Al Kader Temple Starts Campaign to Get the 1920 Session

Portland, Ore., April 11.—A campaign of nation-wide scope has been placed under way by Al Kader Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, of this city, in its efforts to obtain the holding here of the Imperial Council Session of the Shrine in 1920. Pledges of support have been received from Shriners in many cities, and according to reports received there is excellent prospect that at the coming Imperial Session to be held in Indianapolis in July, the Portland invitation for next year will be accepted.

An entertainment fund of $100,000 has been pledged by the local Shriners, to be made available in case the 1920 session comes here. Of this amount the Portland Temple will provide $10,000, and the balance is being raised by a campaign among business men. Contracts already have been signed by the Shriners with the hotels of Portland, which agree to provide accommodations for 50,000 Shriners if that many come to the convention. Governor Ben W. Olcott, a Noble of Al Kader Temple, has sent telegrams of invitation to potentates of 100 temples throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico, urging Portland's claims to be host in 1920. Mayor George L. Baker has just completed a tour of the country, during which he devoted much attention to arousing interest among Shriners generally in Portland's invitation. Portlanders are widely enthusiastic over the prospect of showering the Shriners with their millions of roses, of having the visitors do their parades and stunts in a climate where the patrols can not raise a "sweat" in a mile of walking, where the snow caps of the mountains form a background for the Oriental scenes and in a city whose citizens are taught tricks of hospitality at the knee of mother.

Has Last Letter of Mary, Queen of Scots, Written Before Execution

London, April 11.—The National Art Collection Fund has loaned to the Royal Scottish Museum in Edinburgh, pending its final disposition, the last letter of Mary, Queen of Scots, addressed to her brother-in-law, Henry III, of France, and written the night before her execution. This letter was acquired from the Morrison collection by a number of persons for presentation to the Scottish people. It is in a perfect state of preservation, and a beautiful specimen of calligraphy.

In the letter, Queen Mary told King Henry that, having passed nearly twenty years in the captivity of Queen Elizabeth, she had at last been condemned to death and had been ordered to be executed as a criminal at eight o'clock the following morning. She commended her son to Henry's care. She signed the letter "at two hours after midnight. Your most loving and very good sister."

Reds in Russia Adopt Trade Union Methods When in the Army

London, April 11.—Many troops of the Red Army in Eastern Russia have adopted trade union methods in dealing with their Bolshevik superiors. They demand fixed pay for each hour of fighting and this, according to official reports to the British government, at times amounts to 20 rubles an hour. The Red Army in that territory is composed of Germans, Finns, Chinese, Poles and recruits from the semi-civilized provinces of Eastern Russia.

Many of the officers are Germans. Others are Russians pressed into service. Every order given by an officer is reported to the commissary and any mistake is punishable by death.

Drew Pay For Work He Did Not Perform; Placed Under Arrest

Philadelphia, April 11.—A man, employed at the Harriman, Pa., shipyard of the Merchant Shipbuilding Corporation, who drew pay for work he did not perform, was arrested a few days ago for collecting money under false pretenses. When tried in this city, he was convicted and was required by the court to pay the cost of prosecution and return $46.20 which he failed to earn. The man promptly complied with the decision. Other shipyards watched the case and will similarly prosecute looters, it was announced.

Portuguese Soldiers Wed 687 French Girls

Lisbon, April 11.—The Portuguese have not failed to live up to their reputation for gallantry during their three years' sojourn in France. The authorities have received notice of 687 marriages of French girls to Portuguese officers and soldiers, and many hundreds more are expected to follow. The young Portuguese warriors, it would seem, exercised an irresistible fascination upon the French maidens by reason of the romantic melancholy songs of "Portugal called 'fados,' with which they serenaded their sweethearts to the accompaniment of guitars. These airs, it is said, gained wide popularity in the Armentieres sector, where the Portuguese expeditionary forces were located.

Building Operations in London at Low Ebb

London, April 11.—With the signing of the armistice it was expected that building operations in London, suspended by the war, would be quickly resumed. But so far there are no signs of a renewal of work on a dozen or more huge unfinished structures in various parts of the city. Labor unrest is the cause assigned by one big contractor for the state of affairs. "If it were not for the labor unrest," he said, "I believe we should be so busy that we could employ the services of every man available. The unrest is not confined to the building world. Manufacturers, banks, insurance companies and other large corporations which have been thinking of rebuilding are for the present holding their hands."
