

LATEST TYPE OF DIRIGIBLE TO FLY OVER HARRISBURG

Airplanes Are "Old Stuff" Here, So Liberty Loan Committee Plans to Bring Airships Used to Detect Submarines

Airplanes are "old stuff" in Harrisburg. Out on the Hill, when the Middle-town planes were making their daily flights over the city, the youngsters rarely looked up from their play. They were used to seeing airplanes. The week of April 28 will bring an airship to Harrisburg, however, which will get all the attention the old hot-air balloons used to get twenty-five years ago—and all the attention the first airplane got seven or eight years ago.

Victory Loan campaign in one of the perfected English dirigible balloons—used so extensively during the latter part of the war in finding German submarines in the English Channel and the North Sea. This balloon will fly here from Cape May, N. J., and will return there after being on exhibition at Reservoir Park the greater part of one day. During the week in question the balloon will fly to Lancaster, York, Lebanon, Harrisburg, Conowingo, Gettysburg, and other places. In each city landing places will be found which can be reached easily by the crowds. Here the landing field will be the golf course at Reservoir Park. Permission to use the park has been secured by Mercer B. Tate, of the Victory Loan committee. The dirigible is coming here during the week that Harrisburg buys Victory Bonds.

NEW PLATINUM FIELDS OPENED

Development in Colombia May Increase World's Supply

New York, April 4.—The new platinum fields being opened up in Colombia, South America, are not only expected to increase the world's supply of platinum above the pre-war normal, but give Colombia new railway lines and build up the general commerce of the republic.

The principal work is being done in the Choco district which is untouched by a railway but is on the San Juan river within reach of steamboats from towns on the sea coast. There are two large companies in the field. One is the British Platinum and Gold Corporation of London; the other, the Anglo-Colombian Company, now merged with the South American Gold and Platinum Company of New York, backed by the Lewisohn interests.

The British company owns thirty square miles of territory and has options on forty miles of river frontage. It also owns one-half interest in the Opedo property, the other half of which is owned by the Paris Transvaal Gold Mines Company.

The mining is carried on by dredging and hydraulic work. The ore averages 75 per cent platinum and 10 per cent gold. Engineers of the British company calculate their properties will net them eventually $8,500,000, basing costs on 12 cents a cubic yard for dredging and 6 cents for hydraulic.

Platinum now commands a steady market at $105 an ounce. Despite the fact that the war is ended and there is no further large need for the metal for high explosives, there is no prospect of any falling off in the demand for the price. New uses for platinum have been discovered. Its popularity as fashionable jewelry will continue and it now used as a catalyzer in the new industry of producing ammonia from the air.

Owing to the war, its use in magnifying glasses, binoculars, motor cars and motor boats was greatly increased and this use will remain in peace times. The world's production of platinum was 300,000 ounces before the war. Of this 90 per cent came from the Ural mountain mines in Russia.

The Russian production of platinum was 185,381 ounces in 1912; 173,612 in 1913; 156,775 in 1914; 107,774 in 1915 and 78,414 in 1916.

The Choco district in Colombia has been worked as never before since the war. Its output in 1911 was 2,000 ounces; 15,000 in 1912; 15,000 in 1913; 18,000 in 1914; 25,000 in 1915, and 30,000 in 1917.

With the exploitation of the rich Colombian fields, the need for railroads in Colombia is becoming pressing. Agents of American and British contractors are now in Colombia looking over the field with the idea of building transportation lines. Colombia is wonderfully rich in agricultural and mineral resources and the coming of the railroads is expected to bring about a wonderful development of its industries and commerce.

TO TRAIN BOYS TO EAT

A mother brought to my office recently with the assertion that she needed a tonic. She said he was "rundown," nervous, and had no appetite. I asked her what he ate, and about his food. He did not eat any vegetables except potatoes, he ate dessert like cake, pie, cake, pie and ice cream. He would not touch spinach, gelatin or fruit salad dessert. Meat, milk, he ate, but refused; if stewed or boiled he would have none of it.

The difficulty with this child was that he had been allowed to form prejudices against certain foods. Perhaps the first time he had refused a certain food his mother had coaxed him, or she had commanded him to eat it. Either way, it had impressed upon his mind his momentary prejudice; he had decided that he did not like that food, and had stuck to it. Every time anyone paid any attention to his refusal of the dish, his dislike for it deepened. Thus he became daily more finicky about his meals.

RETRIBUTION AT HOME

While his mother was away on a visit Johnny didn't say his prayers. Upon his mother's return there was a reckoning.

"Why didn't you say your prayers, John?"

"Well, you see, it was this way, ma: I forgot to say them the first night 'n' nothing happened. 'N' then I didn't say them the next night 'n' nothing happened, 'n' so I decided I wouldn't ever say 'em again if nothin' never happened."

And then something happened.—From the Scranton Times.

Daily Health Talks

A Word About the Kidneys

People are easily frightened when they think something is the matter with their lungs or heart, and well they may be; but few people understand the dangers of diseased kidneys. These organs have a duty of vital importance to perform, and if they are diseased, there is no telling how or where the symptoms may appear. The kidneys are filters, and when they are healthy they remove the poisons from the blood and purify it. When the kidneys are diseased, the poisons are spread everywhere, and one of these poisons is uric acid. The uric acid is carried all through the system and deposited in various places, in the form of urate salts—in the feet, ankles, wrists and back—and often forming bags under the eyes. Sometimes the resulting trouble is called rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica and backache. Finally, come stone in the bladder, diabetes and Bright's disease.

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., in recent years, discovered that a certain combination of remedies would dissolve uric acid (urate salts) in the system. He found this combination to be harmless, so that he made it up in tablets, of double strength, and called them Anuric Tablets. They dissolve uric acid in the human system as hot coffee dissolves sugar. If you have uric acid troubles, don't delay in taking Anuric Tablets, which can be secured in the drug stores. You can write Dr. Pierce, too, and he will tell you what to eat and how to live so that more uric acid will not form in your system. Dr. Pierce will not charge for this advice.

SPORTING NEWS

Quaker City Proud of English Boxer, Fox

Ring patrons of Philadelphia are paying all kinds of tribute to a young English pugilist, Joey Fox, featherweight champion, who recently appeared at the National A. C. on three occasions.

On March 15, he met and defeated Young Sam Rodibeau, drawing the largest crowd that had attended a show at the club in a year.

On March 15, he met and defeated Louisiana, (the boy they were all looking for). The largest crowd that had been in the National club in the past five years turned out to see Fox trounce Louisiana. They packed 'em in, then turned 'em away.

Johnny Kilbane, the world's featherweight champion, appeared at the Olympia Club, in the City of Brotherly Love, the same week, with Frankie Brown, and while Kilbane drew a big crowd, he was outdrawn by the Englishman.

On March 29, Fox appeared again at the National. He was to have had Frankie Brown, of New York, for an opponent, but Brown cancelled owing to an injured shoulder. Freddy Reese, of New York, took Brown's place but was properly whipped by Fox.

Immediately after that bout the Olympia Club signed Fox, through his manager, Johnny Mooney, for two dates, April 7 and April 21.

The National Club, the Olympia Club, Matt Hinkel, of Cleveland; Dave Mackay, of Newark; and Sam Harris, of Baltimore, are all now hustling to arrange an international contest for the featherweight championship of the world, between Joey Fox and Johnny Kilbane.

Every afternoon on the Carnegie Tech athletic field may be seen about seventy-five candidates working their hearts out for the veteran, acting president, Hans Wagner. The famous player is also a great coach. He hasn't lost any of his pep himself and it is amazing how he instills the fight and enthusiasm into "his youngsters." Even if "Tech" only had mediocre material, Hans Wagner could no doubt create a fine team, but with good material, he and his players back Carnegie Tech expects to be able to make a great record.
