told that Col. Jenkins with 800 gray-clad soldiers marched into Me-chanicsburg and that a slight skir-mish occured at Oysters' Point. Late on the night of the 28th of June a spy from Washington came to Lee with the news that the Union army under Meade, a new com-mander, had crossed the Potomac and was marching north. Lee countermanded the orders to Har-risburg and turned to meet the northern army. A few days later at Gettysburg was fought the great battle that decided the outcome of battle that decided the outcome of

More than half a century has More than half a century has passed. The union of North and South has been bound by the red blood that was shed on the sunny hills at Santiago and on the battle-scarred fields of France. Except for the old trenches there is no sign of twar at Fort Washington. No rifles gleam among the embankments and no sentry's pace is heard. This spot marks the high tide of the Civil War, for this is the most northern point where the Union soldiers gathered to meet the enemy. To the shame of Cumberland county; to the shame of Pennsylvania; a garbage dump and a resting-place for tramps is the pitlable and inglorious end of the earthworks where men stood ready to give their lives that the Government of the people, by the people, and for the people might not perish from the earth.

RED CLOUD.

Say, fellows: If a Scout was allowed to get "chesty" we would have felt that way Saturday night, wouldn't we? Just the same we all felt pretty good over the thanks of the firemen and the M. Ps. And we sure were all glad to be able to help as they needed help. Why will people get in the way so the firemen can't get around them especially on an occasion like that when there is so much danger. Those firemen sure can hustle can't they? Now then; all in favor of Chief Virgin's Mobilization of Scout Aids to Firefighters speak up; for if the gin's Mobilization of Scout Aids to Firefighters speak up; for if the fires continue to "burn" the way they did this week we will all have work to do. Makes us all think a little about being more careful on hikes about our fires and as the time is here for the good outdoor "eats" (yum yum) we want to all be more careful to see that our fires are entirely out when we are through cooking. But, Oh boy! talking about hikes and outdoor eats makes me hungry, so enough for this time.

F. KELLER, Troop 13.

SCOUTING NOTES

Scout Exhibits

Through the courtesy of E. S. Herman, local headquarters was able to obtain a window for a scout exhibit which has attracted much attention during the past week. Many scouts contributed to the window and helped to make it a success, and all through the week it has been an object of admiration and enlightment for the people passing by. At all hours of the day there has been a crowd in front of the window learning just what scouts do and how they do it. Another part of the exhibit which attracted much attention was the hike to the Square of Troop 15. Assistant Scoutmaster Boone was in charge of the squad, and the business-like way in which the members of the troop build their fires, using proper precautions to protect the pavement, and then cooked their supper, won the admiration of a large group of people.

Scouts at Fires

Last Saturday night the scouts covered themselves with glory in the way they helped to handle the double fire that broke out on Howard street. Just as soon as the alarm was given, a number of scouts who were giving demonstration of scouting on the square went to the scene of the fire and assisted the policemen in keeping the crowds back from the fire lines. Commissioner Gross was present at the fire and expressed his hearty approval and gratification at the fire and expressed his hearty approval and gratification at the assistance the scouts rendered, as did also the fire chief and the chief of police. As a result of the splendid showing it is possible that in the near future an official order will be issued by the police and fire departments of the city authorizing scouts to assist at every fire when it is possible for them to get to obtain a window for a scout exhibit which has attracted much at together. This work of course will only be to establish fire lines beyond which no one but authorized firemen and those bearing police cards may pass at a point beyond the fire engines. This order has not yet been issued but every scout can do his share until it does come out to assist the police at fires. Commissioner Gross is also in favor of giving the scouts a mobilization call on the fire apparatus. Further news of this will be given in the near future. Scouts who wish to qualify for Bugler will have opportunity to do so on Thursday April 3rd at 7:30 o'clock at Headquarters.

Buglers, Attention!

To qualify for Bugler a Scout must be able to sound the following calls properly:

Attention. Forward, March Halt.

Scoutmasters' Meeting

One of the best meetings the scoutmasters have ever had took place with George Wirt, chief fire warden of the State, at the rooms of the State Department of Forestry last Tuesday night. Mr. Wirt outlined to the scoutmasters present the various ways in which the scouts of the city could co-operate with the State and city in the matter of protecting and developing the forests. First he stated that it would be a matter of but a generation before the mountains to the north of Harrisburg would be a part of the park system of the city, and that if we wished to preserve the natural beauty of these tracts we should start now. Two ways were pointed out. First, that the scouts should act as five patrolmen particularly on holidays, Saturday and Sunday in the spring and fall seasons. He suggested that which scouts can help would be to re-forest burned out and bare sections with trees that the State Department of Forestry will furnish free. As a start he said that within a few weeks six thousand young trees will be set out in the immediate vicinity of Harrisburg and asked for us to assist in putting out these trees. It is the plan to make the planting of these trees a school in which scouts may learn the proper way to plant a young tree. All scouts interested in this subject are requested to report to the scoutmaster and the scoutmaster to local headquarters. Mr. Irvin Williams, deputy commissioner of forestry also addressed the scoutmasters and gave one of the most inspiring talks on scouting that they have ever heard. Coliection of clothing and magazines.

The scouts are requested to keep up the good work of collecting clothins for destitute Europeans and also for the soldiers in the

McCormick Lodge

Many troops have reserved dat
for the use of the McCormick Lod at Lamb's Gap. The rules covering its use are simple, viz: leave the lodge in better condition than you found it, Don't chop or mutilate any trees. Do not build unconfined fires or leave any glowing embers when you are through. Before a troop can secure the key a written permit must be secured from scout headquarters and be endorsed at the
