MILLION MEN WILL BE HOME BY NEXT WEEK MAN CONFESSES TO MURDER OF SCHOOL TEACHER

300,000 a Month Mark Will Be Reached in June, Says Secretary Baker James Crawford Implicates Another Man, Who Is Under Arrest

New York, May 6.—The one million men of the American Expeditionary Force will embark for home next week, Secretary of War Baker said after his arrival here from France aboard the transport George Washington. The homeward movement of troops, Mr. Baker said, is progressing in a most satisfactory manner, and he added that the 300,000 a month mark would be reached on June 5. Speaking briefly of his visit to France, Secretary Baker said: "The American Army abroad is in splendid condition. The third army, which I inspected on the German frontier is beyond doubt the best equipped army in the world." Secretary Baker said he visited but one embarkation camp—that at Brest. "Its condition is simply ideal," he asserted, and you can get the same expression from any doughboy on this ship. I did not see any of the others but am informed that the same good condition prevails at all.

SENATE IS DUTY BOUND TO PROBE LEAGUE CREED

Connecticut Member Say Rejection of Root Amendments Puts Responsibility Upon Nation's Ratifying Body; No Suggestion Embodied

Washington, May 6.—Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut, Republican member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a statement issued last night declared that "in view of the deliberate refusal of the Peace Conference to incorporate in the constitution of the League of Nations all or any of the amendments submitted by former Senator Root, it becomes the solemn responsibility of the Senate of the United States to consider the proposals which the Conference has rejected." Senator Brandegee reviewed the

ROBBED OF ONLY DEAR THING IN LIFE, SHE KILLS

New Orleans Woman Defends Slaying of Publisher in Chicago Yesterday

Chicago, May 6.—Mrs. Vera Trepagnier, of New Orleans, who shot and killed Paul F. Volland, a publisher, at his office yesterday, talked freely to-day of the shooting, the cause of which was a miniature of George Washington. The painting, which is more than a hundred years old, was known as the "John Trumbull Miniature," she said. "I was presented by Trumbull to a Virginia bride as a wedding gift, and many years later came into the possession of Mrs. Trepagnier, now a widow sixty years old. "In my state men lie, gamble, cheat in business; but they do not lay hands on women," she said. "I cannot deny shooting Paul Volland; he choked me. I do not remember firing, but I recall his saying, 'You've killed me.' "Had Not Meant to Shoot "His fingers relaxed from my throat and he fell before me. Then I grew faint and fell, too. I had not meant to shoot him. He had robbed me, I felt, of the only dear thing left to me. He had evaded me for two years." She said she was born in Belfast, Ireland, the daughter of a shipbuilder and came to America when a small girl. She married Ellis Trepagnier, of New Orleans, a sugar planter, who died after the loss of his fortune. Friends obtained for her a position in Washington, she said, where she met Volland. He was reputed a connoisseur on art and she had studied art in her early days, she showed him the miniature, whose history he knew. He wanted the publisher's rights of reproduction and they reached an agreement as to royalties. Thereafter, she said, she could get no satisfaction from the publisher.

Council Approves the Appointment of Forester; New Streets Are Opened

Council approved the appointment of L. G. Baltimore 1115 Market street as city forester, recommended at the meeting to-day by Commissioner E. Z. Gross. The appointment dates from May 1. Mr. Gross assured the other councilmen that Mr. Baltimore is well qualified for the position. Because of legal requirements further action has been postponed on the ordinance introduced by Mayor D. L. Keister last week authorizing a vote on a loan of $40,000 for bathhouses and a bathing beach. The measure will be passed finally about ninety days before the general election in November. Ordinances passed finally to-day follow: Authorizing the opening of York street, Seventeenth to Eighteenth; paving Home street, Berry hill to Kensington; paving David street, Park to Whitehall; Helen street, Nineteenth to David; Kunkel street, Sixteenth to Seventeenth; directing an appropriation to pay expenses of repairing bridge over Spring creek; and authorizing construction of sewer in Penn street, Fourteenth ward.

Amendments to School Code Passed by House

The Koser amendment to the school code providing that contracts must be let for all work, etc., involving over $500, was passed in the House after opposition from Mr. Horne, Cambria. The vote was 181 to 4 and when the roll was being verified Mr. Horne asked "on what system are they voting?" The House passed finally: Consolidating laws relative to fish in Lake Erie. Providing for refund in exchequer proceedings. Amending school code to provide for special classes for children found defective on medical examination. Appropriating $6,000 for reimbursement of owners of cattle killed during foot and mouth disease. ADMITTED TO PRACTICE Joel Claster, attorney with offices in the Kunkel building, to-day was admitted to practice before the Federal District Court. OPEN SUMMER COTTAGE Theodore Fehleisen and Joseph Demma, of the Harrisburg police force, have opened up their cottage, "The Lookout," along the Conodoguinet creek.
