SCHIFF WINS OVER OTTO O'KEEFE; RAILROAD BALL PLAYERS BEAT MERCERSBURG 5-3

"Sammy" Schiff Outpointed O'Keefe: Will Meet Kilbane

One of the most exciting boxing shows seen in this neighborhood lately was staged by Joe Barrett at Stælton last night, when Sammy Schiff made good, getting the decision on his ten-round bout with Otto O'Keefe. Schiff is now the man who should be matched here with Johnny Kilbane.

Schiff looked better than any time he has appeared in Harrisburg, having taken on four or five pounds in hard training. O'Keefe was somewhat handicapped with four boils, a matter which would discourage anyone but a regular pugliist. The boils may have had some effect in his boxing, for he was not so fast or vicious as at other the see. Schiff had something on bird in weight and it was Sammy responsibility to make the running. He took no chances and his left lead landed often, but never with any great force. If Schiff could master a hard blow with this left and land it, he would be a very hard person to beat, but, as it is, Kilbane will find him no easy mark. Billy Hinton, the York promoter and veteran pugilist, refereed all the bouts and his work was high class. He introduced as an amusement two little boys, Harry Buffington and Delmar Buffngton, whose father was a fourth man in the ring. The kids are brothers, and they boxed four rounds, vastly to the amusement of spectators.

The fiercest encounter of the evening was between Billy Morton and Ralph Leedy, both Harrisburg boys. No such battling has been seen here this season. They fought two lunatics, never resting; just slap, bang. Leedy had the reach, and, if someone taught him to use his left, like a Corbett, like two lunatics, never resting; just slap, bang. The Importance of Wearing

HAND-TAILORED Clothes

Young Men's--

waist-line suits double-breasted suits $20 to $35

semi-form-fitting suits $30 to $45

TO the average man, most good clothes look very much alike. But there's a big difference under the general style lines.

There are good fabrics and again there are the finest fabrics—woolens that have been spun and woven from the richest long fibred wool available.

Long fibres mean long wear, style permanency—that rich, lustrous look and so nothing but these finest woolens are used in these hand-tailored garments.

Modern machinery makes speed in clothes making possible, but machinery can't put character into cloth cutting and seam stitching.

It's all right to cut five or six suits at a time with an electric knife and to run the seams at a mile a minute when you're making just clothes, but these hand tailored suits are cut by hand with a pair of shears and stitched by hand with needle and thread. If you must make your appearance count; if you've a justified pride in being known as a well dressed man among men, then this is a very personal message to you indeed.

Finally: There will be no limit as to your choice of style, pattern or color in these splendid stocks of new hand-tailored suits. We've anticipated every demand.
