THE FIRST OCEAN STEAMSHIP

Savannah, Ga.—The centennial anniversary of Trans-Atlantic steam navigation will be celebrated here May 22, the date when the Savannah, the first ship to cross the Atlantic propelled by steam and the forerunner of the great greyhounds of today, sailed from this port for Liverpool on its historic voyage.

The Savannah was built in New York City and was launched August 22, 1818. It was mastered by two Rogerses—Captain Moses Rogers being the commander, and Captain Stevens Rogers the sailing master. The vessel left New York City March 28, 1819, and arrived in this city for the first time April 12, 1819.

May 22, 1819, the trip across the Atlantic was started from this port. Everything went well until June 17, when the vessel was stopped by the British cutter Kite, whose commander thought the Savanah was on fire and was anxious to assist her in fighting the flames.

The vessel was stopped outside Liverpool by an English sloop of war, whose commander wished the American vessel to display the British colors above its own. Captain Rogers refused and threatened the British officer with a boiling water bath if he did not leave the ship. He left immediately.

The Savannah docked in Liverpool June 20, after completing the voyage in twenty-nine days and eleven hours. The engines were used only eighteen days on the trip.

The entrance of the Savanah under full steam caused excitement in Liverpool, and while the vessel remained in port it was the center of interest. The Savanah then proceeded to stockholm, and September 18 arrived at St. Petersburg, where she was inspected by the American and foreign ministers and the nobility.

This was the first and last trip of the Savannah across the Atlantic. Afterward her engines were removed and she was used as a sailing vessel between New York and Savannah. She was wrecked off Long Island in 1821.

RELIGIOUS FORCES HAVE ORGANIZED HERE FOR DRIVE

Energetic Co-operation of the Foreign Missionary Societies Is Feature of Campaign

The religious forces of North America including the Federal Council of Churches, the World's Sunday School Association, United Society of Christian Endeavor, the Conference of Foreign Missions and the several denominational temperance agencies unite for a world-wide drive against intemperance at home and abroad. The Presbyterian Board of Temperance alone appropriated $50,000 for the work, in addition to its program at home. The Rev. D. A. Poling, of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, representing the International Prohibition Confederation, is returning from Europe. Dr. W. J. Johnson goes to Cuba, Panama, and South America. Captain Edward Page Gaston, Dr. D. Leigh Colvin and Dr. Charles Scanlon go to Europe. The Board of Temperance of the Methodist Episcopal Church may send a strong delegation to England and Scotland.

One of the most significant features of this new undertaking is the energetic co-operation of foreign mission agencies. These organizations know the language, people, customs, climate and general situation as perhaps no other class of people do. Their intelligent, sympathetic study of conditions give them a wealth of information and an approach which it is impossible to secure in any reasonable time from other sources. The following lines of work have been approved and agreeed upon:

1. Syndicate literature, books, periodicals, posters, etc., and printing the same in languages of the several countries. All this to be prepared by competent authorities and translated by linguists of approved experience.

2. Addresses and interviews at foreign missionary conferences at home and abroad to instruct, inspire and interest missionaries so that each individual may return to work with a zeal for this cause and an intelligent knowledge of the best weapons and methods for propagating the same.

3. An interchange of delegates between the United States and foreign countries. This will include bringing to our country representative business men, scientists, educators and government officials from other lands, and on occasion sending from our country to other countries persons to study conditions there and thus enable our people to work more intelligently from the home base.

Status of Secret Treaties Made in War Considered

Paris, March 15. — It has been learned that the status of secret treaties and conventions made during the war again has arisen. Information obtained to-day from some of the American delegates to the peace conference was to the effect that the action of a majority of the commission dealing with the subject of Grecian boundaries in declaring that the treaty of London of 1915 was effective will not be permitted to go unchallenged and could not become effective unless ratified by the council of ten, which they asserted would refuse its approval.

NOTED LAWYER AT BAPTIST CHURCH

W. W. MacElree to Speak to Tabernacle Congregation Tomorrow Evening

The auditorium of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of which the Rev. Millard Osmore Peirce is pastor, promises to be filled to capacity tomorrow evening when W. W. MacElree, a noted criminal lawyer, will deliver his famous lecture on "The Trial of Jesus Christ from a Lawyer's Standpoint." The service is to be held under the auspices of the "Out 2 Get U" Men's Bible Class of the Sunday school. The class will attend in a body and they anticipate having no less than one hundred men present.

Tomorrow afternoon the Sunday school will convert itself into a Publicity Committee, echoing here and there the features of the evening service. The class is to be congratulated on securing the services of a man of Mr. MacElree's type for he has been pronounced as one of the foremost of lecturers.

A special program of music has been prepared for the service and nothing is being left undone to make the meeting attractive in every way.

Next Sunday will be known as Tabernacle Missionary Day and Dr. Lesher, a recently returned missionary of China will be the speaker of the day. A fitting missionary program is being worked out for the occasion.

CHRIST CHURCH S. S. BIRTHDAY

People of Hill Congregation Will Mark Anniversary With Special Service

The days are full of interest for the people of Christ Lutheran Church, who are celebrating various anniversaries. To-morrow in the Sunday school, 2 p. m., exerises will be observed in commemoration of the organization of that body twenty-nine years ago. In this time the school has grown to be one of the largest in the city, now numbering over 1100 in all departments. The record attendance reached the high number of 991 at one service. The first superintendent, W. M. Hoerner is scheduled for a brief address, telling interesting events incident to the beginning and development of school such as this. The present head supervisor of the school, W. H. Seerist, announces that among the other features of interest for Sunday will be special numbers of music among them a solo by Mrs. Bumbaugh, and a duet by the Smith Sisters of Camp Hill. F. J. Wallis will address the large Junior department.

An unusual feature attaches to Christ Lutheran Church in the fact that the congregation and the school were organized on the same day. This very seldom happens in church life. At the morning service Dr. Thomas Reisch, pastor, will preach on "Rejoicing Not in Duties Accomplished but in Grace Conferred." The subject for the evening is, "The Scarlet Line." Several numbers of special music will be rendered by the large church choir at each service.

The missionary societies of the church will give a missionary entertainment at the church next Thursday evening. The entertainment will be free to all members and friends of the congregation.
