Comparing Values--- A Sign of Good Sense Some women feel that after they've taken up a salesperson's time they ought to buy something whether or not they find exactly what they want. Please never feel that way here. We realize that the shrewd woman likes to compare values. And many times women have inspected our stock—walked out to look elsewhere and returned the same day to purchase. Don't feel obliged to buy just because you've consumed some of our time. We're glad to see you in any case. And if you don't buy to-day probably you will next week—or next month.
