Ukraine has been cleared of the troops of General Petlura, the peasant leader, according to a Russian wireless message received here. The Soviet forces have occupied Kamenetz Podolsky, about seventy miles southeast of Tarnopol, and control the, region at the mouth of the Dnistruction last night. Wormleysburg, Enola, Camp Hill, New Cumhas been cleared of the bester river.

Dispatches from Vienna yesterday said that forces commanded by Petlura, the Ukrainian peasant leader, had retaken Zhitomir and Proskurov and also secured the adhesion of 20,000 Bolsheviki troops, particularly those originating in East Ukraine. It then appeared that Petlura's plan, which he forecast sometime ago to the Associated Press' of cutting behind the Bolsheviki advancing into Bessarabia and toward Odessa, is succeeding.

It stated that he brought about the disaffection of the Bolsheviki socidiers partly by fighting and partly by persuasion. This was made more easy, it is reported, since the Bolsheviki executed 600 peasants during their brief occupation of Zhitomir.

LOST LAND INVESTIGATOR

IOST LAND INVESTIGATOR
An odd official position has been created in Kansas City by naming one of the citizens "Lost Land Investigator for Jackson County." The duty of the Lost Land Investigator is just what his title indicates; he is looking for real estate which belongs to the county but has, so to speak, been mislaid.

The task presumably involves a thorough going over of old land deeds and real estate deals along the river front from Kansas City to the county line, this being the locality where it is believed the county may own some land without knowing just where it is, and there is also the possibility that changes in the course of the river have created new land to which the county could rightfully claim title.

As might be expected, however, there are skeptics who hold that the only thing the Lost Land Investigator is certain to find is his own monthly salary.

"Harrisburg's Dependable Store"

LOTHING prices have come down, and are getting

Of course there are merchants throughout the country who have been unwise enough to stock heavily on merchandise at "six months ago" prices, and naturally it is to their advantage to let the public think prices have not been lowered.

But Wm. Strouse & Co. did not do this—they knew what was coming, and consequently their stock is replenished weekly with the latest models, and at current market prices.

That's why Wm. Strouse sells the same suits at $25—$30—$35 that some merchants are selling at from thirty to fifty per cent. higher.

And that's also one of reasons the people of this city have come to know Wm. Strouse & Co. as "Harrisburg's Dependable Store."

We wish to thank the many patrons of this store for their kind indulgence of our delivery service. But we are glad to announce that with the help of our own loyal tailors, and additional ones, we delivered every suit in time for the Easter parade---even though some were delivered Easter morning.
