemenceau has continued at the head of the French government during the trying peace-making period. Head of the French delegation in the Peace Conference, he has been an outstanding figure in the deliberations of that body, over whose sessions he presided. Of an extremely vigorous and aggressive personality, Premier Clemenceau, while attracting to himself a large and warmly loyal following, has also determined and outspoken opponents. At every turn of affairs in parliament, however, he has been able to wear down the opposition to him, and just before the opening of the Peace Conference he and his administration were given a striking vote of confidence by the Chamber of Deputies.

"Tiger of France". Premier Clemenceau, while formerly classed as an ideal, has come to be known in later years as a representative rather of the more moderate elements in the French body politic, and it is in this phase of his activity that he has been opposed by the more extreme elements in the French political world, who have accused him of giving his policies too much of an imperialistic trend. He was credited at first with being opposed to the plan for the League of Nations in his broader phases, expressing a preference for a balance of power secured by France, Great Britain, the United States and Italy. His representatives, however, have joined freely in the work of framing the covenant of the league and, with some reservations, expressed approval of it as it was laid before the Peace Conference. Despite his advanced years—he is 76 years old—M. Clemenceau has continued to justify the sobriquet of "the tiger" which long has been applied to him, going through the trying work of the Peace Conference with its many long consultations, without often showing signs of fatigue.

Reports Contradictory. First reports of the incidents of the shooting were somewhat contradictory. It seems established, however, that M. Clemenceau was in his automobile. It had started and was turning a corner of the Rue Franklin into the Rue Delessert, when a man standing on the sidewalk jumped toward the door of the automobile and fired several times. One of the bullets penetrated the interior of the car and struck the premier in the right shoulder. The premier tried to open the door when the first shot was fired, although the automobile was under considerable headway, and while he was thus engaged the bullet hit him. His chauffeur, Brabant, was also slightly wounded. Thus three of the assassin's bullets, it appears, took effect, one upon the premier, another upon the chauffeur, and the third upon Policeman Goursat, who was one of the police agents who guard the premier.

Walked Into House. It was in the struggle with the assassin after he had shot into the automobile that the police officer was wounded. Meanwhile, the premier had stepped out of his automobile and walked into his house. The actual arrest of the assailant was made by Police Agent Labaugh. He also made the first examination of the prisoner.

CITY ALIVE TO ITS PART IN BIG TASK

[Continued from First Page.] solves their international relations; or whether they are to merge their destinies with those of other nations of the world, sharing their burdens, participating in their quarrels and becoming a party to all international complications. Sees No Harm in Discussion. Referring to the request of President Wilson that Congress refrain from discussing of the league until he could meet with the Foreign Affairs Committee, Senator Poindexter asserted it was a matter of "too much importance for us to remain altogether silent," and that "no harm can be done by full discussion of a document of which the world was purposely kept in entire ignorance until it came forth full-panoplied, as though born from the head of Jove."

tion of the new building and said that action should be taken as soon as the legislation now being prepared is passed. Officials Enthusiastic. City officials are enthusiastic about the move. Each year Harrisburg pays many hundreds of dollars in rentals and has its municipal offices scattered in half a dozen buildings, some of them blocks apart. Taxpayers repeatedly complained about the inconveniences which they met in attempting to consult several officials about important questions.

Commissioner Charles W. Burtant asserted that all the members of the Council are anxiously awaiting the passage of the legislation which will permit the city and county to join in carrying out the much-needed improvement. He endorsed Governor Sproul's attitude and said that there should be no delays. Willing to Do Part. Commissioner W. H. Lynch was another member of Council who said Harrisburg is willing and ready to take up the preparation of plans at once and will do everything possible to assure the construction of the new municipal building and courthouse.

Public opinion favoring immediate action is increasing constantly and the assurance of both City and County Commissioners that they will not let this improvement be delayed has aroused much favorable comment. Park Commissioner D. Z. Gross added his assurance of Council's intention to start the project as soon as possible and said officials will lose no time in getting the improvement under way.

BEIDLEMAN TO HELP. Mayor Daniel L. Keister expresses himself as being very much in favor of the construction of the joint city-county building and declares that he will favor the proceeding at once in making arrangements as soon as legislation is enacted which will permit the construction and joint occupancy of such a structure. He expresses the opinion that his sentiment in this respect is voiced by the city and county commissioners.

Commissioner Hassler, it is understood, is quite heartily in favor of the plans which provide for the construction of the building, and is lending much effort in rushing the necessary legislation. Lieutenant-Governor Beidleman is an enthusiastic of the proposed new structure. It is understood that he is and will continue to aid in hurrying the bill to adoption.

POINDEXTER SEES NO GOOD IN LEAGUE

[Continued from First Page.] solves their international relations; or whether they are to merge their destinies with those of other nations of the world, sharing their burdens, participating in their quarrels and becoming a party to all international complications. Sees No Harm in Discussion. Referring to the request of President Wilson that Congress refrain from discussing of the league until he could meet with the Foreign Affairs Committee, Senator Poindexter asserted it was a matter of "too much importance for us to remain altogether silent," and that "no harm can be done by full discussion of a document of which the world was purposely kept in entire ignorance until it came forth full-panoplied, as though born from the head of Jove."

Taking up the provisions of the league's constitution, the Senator declared that the document contained no provision for its abrogation or for the withdrawal of a nation. He added that doubtless the league's advocates would contend that the agreement might be abrogated at any time, but he said, was the contention of many of the states which joined the Federal Union, "only to learn differently through the bloodshed of a Civil War."

By the terms of the constitution, he continued, the decision as to the relative reduction of the army and navy of the United States in proportion to that of the great rival powers would be taken absolutely out of the jurisdiction of the people and government of the United States and vested in the jurisdiction of the league, "where the United States has but one vote, amid a large number of alien powers." This in itself, he added, would be in conflict with the Constitution of the United States.

The Power of Congress to declare war, he said, would be taken away, also in violation of the Constitution, and vested in a tribunal, "the great overwhelming majority of which is composed of aliens to our interests and institutions." The league promises little guarantee for future peace, he asserted, when those who drafted its constitution have "not been able to restore present peace or set up orderly government in central Europe and Russia."

Under provisions of the constitution providing for mandatories for colonial territories, Senator Poindexter said the United States would be required to "undertake, practically unsolicited and unsought, to extend our responsibilities and cares to the uttermost parts of the earth."

While taking up the obligations of government in Asia, Africa and Europe, the United States, he said, would surrender "to Asia, Africa and Europe, American policies which have been the prize jewels in the American diadem of state."

Declaring that the emergencies of the past which necessitated assertion of the principles of the Monroe Doctrine may arise in the future, Senator Poindexter said he hoped the American people had not reached the point where they were willing that "the high ideals of these traditional doctrines would be left to the administration of an alien tribunal established under the League of Nations."
