

THE GOAL OF ALL

The International Sunday School Lesson For April 13 Is "Christ Our Saviour," John 1:35-51

By William T. Ellis

Written on the surface of the world's social unrest, and yet unrecognized by those who are supposedly most concerned, lies a profound message for all of life.

BELLANS FOR INDIGESTION

There has been such a rising up of mankind to lift aloft the battle cries of emancipation and of a better manner of life for all the weary and heavy laden.

Something has set that master chord to vibrating. The portentous social upheaval of our time is at its basis a spiritual quest.

whole earth is groping toward that which Jesus called the kingdom of Heaven. Every custodian of spiritual truth, every leader in religion whatever his creed or organization, should be startled by this mighty human tide which is surging outside of all church.

Occasionally we catch glimpses beneath the surface of men's lives, seeing what lies deeper than the struggle for position and possessions.

That calls us back to the lesson of the first Christian discipleship. The fellowship of the friends of Christ grew by personal testimony.

Whoever does not discern this new sense of spiritual search in his own life is a superficial observer.

The Questers. Ours is the day of the questers. Everybody has his search. Wrapped up in the one big word, "Reconstruction" all of us hope to find the fulfillment of our most cherished desires.

Few are so dull as not to have learned somewhat of the lesson taught in France, the lesson of suffering, of sacrifice, of vicariousness.

Even John and Andrew, who first head and heeded the words of the Baptist, scarcely appreciated the significance of his characterization of Jesus as we do to-day.

Nothing less than the Lamb of Sacrifice, the Christ who died for others, the inspirer of the sublime and vicarious offering of precious life on the fields of Flanders and of France, can satisfy our heart-hungry time.

But Thee, but Thee, O sovereign Seer of time, O poets' Poet, Wisdom's Tongue, O man's best Man, O love's best love, O perfect life in perfect labor writ, O all men's Comrade, Servant, King, or Father!

How the Revolution Spreads. In the early days, the cult of Christ spread as radical socialism is spreading to-day—by man-to-man testimony. The most powerful modern movements are not those promoted by press and pulpit.

and life. We never come to an end of his sufficiency. All that the world seeks for is found in him, with yet more to follow.

Memory Gone, He Says; Sues R. R. For $100,000

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 11.—Dr. Harry Jay Herrick, injured in a railroad wreck last July, has started suit against the Detroit, Jackson & Chicago railroad for $100,000 as a result of these injuries.

Dr. Herrick is a dentist and a graduate of the University of Michigan. He had just established himself in his profession when the accident happened.

This lesson is being written aboard a steamship, with a commodore and a company of passengers. On public occasions we hear eloquent words about the importance of Anglo-American solidarity, and no man challenges these views.

Looms Idle as World Clamors For Cotton Goods

London, April 11.—Lancashire mules and looms are idle while the world is clamoring for cotton goods, says the Manchester correspondent of the Daily Mail, which adds that crowds of unemployed demonstrated in front of the Manchester Town Hall.

Unemployment in the county is rapidly reaching a climax. Men are coming out of the army and are said to be unable to get the work which was promised them.

PLANS SINGS AND CONCERTS. Plans for the activities of the Community Singing Committee of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce were made at a meeting of the members yesterday afternoon in the chamber offices. A special committee including Ehrman B. Mitchell, William Jennings, Croll Keller, Dr. P. E. Downes and Frank J. Wallis, will report to the general committee on the prospects for community singing and free summer band concerts.
