RED LEADERS ARE IMPORTUNING U. S. FOR RECOGNITION

Paris, March 28.—A rumor was current last night that the United States had received a note from Premier Lenin and War Minister Trotsky, of the Russian Soviet government, asking recognition for that government, says Marcel Hutin in the Echo de Paris to-day. M. Hutin adds that he "cannot say that President Wilson is disinclined improvement work and I am sure the taxpayers will give the entire situation much careful thought and then when we have their approval it will be by a big majority for the issues I believe."

LENINE URGES HUNGARIANS

A dispatch from Copenhagen, made public here last night, represented the Soviet army in Hungary as gaining in numbers. It was said that the Red army was meeting with encouraging response. The plan as outlined in a Budapest dispatch was that the army should be composed of first of those who apply from the ranks or organized labor and, second, of proletarian soldiers already under arms.

SOLDIERS TO ELECT OFFICERS

The soldiers will elect their officers from section commander to company commander, but the higher officers will be appointed by the commissary of war. A political commissary may be attached to each body of troops.

WORLD'S MAKERS OF PEACE GOING AHEAD

and naval staff for the league, has been rejected by the League of Nations Commission.

The Senate considered to-day the report of a commission which was sent to investigate conditions in portions of France which were occupied by the Germans during the war.

lage of St. Quentin and Rheims, M. Reynald said: "The Germans did not understand the soul of France and did not realize that by their methods they but strengthened our resistance."

Containing neither any reference to the Monroe Doctrine nor to the Japanese proposal for recognition of racial equality of nations, the draft of the covenant of the League of Nations to-day is in the hands of the special drafting committee.

The draft was completed Wednesday night at a sitting of the full commission, and the covenant is expected to be ready in completed form early next week.

Among other amendments adopted Wednesday night was one directly recognizing the principle of women's suffrage, in that it provides that the offices of the league are open to women.

TWO YEARS TO WITHDRAW

The much discussed question as to the possibility of the withdrawal from membership in the League of a nation was settled by an amendment permitting withdrawal on two years' notice, but not until such nation has filled out its international obligations.

Article X of the covenant, to which the Monroe Doctrine amendment would apply, stands in its original form, President Wilson having reserved for the present the amendment which had been prepared as expressing the views of the American delegation. It is now explained that it was not the exact text, but only the general form of the amendment, which was given to the press.

Careful soundings are being taken to ascertain the reception that is likely to be given this amendment by other delegations. If unfriendly sentiment develops or the pressing of other and obnoxious amendments is threatened as a consequence of insistence upon the Monroe Doctrine, it is said the amendment may be withheld.

Results Encouraging It has been learned that thus far the result of these inquiries has not been wholly encouraging.

Since the first mention of the desire of the Japanese to secure an amendment recognizing equality for all nationals of the League of Nations states in other countries, the Japanese delegates have not pressed their amendment before the commission itself. They have, however, been canvassing the delegations with various forms of such an amendment, endeavoring to find out the feeling toward it.

They ran squarely on one reef yesterday, when Premier Hughes, of Australia, declared that the Australian delegation would not favor any amendment containing the Japanese desires.

An important amendment adopted for a committee on organization of the league, to be empowered to proceed with arrangements for the assembly, securing the necessary buildings and perfecting the special drafting committee.

Another amendment gathers into one section all of the separate conventions which are to be incorporated in the covenant, such as those relating to labor, commerce and finance, so that these are not made a part of the treaty, but that the countries signatory agree to do the things set forth therein.

Provision is to be made for similar treatment of other conventions on other subjects, such as white slavery and the opium traffic, which are likely hereafter to be inserted in the covenant.

The language of the mandatory article has been changed so as to make it clear that no nation shall be obliged to act as a mandatory.

Generally, the language of the whole covenant has been clarified, particularly Article 1, to meet the charge of Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, New York, of ungrammatical language and the words "high contracting parties" appear now only in that one article.

City Assessment Books Be Closed in Some Wards Today by Commissioners

Action may be taken during the afternoon session of the county commissioners to-day to close assessment books in some of the city wards which have been held open pending further investigation and discussion of valuations which have been filed. In some instances in the Third, Ninth and Eleventh wards figures there are inequalities, according to the officials and some of the assessments must be revised.

With the exception of the coal land townships practically all the county district assessments have been gone over and many of the books have been closed and returned to the districts. The commissioners are making every effort to complete this work so that the boroughs and townships can estimate and levy local taxes for borough, school district and road work.

To-morrow the commissioners will meet at the Central Hotel, Williamstown, to receive appeals from property owners in Williamstown borough, Williams and Rush townships. This will be the last scheduled meeting of the board of revision to hear local appeals until April 3 when the coal companies will present protests against the valuations placed on their holdings by T. Ellsworth Davies, mining engineer, and approved by the county officials.

"The Greatest Little Revolution Since 1776"

Less than four years ago, when the sense of economic grievance that rankled in the hearts of North Dakota's farmers had been fanned to a flame by the refusal of the Legislature to establish a State-owned terminal grain elevator, a man named Arthur C. Townley jumped into a small hired automobile and began by a farm-to-farm canvass the organization of the Non-Partisan League. For months the old line politicians regarded this "flivver campaign" as a joke, but to-day they see Mr. Townley's league of farmers grown to a membership of more than 200,000, with a political organization in thirteen states, representation in the United States Congress, and completely in control of North Dakota's government.

The St. Paul Dispatch terms the league "the most revolutionary political machine that ever gained complete autocratic control of legislative affairs in any state in the union," while the Minneapolis Tribune speaks of it as "Townleyism, the political prairie fire that is now raging in North Dakota and spreading to surrounding states," but as the New York World reminds us "North Dakota and her people will pay the bill and the rest of the country will profit by the demonstration."

In the course of an illustrated article, comprising more than three pages in this week's LITERARY DIGEST, every phase of this movement is explained, together with public opinion upon it from all angles. Other news articles of great interest in "The Digest" for March 29 are:
