Sues Tenant Farmer For Not Putting Out Crops

Carlisle, Pa., June 3.—A rather peculiar court proceeding was the granting of an injunction by Attorney for H. J. Cuberson, against Melvin G. Albright, a farmer living near Middlesex. The complainant states that Albright is the tenant on his farm, but that he has not sufficient equipment, has not put out the crops and interferes with any one sent to the farm to work. A hearing will be held on Thursday.

$7,500,000 FOR WAR Waynesboro, Pa., June 3.—In the two years the United States was in the war, the Waynesboro district, which includes Waynesboro, Washington and Quincy townships, subscribed more than $7,500,000 to aid the government in its fight against the Germans. This amount is more than was subscribed by some entire counties in the State of Pennsylvania. There were 11,027 subscribers.

THREE SERVICE CROSS WEARERS

Wounded Soldier at Carlisle Hospital Received Badge From Marshal Foch

Carlisle, Pa., June 3.—Still another soldier has been discovered at the United States Army General Hospital here who was specially cited for bravery in action. Two men here wear the Distinguished Service Cross. It has just been learned that in addition to Corporal Harold W. Stevens, Battery A, One Hundred and Seventh Regular Artillery, has a citation from Marshal Foch himself. Corporal Stevens was cited for bravery in the Argonne fighting. The regiment had finished a bombardment and was ordered to advance. The observation post was unable to send instructions back to the main unit because of smoke and dust. Stevens volunteered and went into the open field, where he lay for nearly an hour, signaling with his arms from the advance post to the battery. All of the time he was under a rain of shells, machine gun bullets and gas, but held his place until he fell seriously wounded and was carried from the field.

CONCERT AT IRVING Mechanicsburg, Pa., June 3.—Last evening at Irving College the Grand concert was given and was attended. This is always one of the musical events of interest and that of last evening was no exception. An excellent program was rendered by Miss Elsie Rebecca Braught, Miss Pauline Bean Creseman, assisted by Miss Margaret Maclay Wagner, Mus. B '18 and the College Glee Club.

MRS. CARRIE STOOPS DIES Waynesboro, Pa., June 3.—Mrs. Carrie Stoops died at the home of her son, Jacob Stoops, aged 78 years. She was born in this country and was a member of the Seventh Day Baptist Church. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. George Hahn, Roanoke, Va.; Mrs. John Brown, Hanover, Pa.; Jacob Stoops, Waynesboro, also a sister, Mrs. John Ruthrauff, Waynesboro.

SURPRISE POUND PARTY Waynesboro, Pa., June 3.—About fifty persons tendered a surprise pound party to Mrs. Martha Hennessee at Shady Grove upon her return from an extended visit to her daughter, Mrs. L. J. Mutchler, Blackwood, N. J.

CONGREGATION PASSES QUOTA Carlisle, Pa., June 3.—In a one-day campaign, the Allison Methodist congregation here passed their quota for the Methodist Centenary. The total was $5,157 and in one afternoon this was oversubscribed by $720.

RAILWAY CASES TO BE DISPOSED OF

Opinions in Harrisburg and Valley Cases Likely to Be Handed Down Soon

The final argument in the Valley railways case, involving questions of fares and service on the West Shore and in Cumberland Valley town, will be heard by the Public Service Commission next Monday and the Commission will then start to work on it. It is understood that the decision will be handed down during the summer and will be of far reaching effect.

The Harrisburg Railways case will also be decided during the summer. It was argued some time ago before Commissioner James Alcorn.

Another interesting local case is that against the Mechanicsburg Gas and Water Company argued yesterday and in which the service charge issue was raised. The McConeillsburg Water Company case is also to be settled soon.

Appeal Granted.—The Superior Court has granted the appeal of the city of Scranton in the proceedings over the decision of the Public Service Commission in the six-cent fare case.

Takes Office.—Superintendent Thomas B. Finegan last evening assumed direction of his department, having been sworn in yesterday.

Governor Uses Act.—Governor Sprout has vetoed the Walker bill providing that the minimum limit for a number of offenses shall never exceed one-third of the maximum sentence prescribed by any court.

The Governor says: "The Judge who imposes the sentence with relation to the character of the crime can determine better than the Legislature how the minimum and maximum sentence should be imposed. Under this bill a sentence for conspiracy, no matter how flagrant or how great the fraud, could not exceed eight months; a sentence for bigamy, regardless of the circumstances, could not exceed eight months, and a sentence for larceny, without regard to the value of the property stolen, could not exceed one year. Moreover, the bill opens the jails to release without reference to the crimes which they have committed, all convicts who have been sentenced since June 30, 1911, and have served one-third of the maximum sentence imposed upon them. The Governor also vetoed an amendment to the borough code on the ground that radical changes should not be made until more opportunity to try out the code has been given. He vetoed the bill providing fines for owners of stallions, etc., running at large on the ground that present laws cover the case.

Mrs. Niver Reappointed.—Mrs. E. C. Niver, of Charleroi, was reappointed a member of the State Board of Censors last night. George G. Brooks, of Scranton, was appointed a trustee of Scranton State Hospital, and Samuel R. Foster, of Philadelphia, to the State Board of Undertakers.

New Alderman.—Francis M. Mylin has been appointed chairman of the First ward of Lancaster.

Capitol Visitors.—Superior Court Judge W. L. Keller, Receiver of Taxes Frederick Kendrick, of Philadelphia, Joseph O'Brien, prominent Scranton lawyer, and District Attorney Rotan, of Philadelphia, were Capitol visitors.

Cumberland Valley Merger Approved

Merger of the Cumberland Valley railroad with the Pennsylvania system was formally approved by the Public Service Commission to-day in an order for issuance of a certificate of public convenience to be based upon the agreement entered into by the companies on January 22. The order sets forth that the Cumberland Valley has an authorized capital stock of $8,000,000 and that all of the stock is now owned by the Pennsylvania with exception of 283 shares and that the company has no bonded debt. The agreement for sale of the stock provides a price of $150 per share and when all of the capital stock has been cancelled, the corporate existence of the Cumberland Valley will end. The Pennsylvania has for years operated the Cumberland Valley as a part of its system.

FAVORS CHANNEL BRIDGE; PLAN BELIEVED PRACTICAL

London—Why not build a channel bridge?

This suggestion is put forward quite seriously by an engineer, John Neale.

"The Neale channel bridge is now a practical engineering proposition," he said to a Daily Express representative the other day. "Secret investigations in cellular ferro-concrete construction by the admiralty and the ministry of munitions during the war show it."

"The channel tunnel is estimated to cost about $125,000,000, and will probably take six years or more to build."

"The Neale channel bridge would cost $60,000,000, and would be completed within three years."

"My proposal would include a railway track, with four sets of rails, and above that there would be a special 'speedway' for fast motorcar traffic."

LOYAL BOY 'CANS' WORMS FOR FUND TO HELP LOANS

Albany, N. Y.—An enterprising boy here has saved money for war savings stamps and Liberty and Victory Loans through an idea he has worked for a year or more. He "cans" worms and sells them for bait.

The boy uses a five-gallon oyster can, punches it full of nail holes, though not big enough for the worms to wiggle out. In the summer time when worms are plentiful he digs the invertebrate animals, fills up the can with good earth, buries the can in the ground within an inch or two of the top.

The worms get moisture through the tiny holes in the can and in dry weather from water spilled on the ground. At the top of the can the boy uses coffee grounds, after the family is through with them.

Cottage Song Service at Blind Woman's Residence

Blain, Pa., June 3.—A cottage song service was held for Mrs. Jacob Leiby, aged 83 years, who is totally blind, at her home at Mannassa, on Sunday afternoon. Those present included Mrs. David Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rowe, Miss Hazel Rowe, James Wilt and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Niles Keck and baby, Mrs. Frank Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Robinson and child, Mrs. George Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gutshall and baby, Miss Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stahl, Miss Shields and brother, Mrs. Martha E. Shambaugh, Mrs. Clark Keck and baby.

DAUPHIN FARMERS TO GO TO STATE COLLEGE

Many farmers from Dauphin county are expected to participate in the big auto run of the Dauphin County Farm Bureau to State College during the summer farmers' week there on June 17, 18 and 19. The farmers will leave this city on Wednesday morning, June 18, and return home on the following day. H. G. Nealey, Dauphin county farm agent, to-day estimated that between 150 and 200 farmers from this county will take the trip. A total attendance of 5,000 is expected, he says.

GIVE FAREWELL PARTY

Bressler, Pa., June 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Papefus and family, for 17 years residents of this place, to-day moved to their farm near Annville. Their friends here gave them a royal sendoff. Last week Mr. and Mrs. Papefus were given a farewell surprise party at which luncheon was served. Included among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stageski, Mr. and Mrs. S. Belemy, Mrs. H. Bennett, Mrs. J. A. TO DEMONSTRATE POTATO SPRAYING

To demonstrate the value of potato spraying, a ten-acre field on the farm of William H. Jones, of Lower Paxton township, will be sprayed at various times this year under the auspices of the Dauphin County Farm Bureau to illustrate the better results secured on the sprayed section. Two hog pasture demonstrations will be held on the farms of John Shimkiny, of Gratz, and M. R. Rutherford, of Paxtang, County Agent Nieslye has announced. A new pig club will be organized this evening in the Oak Dale school in Lower Paxton township. An additional pig club for boys and girls was organized last week at Gratz with a membership of 16.
