

FIND PLANS TO BLOW UP MILL IN PITTSBURGH

Federal Agents Secure Drawings Which Show Wires to Bombs

Pittsburgh, April 2.—A plot to seize the government arsenal here for the purpose of using the munitions stored there to destroy manufacturing plants and other buildings of Pittsburgh, is disclosed by the Department of Justice, following the arrest of William Wyciss, aged 38, of Wilkensburg.

The government's information informant against Wyciss was S. Pulaski, a Russian and a Department of Justice agent of Detroit, Mich., who was brought here with the express purpose of investigating a conspiracy of which the authorities had evidence. Pulaski gained the confidence of Wyciss and the latter, it is said, told him details of the plot.

The arrest of Wyciss followed the apprehension yesterday in the Pittsburgh district of two alleged Russian anarchists. In connection with the latter arrests, the Department of Justice let it be known to-day that in the room of one of the prisoners, Alex Antanoff, they found an entire set of plans of one of the largest industrial plants in the district. The drawing, it is said, showed a system of wires attached to bombs and leading to all parts of the big plant.

STATE MAKES A PERFECT RECORD

Major Murdock Compliments Draft Boards on Closing Up Their Work on Time

Major W. G. Murdock, chief draft officer, to-day announced that every local draft board in Pennsylvania had completed its work on time. He said that the records of the adjutant general in this state, which have received from every board indicate a 100 per cent record for Pennsylvania. The records are either in Washington or on the way and what is required to be filed or deposited here is in Harrisburg, he said.

The State headquarters will be maintained in Harrisburg for the present to close up the details of the system and Major Murdock will complete the compilation of the history of the draft from the chronicles filed by the boards. The State authorities can issue the bonds any time desirable after approval of the act.

March Fish Records—The State Department of Fisheries to-day announced that in March all records for "planting" fish had been broken and because of the mild weather many thousands of young fish had been distributed throughout the State earlier than ever before.

BIG ENDEAVOR MOBILIZATION IS HUGE SUCCESS

Hundreds of Delegates Fill Auditoriums of Messiah Church; 300 at Banquet

The mobilization of Christian Endeavor societies reached its climax last evening when the endeavorers thronged the large auditorium of Messiah Lutheran Church. Hundreds of delegates gathered by societies at an early hour to gain admittance to the church and were quickly seated by a large corps of ushers.

Societies won prizes for the largest percentage of attendance at the main sessions. Penbrook Church of God won first prize and Fourth Street Church of God, intermediates, second prize. The prizes were large pictures of the Rev. D. A. Poling, neatly framed, who was the principal speaker for the occasion.

The music by the Harrisburg C. C. choral union and the C. E. orchestra were elaborate and was highly appreciated.

After the seating of over 300 delegates and prominent endeavorers at the banquet, Paul A. Strickler introduced the Rev. D. A. Poling, the address Miss Mae C. Hoover, secretary of the Harrisburg C. E. Union, read a poem entitled "Welcome to Dr. Poling," written by the Rev. C. D. Rishel, of the occasion.

An alumni association with a membership of 300 was organized. President Frank S. Montgomery, of the city union, announced the following officers of the new organization: J. Frank Palmer, chairman; the Rev. W. N. Yates, D. D., city; A. Elmer D. L. Johnston, secretary; Charles R. Bartley, city treasurer; the Rev. Dr. A. R. Steck, of Carlisle, D. D., president. "The Lord's Day," with music interspersed, was the subject. He spoke about the victories won by Christians and the follies of an open Sabbath.

A. J. Shurtz of Boston, treasurer and publication manager of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, a former State secretary, was introduced and read the address from 72,000 societies, with over 600,000 membership. Greetings were also received from the Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., of Boston, and were read during the evening.

President Frank S. Montgomery, of the Harrisburg C. E. Union, and Miss Emily Edwards, president of the city union, of the C. E. Union, presided over the sessions, and the C. E. program kept the endeavorers enthralled very much alive for more than four hours' duration. Dr. Poling said in part:

"The call of the crisis is the call to Christian Endeavor, for in the trenches and in the camps at home and on the foreign fields more than 200,000 of the young men of our government served and sacrificed."

"How quickly they came! From my own local union six officers were listed within a few weeks; before I first left for France twenty-three State presidents, active or past, were in training, and nearly all of them, that of Des Moines, found their way out a young man left on the executive committee. Within the first year of the war Illinois and Ohio recorded more than five Christian Endeavorers in service for every society. A census of Camp Hancock, taken in early December, 1917, revealed the fact that ten per cent of the men in training there at that time were Christian Endeavorers."

"In every Y. M. C. A. but I was greeted by Christian Endeavorers under helmets and gas masks, at the alert. What a fine group that was from Maine! And then there was the brother of a president of the Oklahoma union. In one hit was greeted by one president of the Colorado union, in another by the former president of the Minnesota union, and in a deep dugout within the first line I found the president of the first officer after the entry of the United States into the war to receive the Croix de Guerre. He is now Colonel Robert Patterson, of Huntington, Ind., a serving Endeavorer in his local church. I had met him first at the Young People's Conference at Winona Lake."

"On no day in France did I look in vain for Christian Endeavorers. The group I met there was so small that it did not contain them. My visit with Patterson that night was only the beginning, rather a start, at a high point, in a day of continuous Christian Endeavor fellowship."

Dr. Poling expressed himself as being especially gratified by the action of the Peace Conference in including in its line of basic principles to the League of Nations specific recognition of the necessity for prohibiting the traffic in opium and liquors among the dependent areas. He stated that reports of the general disapproval of the passing of the prohibition amendment, on the part of the soldier overseas, and of his keen resentment, were untrue. He said:

"The American in France, as to his ideal and his present conviction is very much as the American in the United States. It was my privilege to announce national prohibition in the Palais de Glace, to several thousand enlisted men, and to officers; later to similar groups throughout France and the occupied portions of Germany. The simple statement, with the reasons therefor, elicited a practically unanimous expression of approval. The one man who voices his disapproval of national prohibition, or the group of men that so, from the decks of returning transports make more noise than the thousands that remain silent."

Tunnel and Road Building Plans Up

Construction of a tunnel on a State highway route near Union Furnace, Blair county; development of a county road improvement program embracing from thirty to thirty-five miles of road in Washington county and State assistance for improved highways in Bridgeport were discussed by Highway Commissioner Lewis S. Sadler with delegations and early State consideration promised.

The district operation, which State Water Supply Commissioner Robert A. Zentmyer called to attention of Mr. Sadler and Chief Engineer W. H. Chiles would shorten part of route No. 55 right near the Blackwood line and go right under a big cliff. It would be 180 feet long and save 120 feet.

The Washington county proposition attracted considerable attention as Senator J. A. Herron and Representatives J. A. Sprowls, David M. Curran and George T. Walker presided. J. J. Hott, Charleroi; Herbert Hertzog, Bentleyville, and W. C. Lee, Burgetstown, all interested in the early road development of the county and gave assurance that the State could count upon Washington starting a movement for a million dollar bond issue for good roads. The total construction will be determined later when routes are determined upon. The State will maintain such roads as are improved on main highway routes.

REPUBLICANS PLAN TO CUT NATION'S EXPENSES

Leaders Are Outlining Bills to Lower Present Enormous Tax Burden; Will Probe Democratic Extravagances

Washington, April 2.—A definitely formulated policy of economy and efficiency in the management of the Nation's affairs is being outlined by the leaders of the Republican Party in advance of their assumption of control of the legislative branch of Government at the next session of Congress.

It can be stated positively that retrenchment in expenditures will be insisted upon in all directions and that appropriations will be pared down to the point where some relief to the present enormous burden of taxation will be experienced.

Party leaders are looking ahead to the caucus which will be held shortly before the extra session is called. The opposition party has laid considerable stress on the expectation of factional fights at that time, and this feature has been given some prominence by some sharp interchanges of compliments between the heads of the Progressive movement and those identified with the so-called reactionary membership.

United On Policies.

This phase of the situation, however, deals far more largely with questions of personal preference than with policies. As regards the latter, it may be said that the solidarity of the Republicans will be demonstrated beyond question when the test comes.

Recognition is had of the fact that past protests against waste and extravagance must now be followed up by the development of constructive plans. The party leaders are endeavoring to meet the concrete aspects of the situation. They regard it as arising largely from a series of "unwelcome burdens" which have been piled upon the administration.

Considerable comment is being indulged in on the increase of "junketing trips." It is repeatedly being pointed out that nearly all of the leading Democrats holding positions of trust and power are now functioning in Paris and not in Washington.

Two Cabinet Officers Away.

In addition to the Chief Executive, there is a formidable body of men, scarcely subordinate to him, on the other side of the water. Secretary of State Lansing and Secretary of War Baker will make their trip shortly, probably about April 8. In addition, there are now in Europe many others whose legitimate functions, it is held, are properly centered here. Among these are General Harbord, Vance, McRae and others of equal prominence, while there are being added at irregular periods some who have just passed from Executive office, such as former Attorney General Gregory.

What, if anything, these men have accomplished is the question now being asked by the Republicans. The latter claim that nothing has yet been developed in proof of the value of their foreign services, though much money is being expended. They say peace adjustments are being delayed while theoretical discussions take up the time of the peace conference. The rising tide of Bolshevism continues in Europe, and domestic problems demanding immediate attention are ignored.

That there will be a round of investigations, taking in the principal departments, is assured. In these the most searching light will be directed toward the manner in which the immense sums drawn from the pockets of the taxpayers have been expended.

Plan Construction Bills.

At the same time the constructive measures to be pushed by the Republicans will have to do with domestic policies, which they claim are more pressing than most of those being considered abroad. A new revenue plan will be drawn designed to rectify the alleged injustice of the one now a law. Tariff reform is a practical certainty with the acknowledgment that revenue

Suppose that for one cent you could insure the quality of your cake, biscuits, etc., wouldn't that be real economy?

Well, one cent is about the difference in the cost of a whole cake or a pan of biscuits made with Royal Baking Powder as compared with cheaper baking powders made from alum or phosphate—a trifle, indeed, to insure the quality and wholesomeness of your baking.
