A Preachment For the Woman in Business. At lunch yesterday we were talking about Success and how to gain it—and particularly Success in a salaried position. And here was our conclusion. Success is not difficult. It's largely a matter of mental attitude—or nerve. Just a few more foot pounds of energy and you carry the trench. The $50-a-week woman is not twice as smart as the $25 a week one. She's only 10 per cent. more able. Beyond a certain level there's less competition.

What determines your success? Other people's opinion of your value. And what determines their opinion? Your own opinion of yourself—at least in great measure. And what reflects your opinion of yourself? Your appearance. So after all your wardrobe is a big factor in your earning power. A new suit or becoming frock will often pay the girl in business actual dividends in the shape of more money in her pay envelope. It shows people that she puts a high valuation on her own ability.

DEBATING TEAMS MEET. The two teams representing the school have met for the last time under the supervision of the English department. On Wednesday evening the affirmative team composed of Winston Romig met at the home of Carl Stoner, Stewart Wagner and Miss Katherine Zeider, State street, to have their speeches gone over for the last time before the debate with Reading.

DINNER IN SOLDIER'S HONOR. Everett C. Howard, recently returned from Army service, was the guest of honor at a most attractive party given last evening when his friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Howard, entertained several friends at their home, 444 Market street. The evening was pleasantly spent. Dinner was served in a novel style. When the guests, most of whom had seen Army service, entered the diningroom, they found small cannon and guns on the table. In the center was a tent filled with favors. Pork and beans was served on regular "mess" plates, and the coffee came in tin cups. Doughnuts were served in Salvation Army style. The last course was ice cream, moulded in the shape of an American flag.

DIPPERY-REIGLE WEDDING. Miss Ethel Reigle and Vincent Moscoe Dippery, both of Lewisport, were married last night, at 7 o'clock, in the Marriage of the Covenant Presbyterian Church. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. Harvey Kinsey. There were no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Dippery will reside, for the present, at 1521 North Third street.
