Clayton in "Woman's Weapons."

VICTORIA To-day and to-morrow—"Her Mistake."

Signorina Eufemia Giannini, the Italian girl, whose name was a play on the name of the Italian Alps Nightingale along the hard-pressed Italian front and through-out Rome, and who is called the "Nightingale of the Alps" will be heard for the first time in this city at the Orpheum to-night.

Born in Philadelphia nineteen years ago, the Signorina, as a child, attracted attention by the notes of her soprano voice. The Jeweller's Club, together with the United League Club of Philadelphia, became interested and furnished funds for the little singer to study in Italy.

Musical on both sides of her house, she sailed for Italy, where she threw herself into study at Milan. Her success is attested by the fact that she has sung the heaviest soprano roles in Italy in the leading operas. Along the front, among the soldiers, Signorina Giannini sang, spreading cheer and heart throbs with her voice. Then to the hospital, where she sang for the wounded, soothing their last hours or speeding them to recovery.

She comes to America with the title given her by the soldiers on the Italian front, "The Nightingale of the Alps."

Signorina Giannini will be assisted by Ferruccio A. Giannini, a noted tenor; Mame Sara Sokolsky, Fried, pianist, and Vittorio Giannini, a young violin virtuoso.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be given at the Orpheum to-morrow and Thursday, with daily matinees. It is one of the most successful and most interesting plays ever placed upon the stage, and it will live forever in the memory of the theater-going public.

William H. Kibble, the enterprising manager, has taken great pains in staging and producing the original version of Mrs. Stowe's beautiful story, every year trying to outdo the stage, and it will live forever in the memory of the theater-going public.

STARKEY HOME AFTER TOUR OF OVERSEAS MILLS

Pipe Bending Head Was Passenger on Olympic; Schwab Back, Too

New York, Feb. 25.—William P. Starkey, general superintendent of the Harrisburg Pipe and Pipe Bending Company at Harrisburg, Pa., returned home yesterday on the White Star liner, Olympic.

During the past several weeks he has made a tour of English and Scottish iron foundries and steel works.

Rear Admiral William Hannum Grubb Bullard, U. S. N., of Media, Pa., who served as commander of the American fleet in the Adriatic, also was on the Olympic. He said he left on duty less than a dozen American destroyers.

Charles M. Schwab, former director general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, was also a passenger on the Olympic, which brought back from France nearly 6,000 American fighting men.

Visited Battlefields Mr. Schwab, who sailed from here on New Year's day to visit the battle fronts, said he had taken little interest in reconstruction work abroad.

"It seems too early as yet to begin and because of this I see no immediate outlet for American iron and steel," he continued. "Ultimately there will be much business, but not for a long time."

Referring to the charges of un-pleasantness between the American camp at Brest, Mr. Schwab said: "I spent three days at Brest and saw all of the camp. I had full opportunity to see the condition of the camp and the work being done."

"I knew nothing of the criticism of it and was delighted with the camp created under the conditions that it was in. It is not a place where a camp can be constructed expeditiously. It is not Fifth avenue, of course."

Colonel Harrell Is Back in Regt. After Being Wounded

Paris, Feb. 25.—Premier Clemenceau did not see any visitors yesterday except for the usual calls by Stephen Pichon, foreign minister, General Morand, of the war office, and several other persons who keep him informed concerning matters at the Peace Conference.

M. Clemenceau's physicians last night expressed pleasure in the manner in which the premier carried out their instructions yesterday and at there having been no act of indiscretion on the part of the "old Tiger."

The expectation still is that M. Clemenceau will be able to resume his duties next Thursday.

COLONEL W. F. HARRELL Col. W. F. Harrell, who will be remembered by many Harrisburgers as the officer who placed the Harrisburg district recruiting office of the United States army at the top of the list, is now colonel commanding the Sixteenth United States Infantry in France. When he left here he was a major and reorganized some companies of the Sixteenth at Syracuse.

In France he was twice wounded and twice gassed while with the Sixteenth. He is back in command of the regiment now and does not know when he will be home.

Colonel Harrell has the remarkable record of having entered the Sixteenth when he left West Point, and remaining with him practically all of his career with the army.

Mrs. Harrell and her daughters, who will be pleasantly remembered by many Harrisburgers, are now residing at Denver.

GREAT MUSIC AT ORPHEUM

New York Syncopated Orchestra Pleases Big House With Folk Songs and Melodies

Passing swiftly from Rhapsody to negro folk song through the entire gamut of song and orchestration in all of its phases, the New York Syncopated Orchestra last night appeared before an almost full house at the Orpheum.

Pity it was that not every seat was filled for the entertainment was in every respect one to command the attention of everyone. The name of the organization may have misled a bit, for it savors of the "Jazz" variety, but truth to tell the program was high class.

Under the leadership of Will Marion Cook, a well-known composer about fifty negro musicians and vocalists have been assembled. They have not said enough to the real musical merit of the south, and to bring its qualities to the fore is one of the objects of the leader. And he does it, for with the orchestra and vocalists his hearers learn of many new beauties which have hitherto gone unnoticed.

Quartets, solos, ensembles all done with remarkable finish and technique elicited hearty applause. And when Frank Withers played his Blues as a trombone solo, the house just couldn't keep their feet still. And then the Pan-American orchestration came on and performers and audience too, just waved from side to side in rhythm to the tune of a lively, catchy "Jazz." Everything that was claimed for the orchestra was true, and more. Pity was as noted before that not every seat was filled.

Lieut. Cy Hecker Home After 21 Months in Army

Lieutenant Cy Hecker in the service, Lieutenant Cy Hecker is back in Harrisburg ready to resume his place in civilian life.

Cy was stationed at Camp Hancock, where he was in charge of conservation and reclamation work, a branch of the service which he helped to inaugurate about a year ago.

Conservation and reclamation work had as its object to prevent waste, if preventable, and if not preventable to reclaim; and if neither preventable nor reclaimable to dispose of waste to the most profitable advantage of the government.

Just as an example, before this department was inaugurated garbage was considered waste. Since conservation and reclamation work has been inaugurated, all the garbage from camps was sold at a good price, yielding revenue to Uncle Sam.

Cy got into the work early in the game, and after becoming thoroughly schooled in the subject was sent to various camps lecturing on the subject and helping to organize other "camps" in the work. He also contributed various articles to "Trench Camp," the official camp paper in all cantonments in this country.

His knowledge of the subject and the need of his service rendered in this work prevented him from getting overseas.

Is Your Blood Starving for Want of Iron

Modern Methods of Cooking and Living Have Made an Alarming Increase in Iron Deficiency in Blood of American Men and Women

WHY NUXATED IRON SO QUICKLY BUILDS WEAK, NERVOUS, RUN-DOWN FOLKS—Over 3,000,000 People Annually Taking It In This Country Alone To Increase Their Strength, Power, Energy and Endurance.

"Is your blood starving for want of iron? Iron is red blood food. If you were to go without eating until you became as weak as a few cats, less, I strongly advise readers in all cases to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name—Nuxated Iron—appears on the package. If you have taken preparations such as Nutri- and Iron and other similar iron products and failed to get results, remember that such a man is an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron. In commenting upon the value of Nuxated Iron as a means for creating red blood, strength and endurance, Dr. Ferdinand Kies, a New York Physician and Medical Author says:

"Scarcely a day goes by but that I see women whose careworn faces, dragging steps and generally a tired appearance, which is a sure sign of iron deficiency, run-down condition usually brought about by lack of iron in the blood.

"For want of iron you may be an old man sixty, thirty, dull of intellect, poor memory, nervous, irritable and all run-down," while at 50 or 60 with plenty of iron in your blood you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being bubbling over with vim and energy.

"As proof of this take the case of former United States Senator and Vice Presidential nominee Charles A. Towne, who at past 68 is still a healthy, energetic man of tireless energy. Senator Towne says: 'I have found Nuxated Iron of the greatest benefit as a tonic and stimulant. Henceforth I shall not be without it. I am in a position to testify for the benefit of others that the remarkable and immediate helpfulness of this remedy, and I unhesitatingly recommend Nuxated Iron to those who feel the need of renewed energy and the regularity of bodily functions.'

"But in my opinion you can't make healthy, rosy-cheeked women by feeding them on metallic iron. The old forms of metallic iron must go through a digestive process to transform them into organic iron—Nuxated Iron—before they are ready to be taken up and assimilated by the human system.
