

HEROIC DR. ROLLER OUT-WRESTLED BY "STRANGLER" LEWIS; WILDE MATCHED WITH MOORE

"STRANGLER" LEWIS WON FROM DR. ROLLER WITH HIS FLYING HEAD-LOCK

Dr. F. B. Roller, an eminent physician of New York, did more to put clean and strategic wrestling back on American mats last night than perhaps he realized. This intelligent promoter of hearty sport, for one night, forsook his busy office in Gotham and came to Harrisburg, of which he had pleasant recollections, having played football here in 1895. Dr. Roller, like Steve Brodie, took a chance. Having been one of the teachers of Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, he predicted long ago that this giant would be champion some day. In the course of the training Lewis naturally learned many of Roller's tricks and he surely disclosed a bunch of them last night. Roller was an element of almost tragedy in the finish when the pupil suddenly sprang at the mentor, for all the world like a tiger, hungry and just unaged; fixed on him his deadly head grapple and for one minute compressed the physician's head and neck so viciously that his head and neck about his neck being disjoined.

The gallant physician's plight brought to his dressing room a host of citizens and the most brilliant surgical talent in Harrisburg, among the local physicians being Dr. Kunkle, who has been a most interested observer, and Dr. Hartzell. Roller's amazing strength served in good stead, for he recovered shortly and was able to travel back to Gotham at midnight and be on the job at his office to-day.

It was a representative Harrisburg crowd; nothing like it had been seen here for years. The support of the front rows and the youngsters gathered about him heard the fine points of wrestling as Mr. Hickok discriminatingly cogged the spectacular stunts. Spectacular was the word. And although the full strangle hold was barred there were enough startling surprises to hold the auditorium at Chestnut Street thrilled every second. Time and again Lewis got his old teacher in that fatal head clutch and when about to twist him over so his shoulders touched the doctor either writhed or plunged free, getting tremendous applause. For the crowd was with the younger 43, as matched against the youngster of 27.

Champion Joe Borrell Vs. Herman Miller Tonight

Joe Borrell, the veteran boxing promoter, announced this morning that he has arranged every little detail for his boxing show to-night at the Standard theater, in Steelton, under the Olympia A. C. No recent bouts have drawn ring fans from as many different sections of the State. Requests for tickets came from all directions to Bob Fairlamb, who is in charge of that part of the program at Front and Locust streets, in Steelton.

The main event to-night is between Joe Borrell, the European middleweight champion, and Herman Miller, the southern champion, and no ramer, aggressive, harder hitting middleweights have ever met in this section than these two maulers who have met the best in the world with success.

Borrell has toured this country and Europe without tasting the pangs of defeat, among his opponents being three world champions, Al McCoy, George Chip, Harry Lewis and Marcel Morea. The latter Borrell beat in Paris in eight rounds and the title Borrell now carries.

A look at the sporting annual will show Borrell's record unsurpassed by very few if any.

Miller is practically a youngster, being only 22 years old, but he has been fighting since he was 16 years old, and has met them all, including Tommy Gibbons, Jack McCarron, Leo Houck, when Houck was in his prime, Jackie Clarke, Johnny Gill, Young Harry Greh, Miller, like Borrell, is never satisfied except when the battle is thick, and Barrett says he is looking for one of them old-fash-

Dauphin-Perry to Play 20 Games; to Use More Non-Resident Players

Twenty-five boosters of the Dauphin-Perry Baseball League met last evening in the storeroom of Shenk & Tittle and planned for the opening of the league on May 17. A schedule of twenty contests will be played by each of the six teams, with the season ending August 30. While Mifflin and Juniata counties will be represented in the league by Reedsville and Mifflintown, the old name, Dauphin-Perry, will be retained. Several of the parts of the constitution were revised so as to be beneficial to the new conditions as well as to the new members of the league.

Marysville had representatives at the meeting, who stated that the question of grounds had been settled and that this town will again be in the circuit. The number of non-resident players was changed from three to five players, while the salary limit was also changed.

The president of the league will soon make assignments of umpires, and candidates should get in touch with E. E. Knatus, 24 South Seventeenth street.

FORD HUSKIES IN THEIR VERY HARDEST BATTLE

The greatest game of the season will be staged at Chestnut Street Auditorium this coming Saturday night when the local Independents meet the St. Columbia team of Philadelphia for the Independent championship of the State. Each team has won two games and the fifth game fell to the locals as they scored the most points in the first four games.

Dutch Baetzell, of national fame as a referee in the cage game, will referee this contest and the visitors claim they have not a chance to lose with Baetzell handling the game. Baetzell uses all gestures in calling fouls and he constantly has the fans on their toes. Baetzell refused the Eastern League games.

The visitors have a great combination of sage men on their club. Tom Dunleavy, who was a sensation in both the New York State League and the Eastern League will play a forward position with Gallagher, who is a wonderful shot and a top-notch in dribbling the ball.

Jack Lawrence will oppose Big Boss Haggerty at the pivot position and their promises to be one of the greatest battles of the season between these two giants, they each scoring a goal apiece at Philadelphia last week when the locals were defeated at the Quaker City. Jimmy Brown, who is known to all local fans and who led the Eastern League in scoring for two seasons will play a guard position with Deitrich, who is one of the best defensive guards the cage game ever produced.

The locals are in tiptop shape for this contest and should give good account of themselves as a championship is something that should make them work and bring good results. Dribbling will immediately follow the game.

HAMPDEN AND SPLENDID CAST IN "HAMLET"

The box office, the true barometer of theatrical success, has put its mark of highest approval on the Walter Hampden production of "Hamlet," which will be presented at the Orpheum Theater on Monday, April 7. There will be but one matinee and one evening performance.

Walter Hampden's great Shakespeare it has to be something out of the ordinary. That is just what the Hampden production is.
