

Ohio Guardsmen Home From France

New York, March 24.—Headquarters and more than 4,200 troops of the Thirty-seventh Division, former Ohio National Guardsmen who helped break the German lines in the Argonne and later put German troops to flight in Belgium, arrived in this port yesterday on three transports. They comprised the first large contingent of the division to return to the United States.

GERMANS PLAN STRIKE

Coblenz, March 24.—The day of March 26 has been set for a strike within the American occupied area among the workmen in various industries, according to information reaching the American intelligence officers, who assert that there is some unrest among the laborers, due to the influence of Spartacian agitators.

Sixteen metal workers who held a meeting without an American permit on Saturday, have been fined 200 marks each.

High Wages—High Coal

When will coal prices return to the pre-war basis?

Prices of coal are relatively high because miners' wages are abnormally high. The miners received advances within the past two years aggregating 75%.

It will be impossible to reduce the selling price of coal until the labor cost has, by some process or other, been reduced.

And with the Administration strongly committed to a policy of maintaining war wages, prices cannot come down this year—on the hard they will surely advance if consumers hold off too long. As it is a monthly advance of 10c commences May 1, continuing until September 1.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

OLDEST SENATOR DIES ON SUNDAY

Sterling R. Catlin, of Wilkes-Barre, Will Be Honored By Colleagues

The entire Senate of Pennsylvania will go to Wilkes-Barre on Wednesday to attend the funeral of Senator Sterling R. Catlin who died yesterday at his home in that city after an extended illness. The desk of the Senator was draped in black and tribute will be paid to his memory when the upper house reassembles for the week.

Senator Catlin was the oldest Senator in point of continuous service and years. He was aged over seventy seven and had been a member of the Senate since 1905. His illness prevented him taking any part in the present session.

The Wilkes-Barre Senator was one of the wealthy men of the Legislature and had a picturesque career. He served in the 30th Pennsylvania Infantry in the war and crossed the plains about the close of the war, being one of the settlers of Helena, Montana, and also being engaged as superintendent of Mare Island navy yard and in various engineering enterprises in California.

He returned to this State years ago and was active in affairs at Wilkes-Barre, being a member of city council. Senator Catlin was a grand son of General William Ross, who was a prominent military figure of the Revolution.

Many years ago Senator Catlin invested in coal lands in Luzerne county and in various other lines. He also gave considerable attention to horse raising and farming, taking great pride in farms in his home county. He was one of the most influential men in a quiet way in the Legislature and very well liked among his colleagues.

MANY HAIL MAY ADJOURNMENT

Announcement of May 15 As Possible Date Pleases Legislators

Unless plans are changed a resolution to fix Tuesday, May 15, as the date for final adjournment of the Legislature of 1919 will be presented to the General Assembly this week and will meet with general approval. Many of the rural members have been anxious for a date to adjourn to be set and are preparing for cleaning up the work of their committees. The high cost of living has also contributed to the desire to get away. On April 1 the members will receive the last $300 installment of salary before adjournment.

Seven other Pennsylvania Legislatures have adjourned in May, those of 1876, 1878, 1887, 1889, 1891, 1907 and 1915. The session of 1907 closed on May 16 and in 1915 May 20 was the last day.

The general appropriation bill and teachers salary increases will be taken up with the Governor this week. The list of charity appropriations is being gone over and the hearings and inspections are under way. It is believed between three and four millions will be cut off the general appropriation bill. This week a number of heads of departments will submit final estimates. The teachers have been working on estimates of what an increase in the minimum salary to take care of the lower salaried teachers especially and they will be gone over with the Governor to fit in with the financial program.

It will also be decided this week what to do about the nonpartisan repealer and the chances are that if anything like that goes through it will be relative to judges and even that is not certain.

Representative William J. McClair, of Pittsburgh, will introduce a bill this week to turn over the property of the Harmony Society in Beaver county to the Pennsylvania Historical Commission for a State park. The property, which was the accumulation of a celibates' community society formed back in 1824, was escheated to the State in 1916 after prolonged litigation which attracted national attention.

It is probable that efforts to revive the Bolard bill to require legal advertisements to be made only in English language newspapers and the Dawson bill to empower the Auditor General to appoint clerks in charge of collection of inheritance taxes in office registers of wills will be made to-night in the House. Both were defeated by close votes. An attempt to recommit the Brady bills relating to primary and registrar law changes is to be undertaken.

The administration will likely submit the last of its proposed bills within a fortnight. Some are scheduled to appear in the Senate this evening. The Senate calendar contains the classification of cities constitutional consolidation, increase of pay for Legislators; the third class city code amendment bill and the measure to provide deficiencies in appropriations for care of insane.

The Cox bill raising penalties for illegal operation of motor vehicles, "skip stop" bill and Forestry department reorganizer are among bills in the House calendar. Another bill on the House calendar would authorize juries in first degree murder cases to fix penalty at either death or life imprisonment. Two of the Internal Affairs Department bills are also on House calendars.

Ford's New Car May Be One or Two Cylinders

Is the pendulum of motor car construction about to swing back to the one and two-cylinder types? The motor car was born a "one-cylinder" and grew more powerful with two cylinders. The four-cylinder came and satisfied a long time before the "sensational six" arrived. Then came the eight-cylinder, six and eight and twelve-cylinder motors and predictions of a "twenty-four" followed in rapid succession.

Angered by the Dodge Brothers' opposition to his manner of operating the Ford activities, Henry Ford has announced that he contemplates withdrawal from the business started by him and announced a "family corporation" which will build a motor car for $250.

His announcement has caused widespread speculation among motor car engineers. Their estimation of him has grown somewhat since they failed him "crazy" ten years ago when he announced he would build two thousand cars a year. Those on the inside who try to keep in touch with the activities of every motor car plant say the new Ford product doubtless will be a one-cylinder possibly a two-cylinder car.

F. E. Moskovics, one of the prominent motor engineers of this country, who has been in England for several days, says the big production of a one or two-cylinder car would not surprise the motor industry.

Just as the war in England had developed a one-cylinder airplane motor that was a marvel," Mr. Moskovics adds, "the matter of fuel consumption has become a big problem with the industry. The even distribution of the present low grade fuel to multi-cylinder motor is becoming more difficult as the grade of fuel gets lower. With one cylinder a perfect balance can be maintained by counter balances and the fuel problem is solved. Of course, the power of more cylinders is lacking.

Several engineers are seeking to solve this fuel problem by reducing the number of cylinders. It would be no surprise to the industry if Ford's new car came out a one-cylinder type. As far as is known Ford has told no one of his plans. He is far from being a mechanical genius. He hires mechanics in England and sells their products. He is a wonderful salesman and his success has been built entirely on the ability to sell a quantity of motor cars every year. He is convinced that every man should own a motor car and will build a product that will reach to reaching that ideal. Consequently it must be cheap, very simple and very economical. A one-cylinder motor car might run thirty-five or forty miles on a gallon of gasoline, but its maximum speed probably would be twenty-five miles an hour."

PERVERSE CRITERS "I can't help thinking sometimes," said the discouraged farmer, "that the worse you treat your hens the more eggs you will get from them. I remember an old joke where one man asked another, 'How do you get so many eggs?' " 'Why,' said the other, 'I treat my hens so unscientifically they're laying for me.'"—Boston Transcript.

FLOOD OF BILLS IS ANTICIPATED

Talk of Early Adjourner Has Stimulated the Bill Drafters—Many Lose Out

Discussion of a date for adjournment in the next six or seven weeks has had the effect of causing much activity in the line of drafting legislation to cure all sorts of conditions and notwithstanding the fact that many measures now in hand, to say nothing of what will come, will never see the light of day, it is expected that there will be a rush of bills in the next fortnight to the general assembly. The legislative Reference Bureau is fairly swamped with requests for legislation.

Next to adjournment and the close of the open season for bills interest just now inclusive more to possible action by committee on bills which have been pushed in the public eye rather than to the meetings of the two branches of the general assembly. Both houses will meet to-night at 9 o'clock with unusually heavy calendars and virtually every committee will have sessions or hearings Tuesday or Wednesday.

The Philadelphia charter revision bill will be the subject of a Senate hearing to-morrow and the same day there may be a hearing by the House Law and Order Committee on the Fox bill for enforcement of the prohibition law. The House committee on Education is scheduled to take action on the bill to provide elective school boards for Philadelphia and Pittsburgh on which hearings have been held; the Ways and Means Committee has in the past of the mercantile license tax and the Judiciary Special Committee to consider the Rorke bill to permit Sunday concerts and moving picture entertainments of an educational and historical nature. The Educational Committee may also consider reporting out one of the bills establishing new minimum salaries for teachers. Game and Fish legislation will be taken up by committees of both houses and an effort to get out the fishermen's license bill will be made.

It is probable that efforts to revive the Bolard bill to require legal advertisements to be made only in English language newspapers and the Dawson bill to empower the Auditor General to appoint clerks in charge of collection of inheritance taxes in office registers of wills will be made to-night in the House. Both were defeated by close votes. An attempt to recommit the Brady bills relating to primary and registrar law changes is to be undertaken.

LICENSE CASH TO BE SEPARATE

Hunter Fund Will Be Used For Game and For No Other Purposes

When the bill creating the new department of conservation reaches the Legislature it will have provision for the safeguarding of the revenue derived from hunter's licenses, according to Governor William C. Sproul. "I do not think anyone need be worried on that score. That will all be taken care of" was the comment of the Governor on the subject.

The conservation bill, it has been learned, is ready to be presented and will place the game, fisheries, water supply and forestry departments in bureaus. The hunter's license revenue is specifically appropriated to game purposes by the act creating the license and there has been no disposition at all to change it. If a bill to create a fishermen's license passes that source of revenue will be for the benefit of fish propagation, construction of hatcheries and other objects. Other channels of income will be similarly protected.

The Powell bill, presented this week providing for "special device licenses" for use of outlines, seines and dip nets has backing of the Department of Fisheries. An effort is to be made to get through a bill localizing fish baskets, but there are signs of rough water ahead for it.

The movement for a greater price on the wild cat so that it will induce more hunters to get after the animal that knows no closed season in its hunting, as a speaker said here a few days ago, has taken form in the amendment to the Phillips bounty bill, which also makes the Game Commission the bounty paying authority. The bounty for the wildcat or bobcat is raised from $6 to $8 and for each weasel raised from $1 to $2.

Ways seem to have been made for the passage of the Bowman bill to allow the State Game Commission to spend $100,000 every two years. The game and fish committees of the Legislature will have meetings during the coming week when action will be taken on a number of bills presented this week.

PAPER WORKS INCREASE

Washington, March 24.—Paper stocks held by mills increased during the month of February with the ex-

COAL PRICES

The much talked of advance in coal prices is indeed a reality.

During the spring and summer months fifty cents will be added to the present prices.

For several reasons it is to your advantage to fill your bins in April.

- a Cheaper prices
b Better quality
c Cleaner coal
d More careful delivery

The anthracite coal business is based on 12 months mining and distribution. There must practically be equal monthly shipments.

Consumers must realize that should no coal be stored in cellars in spring and summer the burden will fall upon the overcrowded winter months and the horrid results of 1917 would be duplicated.

Phone us to-day. Give us your order. We have the facilities to give you unexcelled service. Our three yards are stocked with a good grade of coal.
