MUCH CREDIT DUE JUNIORS FOR THEIR EXCELLENT WORK

Interesting Notes of the Christian Endeavor World; Much Interest in Banquet

Junior Christian Endeavor societies are doing excellent work. The State Junior Department has outlined a policy which has been adopted by many societies of the State under the direction of Miss Sadie H. Wiggins, of Pittsburgh, superintendent.

The aim for 1919-1920 is 200 new Junior societies by July, 1920. A banner will be awarded July, 1920, to the county having the largest net increase in its number of societies during the two years (provided the new societies are reported to the State Junior superintendent as organized).

Miss Wiggins is a member of the United Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh. She first became interested in Christian Endeavor by becoming a member of the Junior Society of the Third United Presbyterian Church, Allegheny, and from there graduated into the Young People's Society of the same church.

For two years she was Junior superintendent of the North Side Branch of the Allegheny County C. E. Union and the following five years was Junior superintendent of Allegheny county. During the term she supervised the organization of the county she perfected a splendid organization among the superintendents, and succeeded in organizing a number of new societies. It was Allegheny county that secured the banner awarded at Harrisburg for the largest number of new societies organized, and this was during her term of office.

In October, 1917, she was appointed assistant Junior superintendent of the State, owing to the fact that C. C. Culp, State Junior superintendent, had entered the service for Uncle Sam, and in 1918 she was elected State superintendent.

C. E. NOTES The Gospel of John, by the Rev. Charles R. Erdman, Princeton Seminary, New Jersey, as the course of Bible study classes in the Keystone League of Christian Endeavor, supplemental study in the Sunday School classes, and individual students.

Union; Miss Mabel Hoover and Miss Stella Runkle will have charge of the Senior society service on Sunday evening. The "Lenten Society" will also meet during the evening and the special program will be continued for some time.
