MOST RUSSIANS MUSIC LOVERS

one that has taken its place is a may seem, is Serbian, and after a new public consisting of workpeople, peasants, soldiers and sailors.

"I thoroughly realized during the revolution," he went on, "the force of the proverb, "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," for whatever the 'people' do in the political and social sphere— and their record is pretty bad—at concerts and at the opera they sit as reverently as though they were in church, and listen with the rapt expression of children to whom fairyland is suddenly revealed.

"May seem, is Serbian, and after a performance of this composer's permorned of this composer's permorned in the Maryinsky theater, the public which consisted almost ensured in the property of the 'people,' shouted them selves hoarse with enthusiasm. I add never dreamt they would understantly receiving requests—workpeople used to stop me in the streets—to get up another concert and conduct the 'Poeme d'Extase.'"

Would Not Join In Blockade On Germany

Geneva, May 30.—The Swiss government has decided to reply negatively to the allied note concerning the blockade of Germany, if Germany refuses to sign the Peace Treaty. It is held that compliance would infringe Swiss neutrality.

Paintings Seem to Be

If the figures given out by Horace Townsend, the well-known art critic, in his article on "Art as an Asset," in the June Century, can be credited, investors will de well to put their money in modern American paintings. Paintings, according to Mr. Townsend, who supports his contention with an imposing array of figures, are speculative risks of the highest grade, inasmuch as they give pleasure as long as they are in the investor's possession, and, if they are well-chosen, will sell in a few years for many times their purchase prices.

Make Policemen

Winnipeg, Man., May 30.—The city government of Winnipeg yesterday took aggressive steps to end sympathetic strikes of public utility and service employes, when the police commission ruled that every man wishing to remain in the employ of the city must sign an oath agreeing not to Join any sympathetic strike movement in the future.

Officials of three large iron works notified Mayor Charles F. Gray and Premier Norris that they would accept officials of the Canadian Railway Brotherhoods as mediators in a discussion of labor problems with their employes. Thus far, leaders of the Central strike committee have refused to consider any conclilation conference between the iron works executives and their employes.

Salvation Army Is

New York, May 20.—While complete figures are lacking, there is every indication that the Salvation Army passed the $13,000,000 goal in its home service campaign by approximately $3,000,000, according to an announcement here by former Governor Charles S. Whitman, of New York, chairman of the National committee.

He quotes Henry Ford's celebrated remark, "I would not give five cents for all the art in the world," not because the remark reveals an ignorant prejudice on the part of Mr. Ford, but because, "it is not likely that he voiced the unspoken thoughts of many millions of his fellow-countrymen. The man in the street is wont to regard the artist as a sort of fifth wheel to the economic coach." But this point of view, Mr. Townsend thinks, can be easily altered. "One may point out that here in New York are many young men who, if they had taken to 'business,' would be accounted fortunate if they were earning three or four thousand dollars a year, but who, as illustrators, are easily making three or four times as much.

"It was in 1910," says Mr. Townsend, "that the Yerkes sale broke all records in this country. The entire collection brought $2,155,579, of which the 198 pictures accounted for $1,695,5550. To equal this we have to journey to Paris, where two years later Jacques Doucet realized the tremendous' sum of $2,776,900, or an average of $77778 for each one. Large as the total seems, however, it is not to be wondered at when it is remembered that a pastel portrait of Duval de i'Epinoy by La Tour, which M. Doucet bought in 1903 for $0,040, brought $120,000, a wonderful nine years' investment; that Mme. Vigee Lebrun's 'Princess Talleyrand,' bought a few years earlier for $3200, sold for $80,000, and that J. H. Fragonard's 'Sacrifice au Minotaure, which in 1880 brought only $1060, was knocked down for $72,000.

"However, these were not the only high prices brought in London and Paris about this time. There was the Rouart sale in Paris, for instance, at which Degas, an old man by this time, had the doubtful pleasure of seeing a picture, the 'Danseuses a la Barre,' which he himself had sold for $100, realize the huge sum of $87,000. It was in 1912 that Regnault's 'Salome,' sold by the phinter in 1870 for $800, brought $960,000, and now forms one of the $100, and how form sone of the $100, and how form sone of the $100, $20,000 in 1905, brought no less than $147,500.

"Many collectors play for safety and buy old masters for huge sums, but they buy in much the same way that they would buy city real estate; that is, after it has an assured commercial value. But it must be remembered that at one time these same old masters were modern painters, and had it not been for patrons during their own lifetime, these works would never have seen the light of day. The men alive now will in turn become old masters, and it is the bounden duty of their contemporaries to preserve their work for future generations. Professor C. J. Holmes has given some useful hints to private collectors:

(1) Collect the very best things of their class; (2) Be generously systematic; (3) Buy what is strongly felt and emphatic, and not what is merely clever. (4) If you must buy sentiment, buy it cheap and engraved."
