

BUTTON SOUNDS CALL FOR WORK

Praises Mine Inspectors and Coal Producers For Their War Efforts

Seward E. Burton, State chief of mines, has issued a call to the mine inspectors and operators of the State to "get back to the methodical ways of mining that obtained before the war." The inspectors are directed to aid in every possible way and to exercise the most careful supervision possible in mine work.

Chief Burton says that his department reviews the last two years with considerable satisfaction, as during trying times mines were kept going and the production reached "amazing proportions" and that "patriotic, untiring and unselfish efforts more coal was produced during the war time than ever before."

The inspectors are praised for their work in connection with the 3,000 coal mines that were actively operated in this State, adding "notwithstanding the remarkable production and the dangerous haste with which the work was done, the casualty list is lower than it was during some of the peace periods when operations were normal."

Hearings Fixed—The State Compensation Board has announced that it will sit in Harrisburg April 9, 10 and 11. Hearings will be held in Harrisburg and Philadelphia next week.

To Start Shad—State Commissioner of Fisheries N. E. Buller went to Philadelphia to-day to start the operations at the Torresdale hatchery for the shad propagation work. It is expected to undertake it on a most extensive scale.

Boards Are Busy—Pennsylvania draft boards are rapidly getting affairs closed up and they will be ready to discontinue all business on March 27, according to Major W. C. Murdock, the chief draft officer.

Many of the boards have virtually closed up their work already and have occupied the time in contributing to the draft histories.

State Wins Case—The State Compensation Board has issued a decision upholding Referee Snyder, of Altoona, in refusing compensation to parents of Carl A. Winters, of Somerset, in a claim against the state. Their son was running a motor snow plow for the State Highway Department last April and contracted pneumonia while at work. It is held that the contracting of this disease does not bring the case under the compensation act.

The Board has allowed compensation in Moorhead vs Wineman, Greensburg, although compensation was disallowed by Referee Henderson at Pittsburgh. The Board finds that the decedent while walking home with his employer had not left his work but owing to the fact that he did not have any particular schedule of hours and was liable to be called at any time he was on duty.

Over a dozen appeals are dismissed and new hearings ordered in the claims of Gebaldo vs State Insurance Fund, Greensburg, and Ford vs Cambridge Mutual Benefit Assn., Philadelphia.

State Loses Money—Literally hundreds of thousands of dollars are not being collected by counties in Pennsylvania because of failure to properly enforce the dog license code according to officials of the State Department of Agriculture who have been examining into the returns of the counties. The peculiar situation has been presented of efforts being made to cut down the fees required by law.

According to figures available here the counties collected about $490,000 in dog licenses last year and spent $150,000 for killing unlicensed dogs. It is believed that fully $700,000 could be collected if all counties enforced the dog law and that the number of sheep that have to be paid for by counties after being killed or injured by dogs would be less.

Sure Sign of Spring—Return of Spring is being noticed in the State Department of Health in the number of requests that are being made for information as to how to fight mosquitoes. These requests come in annually and are accompanied by notes from people who say that they have noticed the young frogs have commenced to sound and that the air is filled with young insects trying out their wings. Owing to the mild winter and the numerous rains it is expected that there will be a large crop of mosquitoes, if records of previous years are anything to go by. The Department has been advising the use of kerosene.

One Grievance—Fifty pages of closely written matter are awaiting digestion at the Attorney General's office. The letter is one of a great number that came to the office of the chief legal officer in the course of a year and this particular one was written by a woman in a central county. She takes about ten pages to state her grievance, ten more to discuss it, ten to give opinions and the rest in requests to the Attorney General to kindly decide the case her way. The Attorney General does not give private opinions.

Housing Discussed—Plans for cooperation of the State of Pennsylvania with the United States Department of Labor housing activities were discussed with Governor Sprout by J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic Association, and Dr. Ford, of the house registration service at Washington, Mr. McFarland, who has been engaged with the Government, presented to the Governor a number of statements regarding housing conditions in various Pennsylvania cities. Legislation was also taken up.

Health Insurance—William Draper Lewis, of the State commission to study health insurance, discussed ideas for a bill to be presented to the Legislature on the subject with the Governor. The matter will be taken up more extensively later on.

Pittsburgh Hearings—Commissioners Almy and Shelby are holding Public Service hearings in Pittsburgh.

NAMED ON SCHOOL BOARD
New Bloomfield, Pa., March 27.—G. W. Keller has been named to serve on the New Bloomfield school board to succeed John Hallman, recently removed from the borough. The annual commencement will take place on Thursday evening, May 15, in the Perry county courthouse. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered on the preceding Sunday evening and the senior reception on the following evening. A class of six girls and two boys will be graduated.

ASSEMBLYMAN TO SPEAK
"The Old Homestead, or a Farm Redeemed" is the subject of a lecture to be given in the Lutheran parish house in Hummelstown tonight by Representative C. C. Jordan, New-castle.

Automobile & Aeroplane INSTRUCTION DAY AND NIGHT

Harrisburg is over-rushed with thousands craving for aviation and automobilism. They have been inquiring daily at the great Aviation Field as to the possibility of securing a ride in the aeroplanes that soar over the city. But we do not advise any one to go up in an aeroplane until they learn the working parts of it. Experts have declared that the principal thing to learn about first is the workings of the mechanical parts. Big money is made by being able to make quick repairs on the aeroplane when it is out of order. The flying is as simple as riding in an automobile. It is claimed by some of the expert flyers that they prefer flying in an aeroplane to riding in an automobile. Thousands of our young men are now learning and must learn both trades, the aeroplane and the automobile.

Five years from now there will be over 100,000 operators needed. Millions of good mechanics are wanted now; this last war struggle has proved it.

Acroplane Mechanics, therefore making it so practical and simple that any man or woman can take it with ease.

We have added to our school a complete training quarters for Acroplane Mechanics, therefore making it so practical and simple that any man or woman can take it with ease.

Good automobile mechanics are in great demand. There are any number of them earning from $6 to $8 a day. There are still greater opportunities for an acroplane mechanic. Remember, shops all over the country are crowded with work and good mechanics are scarce.

A full list of our courses is listed below. Our big classes will start March 31, running day and night. There will be five instructors to start. Write to-day for application blanks and full particulars.

COMPLETE COURSE NOW $50

Make Application Before March 31, for After that Date the Tuition Will Be Increased Considerably

DON'T WAIT. ENTER NOW. YOU'LL SAVE MONEY

AUTOMOBILE AND AEROPLANE

MECHANICAL SCHOOL

Applications can be made at the training quarters, 260 S. Front Street, Steelton. Or 25 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, Pa.
