

RURAL CARRIERS FIGHT FOR MAIL

Contractor and Bondsman Take Their Troubles Into Juniata County Court

Mifflintown, Pa., May 2.—A fight between James K. Buchanan, rural mail carrier between Black Log and Mattawanna, and his bondsman, William Bilger, as to whether the bondsman should be permitted to carry the mail half the time and receive half of the revenue, had its aftermath in Juniata county court when Bilger was found guilty on an assault and battery charge. A motion has been filed for a new trial. The quarrel is said to have taken place on February 10 of this year. Both parties are from Black Log Valley.

In 1917, Bilger became bondsman for Buchanan, who received the contract for carrying the mails between Black Log and Mattawanna, and since that time until the week of February 10, they worked on alternate weeks and divided the revenue. On February 10 both men appeared at the post office when Buchanan is alleged to have told Bilger that he was only a substitute and that he was "fired."

Bilger denied that he was a substitute, saying that the contract between them when he became Buchanan's bondsman, was to the effect that in consideration of his becoming bondsman he was to do half the work and receive half of the pay and consequence he refused to be discharged.

When the postmaster had thrown the Mattawanna bag of mail out, both scrambled for it and the fight is said to have followed. Buchanan is said to have been wounded, while Bilger carried the mail. Bilger claimed that he struck Buchanan only after the latter had hit him so hard that he broke two of his fingers.

ONE TIP WENT RIGHT

"Some years ago," says an old trader, "I was standing by the ticker in a dull and reactionary market. An acquaintance came up and asked me what to buy. At that time I was ab-solutely hearish and could see nothing good or the list. It was early after-noon and just then the time came on the tape, 'I p. m.' So, with a laugh, I turned away, remarking, 'I guess I'd like as good as anything.'"

"Some months later I was accosted in the street by the same man, who greeted me with the greatest cordi-ality. 'That was some tip you gave me,' he said, 'I plunged on it and cleared up a whole lot of coin.'"

"Tip," he replied, "You said to buy Pacific Mail and I bought all I could carry."—Exchange.

Hershey Creamery Plans to Expand Business by Increasing Its Capital

"Milk is the first thing a man eats on arriving in this world, and generally the last thing as he goes out; you might, very justly, give this as the prime reason why we have increased our capital from $125,000 to $500,000." Ell N. Hershey, secretary and manager of the Hershey Creamery, in a half whimsical fashion gave this explanation to-day of the move just made by his company, a move which is taken in Harrisburg to indicate returning prosperity.

"Say what you will," maintains Mr. Hershey, "milk is the best of all things to eat and we are just beginning to learn the fact. Our plant is a proof of this, for it has increased five times in value since five years ago. The added cost of material and necessary im-provements urged us to increase our capital at this time. One big feature of the milk producing business now is the condensing plant and in Perry county alone we have 1,100 farmers bringing their milk to be condensed in bulk form only. This, in turn, is shipped to confectioners, bakers and ice cream makers. We are exporting some in will be beyond calculation.

Inquest on Death of Harrisburg Man Killed at Sunbury R. R. Crossing

Sunbury, Pa., May 2.—Acting Coroner Michael P. Tierney, yesterday empaneled a jury to hold an inquest over the body of H. E. Messner, 53 years old, a solicitor for the Harrisburg Telegraph, who was killed here on Wednesday.

According to evidence Mr. Messner had been talking to Grant Bolig, a tower operator nearby, and leaving him walked to the Philadelphia and Reading railroad tracks, all the time watching a freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad, which paral-leled the Reading at that point. He did not see the passenger train and walked right into it. The body was hurled thirty feet and badly man-gled. The railroad crossing at this point is unprotected.

Mr. Hershey returned from New York yesterday, more than ever enthusiastic over the value of milk as a life diet. He saw an expert from Johns Hopkins experiment on two mice, the one being fed on vegetable fats for four weeks; the other on butter fat or milk product. The milk-fed mouse," he relates "was sleek, fat with bright intelligent eyes and the dynamic spirit of health; the other mouse was lanky and sad. When farmers go to cow raising with even greater vim, the health of the nation will noticeably improve."

Easy Way to Remove Freckles and Blotches

Some women have skin of such texture they occasionally are annoyed by the sudden appearance of freckles, slight eruptions or fine lines. In such cases if one will procure an ounce of ordinary mercerized wax at any drug store, apply a little of it before retir-ing, like cold cream, she can easily overcome the trouble. When the wax is washed off next morning, minute freckle particles come with it. The entire outer cuticle is removed in this way in a week or so, with all its defects. No bleach could so effectually remove freckles or blemishes. The new surface is smooth, clear, fresh looking. No pain or inconvenience accompanies this simple treatment.
