FIRE BREAKS OUT ANEW IN FORESTS NEAR PINE GROVE

Hundreds of Acres Swept by New Blaze in the Mountains

The big fire in the region of Tojand, which swept a several-mile path on the mountains within the Pine Grove, a village of fifty houses, and Barnitz, a twenty-residence village, are in the path of the oncoming flames, but little fear is entertained at this time for their safety. While the flames are advancing comparatively rapidly, the force at work is of such size that the towns will not be touched. Approximately 250 men are at work.

The New Reo "Convertible" Body On the Reo "Speedwagon" Chassis

Reo engineers have accomplished another feat in the form of the New Reo Convertible Body on the Reo "Speedwagon" chassis. Everybody knows what the Reo Speedwagon has accomplished mechanically. The new Convertible body is as sturdily constructed, wears as long and is always ready for business the same as the Reo's that have gone before it.

There are nine different attachments that can be placed on the basic body shown below, that will fit practically every form of work in the city and on the farm. These attachments come separately and are attachable in a moment's time, assuring the owner just the kind of body he desires and one that he can change at his will to haul any commodity he may wish. The following list shows some of the uses it is put to.

- Double-Decker, Grocer's or Truck Gardener's Van—This attachment consists of two decks for hauling light materials. Its uses are many and it constitutes the strongest light delivery car made.
Hog or Sheep Rack—The attachments for this special design fit on the basic body and form an ideal cart for the hauling of small live stock and numerous other kinds of hauling.
Top Box—Grain Tight—This attachment is in the form of closed sides that fit snugly together and form an ideal grain wagon or tight closed car that can be used for many kinds of hauling.
Army Type or "Schooner"—This consists of bows over the basic body with canvas covering that comes in handy in wet weather and makes a top that can be used to cover any kind of material.
Canopy-Top Express—This is the same style practically as the old REO "speedwagon." It consists of a canopy top on the basic body that can be used for practically any kind of business.
Express With Driver's Cab—This is the basic body with the driver cab attachment that protects the driver in all kinds of weather. The cab can be entirely closed which excludes both cold and storm.
CARRYALL—The "Carryall" is a handy vehicle for the contractor, the farmer and the man of all work. Here is a truck that can be used for hauling any kind of material imaginable. It has the canopy top, the double decker boards and seats that when placed along the sides make your car an admirable jockey. This enables the farmer and the contractor to carry his men to and from work as well as the load he is hauling.
