

TOMPKINS GETS THIRD TRIAL IN MURDER CHARGE

Convicted Twice For Killing Humphries Family Two Years Ago

Johnstown, Pa., May 22.—George C. Tompkins, granted a new trial yesterday by Justice Brown, of the State Supreme Court on assignments of error in Judge F. J. O'Connor's charge to the jury which found him guilty of first degree murder, will undergo his third ordeal in court next week for the killing of Edmund L. Humphries, Mrs. Humphries and their son, two years ago.

When informed that he would have another chance for life he said indignantly "Yes, I knew all about it a month ago," and immediately lapsed into his usual taciturn mood.

Tompkins was tried first for killing Mrs. Humphries. His attorneys set up a defense of insanity. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty in the second degree. The Commonwealth then elected to try him for killing Mr. Humphries, his business partner, and the verdict was murder of the first degree.

Six other homicide cases are on the list for Cambria county criminal court at the June term.

DOCTOR ENDORSES NATONEX AFTER TEST IN HIS OWN CASE

"I'll have another box of your Natonex," said a man of professional appearance, as he greeted the Natonex representative in Scranton. "You are a physician?" asked the Natonex man, who recognized the caller's profession. "Yes," said the caller, "I am a doctor."

"Is this Natonex for a patient?" the Natonex man continued. "No, it is for myself and it is my second box," answered the physician, who proved to be Dr. H. D. Sletator, of Philadelphia.

"Have you tested Natonex personally?" Dr. Sletator was then asked, and when the physician replied that he had, he was asked, "Have you found it satisfactory?"

When a doctor voluntarily gives a public endorsement of a medicine, then that medicine must have proved its merit to him beyond doubt.

Here is Dr. Sletator's statement, given because of its great interest, in his own words:

"I saw Natonex advertised in Wilkes-Barre," Dr. Sletator stated. "When I learned that it contained a combination of all of the better-known Nature products for the common ailments of the digestive system; that it was not a secret preparation, and that it contained no harmful element, I decided that it should be an ideal remedy and I decided to test it in my own case."

"I was suffering from acute indigestion. This condition brought on

ALLIED SOLDIERS FIGHTING IN RUSSIA ARE EAGER TO GET BACK TO THEIR HOMES

Although Outnumbered By the Enemy, They Make Up the Loss in Pluck—Have Confidence in Their General

Archangel, May 22.—The Russo-Allied force which has been conducting the campaign against the Bolsheviks in this far northern region has been outnumbered by the enemy everywhere from two to ten to one.

What they lack in numbers, this force makes up in pluck, the pluck that makes them stick under attacks by superior forces, although they have not much interest in the Russian question and feel, candidly speaking, that the folks at home in Washington and London and Paris are making them suffer the penalty of their inability to make up their minds as to what should be done in Russia.

The grumble because they're here, and at the mistakes made by those at home and in Archangel who sometimes don't exactly understand the disposition of the homestead doughboy or British Tommie who is sitting in the snow in a frozen trench where a heavy fur coat makes no more impression on a man's heating apparatus than if it were a web of gossamer. But they go on fighting, just the same.

Confident of Leader With all their hardships, these troops have confidence in their commander, Major General Edmund Ironside, a veteran of several British campaigns, and a six-footer physically, who spends more time at the front than at headquarters in Archangel. They know the General is looking out for them but they don't feel the same way about the folks at home.

To march for four or five days over a snow trail, sleep on the cold, hard floors of peasant cottages at night in an atmosphere so thick that one couldn't even pour it, and then to fight all day in fifteen below zero temperature, has been more or less routine for the Yanks up here. They have fought with signal bravery, when greatly outnumbered, and when support, because of the weather conditions or the trails, failed.

PLAN CAMPAIGN WITH SMALL GIFTS

Republicans Will Not Accept More Than $1,000 From Any Person

Washington, May 22.—Chairman Hays, of the Republican National Committee, announces that no contribution of more than one thousand dollars would be received from any one for the financing of the coming Republican campaign and launched a plan of country-wide small individual subscriptions.

The new plan marks the passing of great contributions from corporations and individuals long the subject of attack by the Republican party's political opponents. The new plan, Mr. Hays announced, involves the decentralization of money raising into the very smallest contributions from the smallest units of territory. The chairman will outline the new plan in detail, at a conference here to-day and to-morrow, with the Republican State chairmen.

"Every one recognizes the necessity of meeting legitimate campaign expenditures," said Mr. Hays. "There is just one way for this money to be provided, and that is by means of small contributions from the great membership of the party. This plan will be followed completely. A gentlemanly way of means will carry this work into each State. The purpose will be to get small contributions from a great many members of the party. It is the plan to have these small contributions run from year to year, and in amounts from one dollar up. No contribution of more than a thousand dollars will be received from any one."

Chairman Hays added that the financing of the Republican campaign will be an open book and that it would accord with the best spirit of the campaign publicity laws of the Nation and the States.

World Lacks the Leader Needed to Bring It Back to Normal Basis

From Berne, Switzerland, a Harrisburg letter points to the seriousness of the situation in Paris, the lack of a world-leader at the present time warning the United States to watch Germany and study the Russian situation. The letter is one which will show that the writer is in close touch with conditions in Europe, and that he is not a student given the entire situation.

The letter follows: "It is rather disheartening when one thinks of the present state of things in the world and those who should be acting, and acting quickly, in Paris sitting with their heads in the clouds, not heeding facts and letting the whole world drift along in the waste of precious time and opportunities. These few months which have been lost can never be regained and each added day makes the outcome more precarious."

Paris will be the graveyard of more than one nation, and unfortunately, our own country is not coming out with flying colors. We are very much discouraged here in Berne, I mean the people of all nationalities, for we see the big things which are going on in the world, and we know that the League of Nations has a rather red, red effect. Besides, what is it, unless supported by force and unless binding, which it is not to be at any rate.
