"All the cattle on our farms," said Mr. Hershey, "are thoroughly inspected. We spend a great deal of time out on the farms with our men to help the farmer raise good cat-

"There are a great many modern methods which the farmer is anxious to adopt when they are brought to him.

"I guess you have heard the expression 'Contented Cows'; it is an odd expression but it signifies a great deal."

The Ad man then remarked, "That is an odd expression. Just what do you mean by it?"

"Well," said Mr. Hershey, "You know when cattle have plenty to eat and have the right kind of food they grow well and are happy just like people. We call them contented."

"Do your farmers house the cattle good?" asked the Ad man.

"They certainly do!" replied Mr. Hershey, "That is one of the things we teach them. Cattle should be well cared for with a good roof. It is very bad for cattle when they are not protected well against the weather."

"By the way, Mr. Hershey," asked the Ad man, "What do you do with the milk you condense?"

We have a big outlet for it," replied Mr. Hershey. "A lot of it is sold to bakers and confectioners. We make large shipments to Florida, Texas, and west of the Mississippi."

"Do you sell any locally?" asked the

"Oh, yes," replied the general manager, "we sell quite a lot locally, but we have more than we need here at Harrisburg. We have a great demand for our condensed milk and make large shipments as fast as we can."
