War Weary Tommies Are Volunteering in the New British Army

London, March 8.—Thousands of the British army who recently became so war weary that they openly threatened mutiny unless they were soon discharged, have turned about face and are volunteering for the New Army, according to the military authorities, who assert that they are "glad that there will be little difficulty in securing the 500,000 men who will do Great Britain's share in safeguarding the peace the Allies have won.

15 to 21 who have been two or more years already in the army and who have no trade to fall back upon in civilian life. In the New Army they will be fed, clothed and sheltered and draw a minimum of about five dollars a week as pocket money. They have quickly awakened to the realization that there is no such prospect awaiting them on a return to "civvies."

New Laws Permit North Dakota to Go Into Business

Bismarck, N. D., March 8.—The laws permitting the state of North Dakota to go into business under the industrial program of the National Non-partisan League went into effect when Governor Frazier recently signed the bills. Banking, home building, and flour milling are among the projects covered in the ten constitutional amendments adopted at the last general election. The parent bill creates a state industrial commission composed of the governor, commissioner of agriculture and the attorney general, who are given blanket authority in establishing necessary state departments. The commission is given authority for the operation of a system of banking under the name of the Bank of North Dakota.

Americans Seeking Homes in Canada

Winnipeg, Canada, March 8.—The United Fruit Growers Security Company, the latest development of the co-operative movement among the farmers of western Canada, has received in the last month more than a hundred inquiries concerning Canadian land from home seekers in the United States. These inquiries indicate that the new Canadian land program under which farms are to be offered for sale by the government on long-period, easy-payment terms, will attract a large immigration from across the international boundary.

Attractive Widows to Get Weekly Pay

Young, good-looking widows of men killed in industry will no longer be awarded compensation in a lump sum, according to Chairman Harry S. Mackey of the State Workmen's Compensation Board, which opened a three days' hearing in Pittsburgh yesterday. Young women who come under the category outlined dare unable as yet to determine whether they are flattered or flustered by the decision and whether they regard Mr. Mackey as an "ogre" or a true representative of the Chesterfield art.

"Of course, there are exceptions in all cases," announced Chairman Mackey, "but as a widow's compensation for the death of her husband in industry, paid weekly, stops when she remarries, she will not be voted the compensation in a lump sum when it appears to the board that she is likely to remarry."

Advice to the Lovelorn

HAPPY IN HER DUTY Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a married woman with children and have been in love with a married man for over eight years. Although he has a wife and children he seems to love me all these years as much as I do him. Because I haven't a good husband is the reason I think I fell in love with this man. I try every way to forget him but it is no use. He is the first and only man I have ever loved because when I married I was too young to know real love. We both live in the same city. Can you help me and tell me what to do, Miss Fairfax?

A Reader In Love. Have you thought that as you are suffering because your own husband is not kind that this man's wife may be going through the same trial because of his affection for you? Can not you interest yourself in your children and your home enough to deepen your feeling for this man? Keep yourself away from him and do not communicate with him in any way. Love with nothing to feed on will die. Everyone cannot be happy the way they would like to be, but you will at least have the satisfaction of doing your duty and that will in the end mean much happiness to you.

Dog Law Not Kept Going Vigorously

Half the counties in Pennsylvania failed to enforce the dog law and the commissioners of a number of the counties are accused of taking little or no interest in the purpose of the act of 1917 to rid the farming districts of ownerless dogs in a series of reports made to the State Game Commission by the game protectors. One of the protectors, whose districts are in Beaver county, asserted that he had shot more unlicensed dogs than all the constables of the county put together.

The statement at the Department of Agriculture, a couple of months ago that the enforcement of the dog license act had been very successful was checked up by the game wardens in their reports, they show that county commissioners in many counties did not insist upon the constables killing the unlicensed dogs and that in some instances constables and commissioners were at odds about what to do. The three largest counties enforced the law better than the agricultural and live stock counties.

The game authorities will ask that the law be rigidly enforced because of the damage done to deer and game birds by dogs and it is probable that the subject will come up at the game and fish general hearing to be held here on Tuesday.

Waste Paper, Saved By Children, Buys Books for Soldiers

Washington, March 8.—Waste paper, saved by public school children in Cleveland, is being turned into books for soldiers, according to information given by the Public Librarian of that city to the American Forestry Association here today.

The school children, it was stated, take old magazines and newspapers to school once a week where they are baled and sold to the highest bidder. "Save a bale of paper" is the slogan. The zeal of the children has been stimulated by the starting of competition to see which school can collect the most paper. After the soldiers' libraries have been equipped, the plan is to purchase books for the libraries of Cleveland and continue the good work.
