

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS TALK OF INSURANCE

Conference Under Direction of Department of Labor and Industry Lively Affair

Under the direction of the division of industrial hygiene and engineering of the bureau of inspection of the department of labor and industry of the state and with Dr. Francis D. Patterson, Chief of the Division, of this city, presiding the eighth conference of Industrial Physicians and Surgeons was held in the William Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh, last evening.

Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, third vice president and statistician of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, said health insurance was nothing more than insidious propaganda similar to that which was used by the German Government.

"Germany has had health insurance for more than 25 years. It has proved a barrier to its progress. Before this form of insurance was adopted by the Government the German people were more progressive, but just as soon as the health insurance got a foothold on the country it became stagnant.

"Having a form of health insurance in that country it put the people in the direct control of the Government. Every penny which they earned would more or less directly revert back to the Government.

"The advantages of health insurance, John A. Lapp of the Ohio Health and Old Age Commission pointed out that sickness is a serious burden, and that it falls with crushing force upon some people causing economic distress and destitution.

A Nation's Safety depends upon more than wealth or the power of its mighty guns. It rests in its robust children and in its strong, vigorous manhood.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

FEW CHANGES IN THE GAME CODE

The Fishermen's License Bill Likely to Be Reported at Early Date

House of Representatives committees will decide during the coming week in what form the various bills dealing with features of the game and fish codes of 1917 shall be handled.

The Bowman bill for the State Game Commission to have authority to buy land for game preserves, not exceeding $10 an acre and to provide for mineral and gas and oil rights, is to be amended so that in case the State gets the surface only it will be liable only for the taxes on that much, the holders of the reserved resources bearing their share.

Mexican Miners to Consider Remedies For After-War Crisis

Mexico City, March 17.—Fearing that the mining crisis now threatening Mexico will result in the closing of mines in various parts of the country, and idleness for thousands of miners, representatives of that trade will meet soon in Mexico City to consider remedies for presentation to the government.

SMITH SEEKS ACTION ON BILL

The Joint City-County Office Building Measure Finds Favor Among Senators

Senator Frank A. Smith expects to get favorable action this week on the bill he introduced into the Senate providing that county seats and counties may unite in a joint office building. This is the measure drafted to enable Harrisburg and Dauphin county to meet the call of Governor Sproul for such a building to front on Capitol Park extension.

Discussion of May 15 as a possible date for adjournment of the Legislature of 1919 has had the effect of expediting the preparation of bills and scores are being drafted for early submission to the two Houses.

Several hearings are scheduled for the week, including one for Western Pennsylvania people on the steering bill to make the school boards of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh elective, which is to be held tomorrow.

The Senate calendar is mainly made up of second reading bills, including those to create the State Wellfare Commission, providing for co-operation with the Government in eradication of the potato wart disease, several State hospital deficiency bills and the West Virginia natural gas resolution.

On the House calendar are more than sixty bills, forty-two being on second reading alone. The first reading list includes the bills to authorize municipalities to abolish "skip-stops," Brady registration and primary bills; Cox bill increasing penalties for illegal operation of automobiles while the $50,000,000 bond issue bill, which was amended in minor details, is up for final passage.

Tomorrow night the biennial dinner of the Legislative Sons of St. Patrick will be held and be attended by State officials and legislators.

LENINE ESCAPES ASSASSIN

Copenhagen, March 17.—Another attempt has been made against the life of Nikolai Lenine, the Russian Bolshevik premier, at Moscow, according to reports received here. Shots were fired at Lenine, but he was not injured. His chauffeur was wounded.

LOST MOTION IN OFFICES TO GO

Losing Time to Be Checked— Duplication to Give Way to Centralization

The bill to reorganize the Department of Agriculture which will be presented to the Senate tonight by Senator E. E. Jones, chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, is held about the Capitol to embody in many details what Governor William S. Sproul is planning to put into the State government. It is a department which has had reports and commissions and discussions and other things and make it a strongly centralized branch of the government with the secretary responsible to the Governor.

In addition to this demonstration of what the Governor plans there is no question in the minds of observers that the gubernatorial order for the chiefs of departments of the State's big organization on Capitol Hill to blow the whistles for their wanders to employ to return to work and either stay at work or leave the service has produced a wholesome effect in the big granite building by putting in effect another of the Sproul plans to make the State government efficient. The Governor holds that some departments proposed to the people they need to do their work if they work, and that there is no occasion for increase of the pay roll. If salaries mean readjustment he has offered and it is probable that Governor Sproul will send some departmental appointments to the Senate and that some of his administration bills will be introduced. The House appropriations committee is sending out calls to members to get in their bills for charity appropriations and bills for charity appropriations and bills for charity appropriations.

Since the Governor has come into office there have been several changes in the business system at the State Capitol. Heads of departments who used to have their own door of appointments of a janitor were told early that their employees were to be taken care of by the State. Then suggestions were made for abolishing some customs which had grown up until people thought they were official requirements and which had been used for the making of jobs payable from contingent funds. These suggestions were followed in some cases. In those where they were not the order for adherence to law has brought the desired end in more ways than one.

And a few days ago the Governor gave evidence of the manner in which he is taking his job as the head of a big business organization in telling some heads that they did not need more hands, but willing hands. Some traveling inspectors of departments and some Capitol building attaches will also have to do the mark and do as their chief direct about working. Taking days off without permission will also be "bad practice."

Steps taken the last few days to bring the question of enforcement of the vaccination law to an issue in various parts of the State are believed to be preliminary to a general plan to concentrate in the Department of Health everything in the State government relating to health. It will require much work and considerable readjustment, but the heads of several departments which have details which relate to health are endeavoring to work out the idea. Eventually the Department of Health will have either supervision or cognizance of all processes on account of health.

New French Babies Are Getting Chocolate

Paris, March 17.—Children born in France since the beginning of the war have just begun the discovery. They have tasted chocolate. In a congested quarter of Paris, writes an Associated Press correspondent, a line stretching for more than a hundred yards had a chance to enter a grocery store. Four policemen were keeping order among the crowd and women were actually struggling for a place in the line.

American Soldiers in Germany Discard Helmets and Gas Masks

Coblenz, March 17.—American soldiers doing duty with the army of occupation finally have been allowed to discard their steel helmets and gas masks. All through the march across Rhenish Prussia and during the early weeks of patrolling of the Rhine and the Coblenz bridgehead the troops were kept in flight trim at all times. But a recent order says helmets and gas masks should be stored by each company "in such manner as to be readily accessible for prompt issue at a moment's notice should the occasion demand them."

41 French Generals Killed During the War

Paris, March 17.—Forty-one French generals have been killed in the war, an official list states. Five of them, Generals Bridoux, Lousseau de Grandmaison, Marceat, Guignabaudet and Masnou were generals of divisions, and the other thirty-six were brigadier generals, although at the time they met their death they were almost without exception in command of divisions.

U. S. Had 374 Ships in Europe When War Ended, Report Claims

London, March 17.—The United States had 374 vessels on duty in European waters and a personnel of 80,711 afloat, at bases or headquarters when the armistice was signed, according to a summary of United States Naval activities prepared at headquarters here. Numerically the submarine chasers were the most with 120, then came the destroyers with 70 while the third class was the unheralded 55 colliers that assisted in keeping a steady stream of coal moving from Cardiff to maintain the allied armies and prevent France from freezing.

Of the fifteen classes of ships in the report the work of the destroyers stands first in dramatic interest. The twenty that were here on July 1, 1917, immediately became active in the war game and that activity constantly increased as the number of boats gradually swelled until it reached the maximum number on November 11, 1918.

With twenty-five converted yachts and a few other vessels they escorted 800,000 troops of the United States Expeditionary Force to Europe without the loss of a man from twenty-seven per cent of all United States, allied and neutral shipping to France and England from April 6, 1917, to November 9, 1918. In this and other work they steamed approximately 275,000 miles every thirty days.

BOLSHEVIKS DEFEATED

Archangel, Saturday, March 15.—Bolshevik forces made a determined attempt Friday to cut the communications between the American and allied columns on the Dvina and Vaga rivers, but their attack was repulsed with heavy losses. The enemy lost 57 dead and four prisoners. The allied casualties were one soldier wounded.
