

COMPULSORY SPORT FOR STUDENTS IS TECH AIM; HIGH CLASS BOXING AT MOTIVE POWER

Tech Wants Compulsory Sport For Every Student as at Philips Exeter

While it is a fact that Tech High School has done more than any other educational activity to put and keep Harrisburg on the map, its athletic system does not satisfy the men who are doing so much for this enterprising school. They believe that athletics should be compulsory as they are at Philips Exeter where this sort of democracy has made the New England school champion par excellence.

At Exeter success is due, in large measure, to the inclusive and consistent system of physical training given the whole school.

Every boy, no matter how puny or ineffectual he may be, will find pleasure and profit in some form of athletics if an opportunity is offered. To present this opportunity, a large and inviting equipment is necessary, and in this respect Exeter is well endowed by nature, followed closely by the alumni.

The Plimpton playing fields, a level and well drained stretch of about twenty-five acres on the school shore of the Exeter river, furnish baseball and football fields, board and cinder running tracks, besides fifteen tennis courts, on which in winter hockey rinks are constructed. On the river are two boat-houses, one of them a storage house for canoes. On the other side of the river lie the Plimpton fields beyond, an immense stretch of 380 acres, with ninety acres suitable for general athletic purposes, such as golf, football practice, soccer and the remainder of standing timber, for the pursuit of woodcraft and cross country running.

Besides this extensive outdoor range, there is the Thompson gymnasium, the gift of William B. Thompson, of New York, class of 1899, costing about $250,000 and situated on the west side of the playing fields. This gymnasium is a magnificent limestone structure, consisting of a main section, 120 feet by 80, and two wings, containing the swimming pool and rooms for squash, boxing and fencing. The academy's six rowing shells are housed in the Marshall Newell boat-

Premier Fight at Motive Power Will Be Philips and Dundee

Manager Runk, of the Motive Power A. A. believes that the prime bout of the great boxing show on March 11, will be that between Joe Philips and Eddie Dundee, one of Philadelphia, the other of Allentown, and no stranger to Harrisburg. Philips defeated Terry McGovern, a Philadelphia boy, thus winning the title of Italian lightweight champion of the State, and he is reckoned the best light heavyweight in his home city of Philadelphia. He has fought the brawling Lew Tendler, he has fought Willie Jackson, Johnny Mealy, Joe Wells, etc.; fought Johnny Dun-

Dundee Send Mealy to the Mat Twice at Lively Boxing Fray in Philadelphia

Johnny Dundee handed a trouncing to Johnny Mealy last night, in the windup at the Olympia, in Philadelphia, in six hard rounds of milling, but Mealy put up a grand fight. Knocked down twice for the count of nine in the second round, when Dundee landed a couple of hard left hooks to the jaw. Mealy came back strong in the last four rounds and guardfully evened matters up, taking the lead in the sixth round when he had all the better of it.

In the semi-windup a new colored heavyweight flash put in his appearance in Panama Joe Gans, who bested the Jamaica Kid in a whirlwind affair. Both duskins were pretty nearly fought to a finish at the conclusion.

They staged a regular Zbysko-Stecher event in the third preliminary, when they turned loose Joe Mooney, of this city, and Mike Burns of New York, against each other. Burns won and gave Mooney an awful lacing. When it came to direction, Mooney knew where he lived and gave an exhibition that ought to land him a job with Barnum and Bailey's. He managed to drag Burns to the corner at the end of each round and get a couple of seconds extra rest by flopping into his chair at the bell while Burns had to amble across the ring.

In the other prelims, Jimmy Mendo spilled Victor Ritchie in the third for the count of nine and won out. Willie Kohler lost to Young Johnny Duffy, and in the amateur bout staged under the direction of the A. A. A., Ray O'Malley, of this city, a brother of Johnny Mealy, won from Herbert Levin, of New York.

Battle Royal When the Central High Girls Meet Camp Hill

Central High school's quintet of lassies will meet a strong team of tossers from across the river on Friday night at Chestnut street hall. The Camp Hill High school is the school booked to play the Central girls, and the game promises to be one well worth seeing. The Camp Hill bunch have been "cleaning up" things at a great rate this season, but the Central crew are not one bit afraid of them, and will give them a merry chase for honors on Friday night.

Although the team representing Central this year have been playing a little out-of-luck, they are not down-hearted in the least, and mean to put their best efforts into every game that remains on the schedule. Coach Dave McConnell has been putting them through some fast work, and there is no reason why they will not take the cross-river crowd into camp when they meet them this week.

As an added attraction this week, Prof. Bertram Saul, athletic adviser at Central, has arranged to have the Central Informals meet the Tech High school scrubs. Two weeks ago the Informals gave the Tech crew a merry chase for the game, and there is a mighty good chance that they will hang up a victory for the school this time. An attractive dance program has been arranged to follow the games.

Knier, of Overview, serving with Company C, One Hundred and Second Field Signal Battalion, has sent home a German Iron Cross, which he took from a German dugout, when a Hun officer opened the door and was shot dead. PROSPECTS ARE THAT NEVADA WILL HAVE TWENTY-ROUND BOXING

The House of Representatives yesterday passed a bill to the effect over the veto of Governor Boyle. If the Senate ratifies the bill it is ten to one that Willard and Dempsey will fight out there, not in Pennsylvania.

Kiwanis Club to Entertain Their Ladies This Evening at Penn-Harris Ballroom

Members of the Harrisburg Kiwanis Club, with their wives and sweethearts, are planning for the biggest night in the club's history this evening when the Penn-Harris ballroom will be the scene of the annual ladies' dinner and dance.

Charles L. Schmidt is generalissimo for the evening. He advised a Telegraph reporter this morning that the stunts to be pulled off will be ear-splitting, soul-wrenching and "awfully entertaining." Just what these numbers on the program will be, it is not announced, but Chairman Smith didn't hesitate to say that the entertainment committee has a program which will "bring you a grand and glorious feeling," to quote his own words.

A feature of the evening will be the singing of the Quality Four headed by J. Stewart Black, Kiwanis pianist. This vocal organization pleased Kiwanians at a recent club meeting, with their really excellent singing.

The affair will open at 6:30 o'clock with a dinner served in true Penn-Harris style by Maitre d'Hotel Davison.

Oppose Negotiations With the Bolsheviks

Washington, March 4.—In a cablegram addressed to President Wilson, Senator Hitchcock, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, and Senator Lodge, Republican leader, two Russian representatives at Paris protested against negotiations with the allies and the United States with the Bolshevik government.

The signatures to the message as well as the text, evidently were gathered in transmission. The names were received as Vladimir Bortzoff and Boris Savanoff.

It is assumed that the signers of the message were Vladimir Bortzoff, revolutionist, and General Boris Savanoff, former acting war minister.

FIRE DESTROYS STORE

Bethlehem, Pa., March 4.—Fire of unknown origin late yesterday destroyed the big furniture store owned by George Riegel in this city, causing a loss of nearly $100,000.

AROUND THE BASES

Harrisburg is slow getting into baseball. The rumor to-day is that Reading will bust into the newly-organized International League, the team having been recommended by Arthur Irwin, now manager of the Rochester Club. The franchise held by Syracuse and later Hamilton, Canada, is on the market and about five cities are bidding for it. But Irwin thinks Reading would have a better chance of getting the berth than any of the other cities, because the circuit would be more compact with a team here.

AT LEWISTOWN

The whole city of Reading is bowling mad as the great tournament continues. Captain William Bowers, chieftain of the Carpenter Steel Company alley artists, leads with an average of 180.21, attained in forty-two games, in which the popular leader has scored a total of 7,581 pins. Lange of the Noid & Horst team, is runner up with an average of 173.36 in thirty-two games, while Welder, who is right on Lange's heels, with an average of 173.20 for forty-two games, is third.

GIRL MARKSMAN WINS

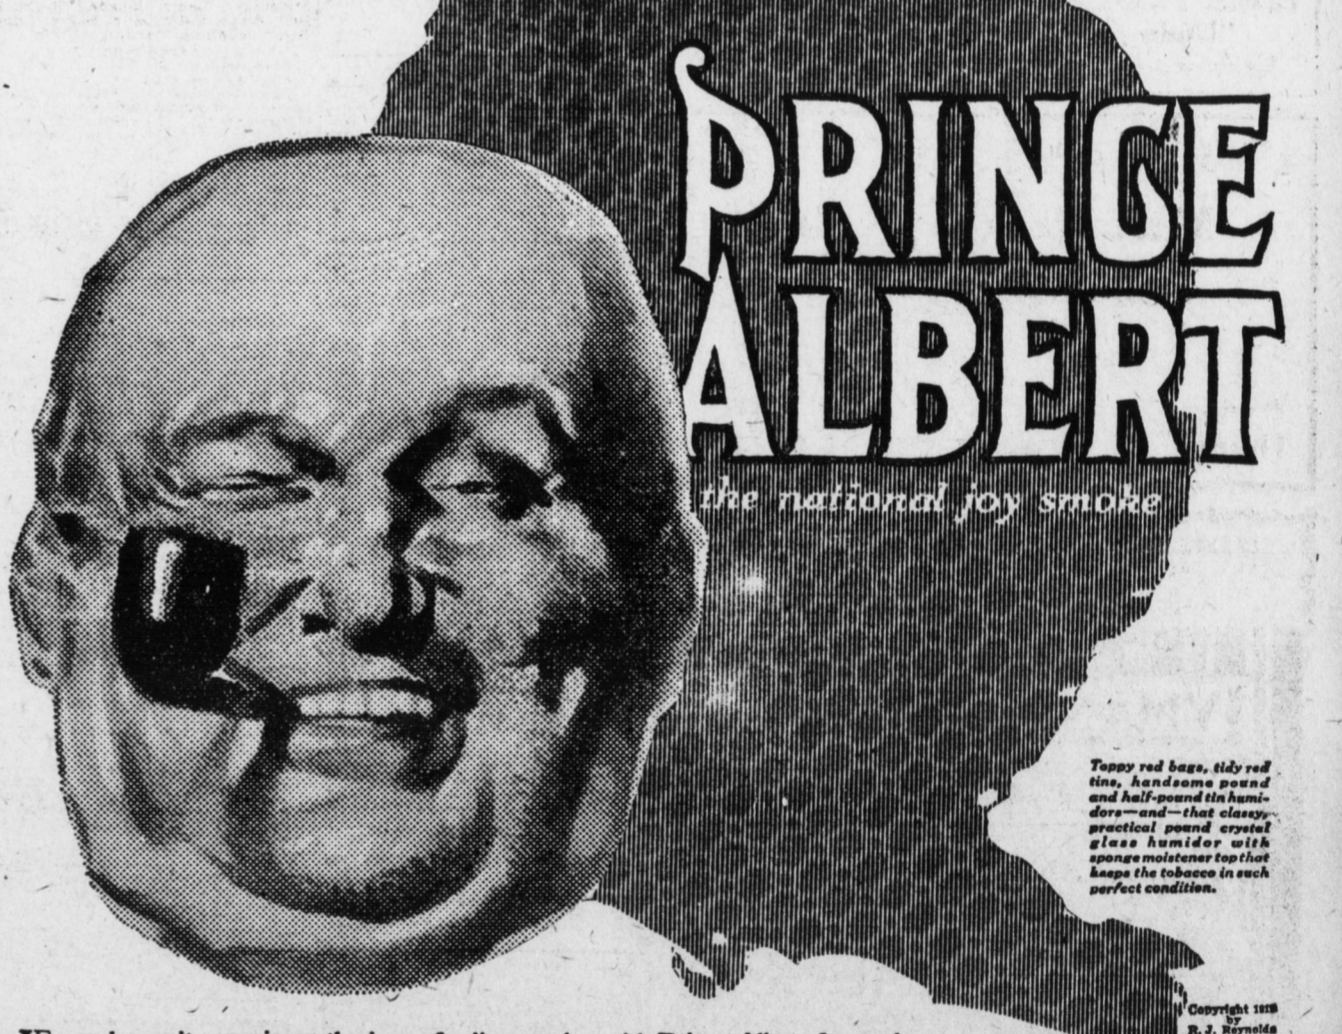

More than thousands attend daily the shooting show on the Millon Dollar pier at Atlantic City. Yesterday Etell Collins, resident there, won the weekly contest of 100 by breaking 92 out of 100. John J. Timmons, twelve years old, son of A. Timmons, of New York, won in the boys' tournament. The lad dropped nineteen in twenty-five of the elusive discs in a high wind.

ANNAPOLIS BASEBALL

The Navy Academy shows how valuable it considers baseball, having arranged a long hard schedule as follows: April 5, Johns Hopkins; April 9, Mount St. Mary's; April 16, Lehigh; April 19, Maryland State; April 25, Fordham; April 26, Swarthmore; April 30, North Carolina (State); May 3, Virginia Military Institute; May 10, University of West Virginia; May 17, Villanova; May 21, Catholic University; May 28, Ursinus; May 31, Military Academy, at West Point.
