The bills were presented in the House at the instance of Auditor General Charles A. Snyder and pro-vide for payment to the State of un-claimed funds in the hands of fiduciaries and for refunds if it be-comes necessary, payment to the State of amounts of unclaimed dis-tributive shares from assets of cor-porations, etc., in process of dis-solution and for reports from those in charge to the auditor general; prescripting procedure for escheats under provisions of any act and pro-viding that the auditor general may upon proof order refunds of unclaimed bank deposits instead of requiring a suit to be instituted against the State. It is expected that the new acts will result in thousands of dollars being reclaimed for the State. Can Now Pick Up Needle,

Can Now Pick Up Needle, Though Fingers Were Numb Before. "Somehow, I feel as if I ought to write and tell you the wonderfully good results I am getting from your Natonex." declared Margaret A. Boyd, dressmaker, of 249 Putnam street, Scranton, in a letter to the Natonex representative, who is now here personally explaining this won-derful Nature medicine. "Natonex has seemed to work like magic," this Scranton woman continued. "I read of Natonex in the papers and decided such as Nature preparation ought to be just Nature metalized. bearer! This is an hour for all who have heard the Voice to search their own spirits as to whether they are ready to declare at whatever cost, the message which alone can save our imperiled cities and civilization. The message which alone can save our imperiled cities and civilization. The search of the search of the search of the modern city seems to swamp the preacher. He loses his prophetic of-fice. An occasional sensationalist, with his eye on newspaper head-lisedom is it in order to cry the peo-phore and the life of the pommunity. Nobody feels this more deeply than the conscientious min-tisted of the search of the search of the promutity. The search of the search of the community. Nobody feels the search of the At a dinner table in Constantinople, recently, the talk inevitably swung around to Russia. There were ten of us, all in uniform save the padre, and ranging in rank from a general, a colonel and various majors down to two war correspondents. Fighting, and not theorizing, was the trade of seven of the ten. After thrashing out all the old straw concerning Russia, the talk took a turn. The futility of armed force as a remedy against Bolshevism had Old Ninevahs and New as a remedy against bounders. been admitted by the soldiers. Then one spoke up: "Really, there are only two ways of this Russian mess. One is for the nation to be left alone to exhaust itself in internal strife and suffering; letting The the disease run its course. other is for a great prophet to arise to call that essentially religious na-tion back to God. A fersh voice declaring, 'Thus saith the Lord,' other is for a great provided that essentially religious na-tion back to God. A fersh voice declaring, Thus saith the Lord,' sounding in the modern tones of a true man who loves the Russian people, will be listened to even the maddened mob. They will accept the justice and true brotherhood of the kingdom of God, instead of this horrible substitute of Bolshevism, when once it comes to them clearly in the name of the Father above. Russia's need of needs is a prophet of God.'' Hearing the City's Cry That is not the need of Russia alone. War is over; but it has be-queathed acute problems, which seem almost more perplexing than war itself. Our territorial quee-tions, our labor question, our moral question, our temperance question, our entire social and political quee-tions, bid fair to baffle the states-men. Especially from our cities there rises a cry and a challenge to which heaven itself cannot be in-different. Ninevah's voice was heard of God: what of the voice of New York and Chicago and Montreal and New Orleans and San Francisco?' I have been sailing the wonderful Mediterranean, whose surface and depth have so often attested the might of Jehovah; and I am think-hing that this is the sea of runaway Jonah as well as of earless, faithrul Paul, both bearers to cities of the divine call to repentance. And to think of Jonah is to be reminded that God is interested in the char-acter of cities and counties, as well as of individuals. We have had the divine judg-ments before our eyes. Behold Tur-key and Austria and Russia and Germany, the great nations that de-fide the laws of God and man; all are prostrate and powerless to cday. They have been visited by the jus-tice of the Almichty: while the lit-ile peoples they once oppressed are free. We do not have to read back far as Ninevah to learn that the ary free Almichty: while the lit-lie peoples they once oppression as-cends to the throne of the Judge of all the earth. Merer are the prophets whom this time so bitterly needs? Ger-man's prophets proved me are wearing the matter of contained to-day? Let us face the facts fearlessly. We dare not indulge in self-decep-tion or unwarranted optimism when the issues are so grave. Without captious criticism, or yet concern for conventional complacency, what do we find when we look into the realm of our professional prophets, the ministers of the Gospel? Count-less godly and faithful men, cer-tainly.

the ministers of the totage." these godly and faithful men, cer-tainly. Yet it is notorious that during the past five years of spiritual agony throughout the whole earth, there has been no one clear, strong, ar-resting voice heard in the Christian of the world. We have had to look to the laity for our prophetic messages. One reason why society is in a state approaching chaos has been the collapse of great spiritual leadership. The men whom we hought might sound the world note have become mere administrators and ecclesiastical functionaries. Preachers Who Sinned in France Worse yet. So widely had preach-ing become a profession, without the divine spiritual passion, that many clergymen, instead of being leaders and prophets, have them-selves been maintained in a conven-tionally correct mode of life only by circumstances. They followed the code of their calling, because it was difficult and dangerous to do therwise.

was difficult and dangerous to do otherwise. Many of these men went to war, from varying motives; and some avowedly to escape the tedium of their distasterul round of minister-ial duties. Of this number a per-centage, small, and yet too large to be ignored by conscientious people, suffered a moral lapse. With the greater number of these latter, the failure was merely a relaxation of such practices as wine-drinking. Others went utterly bad, sinking in-to sensuality and even crime. I know whereof I speak: I am not exagger-ating the occasional instance, such as the minister in Y. M. C. A, work, who became a confessed and con-victed thief in France. My informa-tion comes at first hand and on the spot, from the officials who know all the details. This is horrible, of course. I
