Keep Hands Off, Says
Longworth to Mann

Washington, March 19. — Replying to a recent statement by Representative Mann, of Illinois, Representative Longworth, of Ohio, Republican, issued a statement asking the former Republican floor leader to "keep his hands off the organization and legislative control of the new House of Representatives."

"That is the way," said the Ohio representative, "to bring about harmony in the party. That is the way to make success in 1920 certain. Such an assurance from Mr. Mann will be greeted with acclaim by the vast majority of Republicans and by patriotic Americans generally throughout the land."

Boys Flee Asylum; Rob; Near Death on Railway

Franklin, Pa., March 19. — Two feeble-minded boys, one 14 and the other 16, escaped from the State institution at Polk during the night and pulled a thriller.

They broke into a village store, and after getting considerable booty, went to a New York Central toolhouse and obtained a gasoline motor speeder on which they started westward.

They had gone only four miles when a passenger train overtook them and narrowly escaped destroying the speeder. The conductor captured the boys and they and the speeder were taken back to Polk.

Blewitt Acquitted of Manslaughter Charges

Mineola, N. Y., March 19. — Thomas F. Blewitt, division superintendent of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, was acquitted by a jury in Supreme Court here last night of charge of manslaughter growing out of the wreck on the company's Brighton Beach line last November in which 95 persons were killed.

The indictment charged Blewitt with "culpable negligence" in placing Anthony Lewis, a "green" motorman, in charge of the train which was wrecked.

Farm Dwelling Burned as Acetylene Plant Explodes

Lewistown, Pa., March 19. — An acetylene plant for house lighting purposes at the home of Jacob Hartzler, near Belleville, exploded on Monday night wrecking the dwelling and causing it to burn down from the flames. The plant was not lighting the home properly and Mr. Hartzler with a lighting lantern, went to the cellar to see what was the cause of the trouble. He did not carry the lantern to the plant, but left it standing near the cellar door. When he returned to get the lantern the explosion occurred and badly wrecked the house. Mrs. Hartzler and six children were in the house and they had some trouble in getting out of the darkened building, but did so without injury. Mr. Hartzler was badly burned about the face and hands and his clothing was scorched. Neighbors were quickly on the scene and helped prevent the flames from reaching the barn.

Spring Exposition

The Gay Aspect of Sunnier Hours is Reflected in the Glowing Displays Throughout the Store

The formal presentation of Spring Millinery finds the restraints of the war thrown aside, and the bright and gay fashions of springtime enthroned in all their glory and splendor.

For this is a season of lovely millinery featuring the profuse use of trimmings and the employment of quaint and picturesque shapes which have been combined and deftly transformed into the most fascinating hat styles seen in many a year.

Never Before Have Millinery Fashions Been More Expressive of the Times

OPENING DAYS:
Thursday, Friday, Saturday

The Directoire, the Mid-Victorian and other periods have given the inspiration and the artists of the millinery realm have taken advantage of them to grace the Spring of 1919 with a marvelous galaxy of charming hat modes.

A millinery treat is in store for you — and a hearty welcome to come and enjoy it tomorrow.

The problem of style was never nearer solution than it is this season, since there has not been at any other time a more satisfying expression of the tailored modes. Every whim of fashion is catered to convincingly and each little caprice is allowed full swing.

A notable feature is the vestee, and when it is applied to the box coat or to the straight line semi-fitted mode a touch of smartness is added that is at once alluring and youthful.

Braid and buttons are lavishly used and the favored color is navy blue.

The materials of which the scores of handsome capes and dolmans are developed cover a very broad range, from serge to wool velour, to tricotine, to silvertone and then on to Bolivia. Some have large collars, others are prettily trimmed with braid or row upon row of buttons.

Accessories of Dress

Gloves — Trefousse, the world's finest glove makers, has sent us from France the most delightful showing of French kid gloves that were gathered in many a season. There are plenty of blacks, but white combined with black is again a great favorite.

Hosiery — Fibre and thread silks are lavishly used in stockings for the season that is now rounding into its own and clocked silks will step high in popularity through the Spring and Summer. The colors are very likable and the grades of silk are of a safe quality.

Shoes — one of the most striking inspirations of the new suit or frock is to be found in the high quality shoes and pumps and oxfords, now ready. The leathers are of our usual standards and the prices are as moderate as our fair system of marking can make them.

Veils — Among the newest of the French veils are those in the new dust color, in seal brown, in navy and black. They are of silk in hexagonal mesh with borders running diagonally and they are combined with dots of Chenille. Their width is sufficient to permit their use with any size hat.

Neckwear — Vestees fill the gap, so to speak, in a most delightful fashion, for it is either the vestee or the collar or set that dominates the chic box jacketed suits. Georgette platings are shown in new shades, while embroidered collar and cuff pieces are very attractively priced.

Permanency and Quality the Keynote

Fashions may be ever so variable, but quality is always of the same standard here. It is therefore with special pride that we direct attention to the desirability of the merchandise which we offer in this Spring Exposition. It is of a kind that has permanency and quality as well as beauty to commend it to every thoughtful purchaser.

Essential complements to the hats of becoming smartness are the new Suits and Capes and Dolmans. Blouses and skirts, fashioned of luxurious silks and exquisite georgette and Pierrette crepes are among the important versions for street, afternoon, dance and other occasions.
