Sentry Found Shot on His Post at Dix Camp Dix, N. J., May 19.—Missing six hours from his post as sentry at the magazine storehouses before his body was discovered with a bullet wound through the heart, Private Floyd M. Hill, Company I, Fiftieth infantry, met death last night in a manner that is mystifying camp authorities. A military board to investigate the tragedy has been unalled to decide whether Hill committed suicide or was slain.

Hill's home was in Blacktown, Ark, where he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Dolle McCurley. The dead soldier was 25 years old.

"The Live Store"

Doutrichs Will Never Be Too Big

This "Live Store" is growing at a rapid rate, but it isn't so big---and never will be so big-that it will loose that personal touch that has made it the most talked of. and most highly regarded store in Central Pennsylvania. It has been our constant aim to make Doutrichs an institution-not a mere store. We regard each person who comes in as a client-not just one of the public who is sold something.

Those of you who already have become acquainted with us, know that we treat you as though you belonged to our big family. We are here to be of genuine service to you in connection with your wearing apparel requirements. Our first aim is to help you—not to sell you. It very seldom, if ever happens that we can't supply you with what you want. But when it does happen, we don't persist in trying to pawn off on you something you don't want.

Yes, Doutrichs is big and growing bigger every year—the larger we get the more useful will we become to our patrons. No matter how big we get, we will always maintain that personal touch that long made this "Live Store" famous even outside of Central Pennsylvania, and that has been largely responsible for our tremendous growth.
