

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE BOY SCOUTS

"SCOUT-PARENT" NIGHT MONDAY

Troop 26 to Give Demonstration of Scout Activities at Celebration

The Scouts of Troop 26 will give a "SCOUT-PARENT NIGHT, Monday March 24th in which a demonstration of the different Scout activities and instruction will be given by the Assistant Scoutmasters and Scouts.

Scoutmaster Vanaman has arranged a very interesting program for the evening which should go far toward bringing the parents of the boys into closer touch with the Troop. Mr. Virgin will address the meeting on the Scout movement; Lieut. W. L. Vanaman of No. 2 Base Hospital will explain the methods employed by the United States Army in caring for the wounded soldiers; Capt. Davis, of the Court of Honor will demonstrate the making of a Scout map, and the standards set by the Court of Honor in tests. An interesting feature has been placed at the end of the program. Demonstrations will be given on Scout sign-aling, signalling with buzzer, blinker, wig-wag, semaphore, and woodcraft.

On Wednesday afternoon some of the Scouts of the Troop took a hike into the country. Only Scouts who were eligible to take second class tests in woodcraft went along. Seven were successful in passing their trailing Scout pace, cooking, knife and hatchet tests.

We all enjoyed the Rally on Tuesday night and are looking forward to another one. Don't forget, Scouts, about the magazines for the soldiers. RED CRANE, Asst. Scoutmaster.

Cubs Plan Hike With Eats and Plenty of Fun

We are going to have a Cub hike to-morrow, if the weather man is good to us. Meet at the Square at 1:29 sharp with fourteen cents carfare, and a lunch, something to cook if you prefer. The destination is a secret until we get there, but it is a hike of not over four miles—no hills—and very good roads. There will be an abundance of good drinking water, and some dandy places for picnicking. The Cubmaster says he wants to see at least eighteen green caps when he turns the corner at Market street and the Square. We will be home not later than six o'clock.

The One Star work went along so well last week that we ought to be able to begin the two Star work within the next month. Keep up the good work.

Two new members last week—Adrian Baker and George Bristol. We extend a cordial welcome to them for we believe they will be enthusiastic Cubs and that's the kind we want.

The round-up of magazines and old clothes last week was splendid. Let's bring a lot more this week and please bring lots of old clothes too. The Telegraph says that Haverling is falling way behind its allotment. We must "do our best" here.

Don't miss the meeting to-night. The insignia for the left sleeve will be passed out. If you want to join the Betsy Ross House Association and get a regular certificate of membership, bring a thin dime along. That's all it costs. See you in church. CUB HUSTON, Scribe.

TROOP THIRTEEN MAKES GOOD BET

Live Bunch of Boys Pay Up to Troop Eighteen After Contest

Several months ago, Troop Eighteen were the guests of Troop Thirteen and at that time, Scout Master Klare of Eighteen suggested a contest between the two Troops to see which Troop would land the first First Class scouts under the city council. Troop Thirteen now announces that for the last two weeks their Scout Master has had in his possession certificates for all First Class scout work for scouts Krause and Penstemer and these scouts are just waiting for three other scouts in the city to catch up to them as the city council will not meet until five scouts hold certificates similar to the two held by the scouts of Thirteen. Troop Thirteen feels very proud of the fact that two of her scouts have not only passed off their First Class tests but are the first two in the city to be passed by the Scout Executive and the Troop is making plans for suitable rewards for the two scouts who have brought this honor to their Troop.

GERMAN, Scout Master.

Troop 4 Holds Meeting; Name the Wolf Patrol

We had a very interesting meeting last Monday night. Our new patrol was named the Wolf patrol. Scoutmaster Hallman read the list of charter members of the troop, eight of the original thirteen being in service, and five of that number overseas. One of them, Bob Andrews has just come home from overseas and he gave a mighty interesting talk on how the artillery uses the flash method of finding guns. He also told us his impressions of France. He had some souvenirs from Germans, among them being a gas mask, helmet, buttons, etc. All the fellows, of course had to try on the American and German gas masks. The German mask nearly suffocates one but the American one is comfortable. One of the boys was trying on the American mask and some one jokingly held the tube and the flapper valve. He said, "these arnt any good. I can't breathe." ALEX WIELAND, Scribe.

DO NOT WEAR OVERSEAS CAPS

Scouts are hereby warned that the use of overseas caps by members of this organization is unauthorized by the National Council, and that wearing them is in direct violation of a War Department ruling forbidding the use of the cap until overseas forces are demobilized. When the War Department sees fit to grant to the Boy Scouts of America permission to wear the cap of overseas pattern, it is possible it may be used as part of the regulation Scout uniform. Until such permission is granted, however, overseas caps shall not be worn. The Scout organization requires that every Scout official assist in the rigid enforcement of this prohibition.

TROOP 7 SCOUTS PLANT MEMORIAL

Honor Memory of Colonel Roosevelt; Enjoyed Mr. Wirt's Lecture

The Scout Rally was certainly a success, considering the fact that many of the Scouts are busy with Tech work. Every Scout who did not hear the illustrated lecture of Mr. Wirt on Forestry certainly missed a lot of valuable information that he should know to be of assistance at this season of the year.

Every Scout of Troop 7 expects to have his name on the honor roll as having planted a memorial to Roosevelt. We certainly were delighted to know that we are to have a lodge for an overnight hike. Quite a few of our Scouts know the location of the building on the top of the mountain at Lamb's Gap. At the time we were there, the caretaker gave us a lengthy history of the place and the surrounding country. The Scouts are planning to take advantage of this treat. Richard Steinmetz was voted into the troop by transfer from Troop 1, Lemoyne.

ROSS H. SWOPE NEW SCOUT HEAD

Takes Place of Mr. Mitchell as Scoutmaster of Troop 19

On Friday evening past, Mr. Mitchell the popular Scoutmaster of Troop 19 resigned his office. Mr. Virgin was there to accept his resignation and also to present the new Scoutmaster, Ross Swope. Mr. Mitchell, although a very busy man, did his best to make Troop 19 a good troop. He was well liked by all of us and the announcement of his resignation came as a surprise. He had been asked to take charge of some important church work and in giving up the troop he merely obeyed his superior and showed himself a true Scout so doing.

Troop 7 Committee Revises By-Laws

The Honorary Committee met Wednesday night and had a rousing good meeting. A complete revision of the by-laws governing the troop was made. After this date all important questions will be discussed at their meetings. All scouts should turn out to scout meeting to-night to learn the good news. We are going to have a hike Saturday!

The orchestra will meet to-night. The Director, Assistant Scoutmaster Bailey wants every fellow with his instrument there. Scouts, you know that rule made concerning the orchestra. Troop 7 expects to have its concert very soon.

We have been very busy this week gathering magazines for our soldier boys.

The scoutmaster was greatly benefited by the meeting of the Scoutmasters' Association which was held this week in the Department of State Forestry. Everyone was convinced what the forests will mean to the coming generation, so scouts do your bit by taking care of plants and trees, and by helping to plant trees this spring.

OPEN SEASON FOR CATCHING SUCKERS WITH HANDS, ENDS

Fishermen Gasp With Astonishment When Game Warden Threatens to Arrest Those Who Forgot Hook and Line

The open season for catching suckers with the hands along Spring creek, better known as Poorhouse run, closed with a bang to-day. And with it went the season for the same engaging food fish taking in the old Rutherford ice dam now a part of the city's park domain.

Game Protector Charles E. Baum was walking along the Cameron parkway when he saw some young men groping in the chill waters of the creek with their hands and hauling out fish.

"What are you taking?" asked Mr. Baum.

"Suckers." "Don't you know the law only allows you to take fish with a rod and line?" "Can't you ketch 'em with your hands?" "I should say not. You're liable to get arrested."

"Say, I didn't know that. Lemme go. You ought to go up with the creek."

Baum did and met one man with a long string of fish. The dialogue was much the same. Then he met some boys with the same result and next he cleared out the crowd at the dam by the same dire announcement.

"I don't want to arrest you fellows. It would cost you all a lot and it's apparent you don't know the law," said he, in which he was upheld by Dr. Joseph Kaubfus, secretary of the State Commission.

One man, however, undertook to appeal. He went to the home of Seth E. Gordon, assistant secretary of the commission, who lives in the flourishing metropolis of Paxtang.
