STATE POLICE TO BE REORGANIZED

Governor Approves Bill For One New Troop to Be Located Here

The Powell bill reorganizing the State Police Department became a law today through approval by the Governor and immediate steps will be taken to work out the changes and to recruit the fifth troop of the State Force, to be located here. The bill passed the Senate finally Monday night and the House soon after concurred in the amendments.

The bill creates a bureau of fire protection to take over the duties of the State Fire Marshal's Department; reorganizes the office of the superintendent, provides that State policemen shall enforce laws relative to game, fish and forestry, establishes a bureau for the keeping of records of crimes and criminals, and creates one troop of eighty-three men, to be headed by a captain.

The deputy superintendent is to be named by the superintendent with approval of the Governor and be paid $4,000; a chief of the fire bureau at $4,000; and statisticians, clerks and other employees are to be similarly named. The law also defines various duties of the police relative to fires, the enforcement of the game, fish and forestry laws and provides that upon approval by the Governor, police may be called upon by other departments to enforce the laws.

The new troop is to be located near the State Arsenal grounds on the eastern limits of this city, where the State will build a barracks and stables under express provisions of the act.

VARE MEN FIGHT CHARTER BILL

Battle Against the Measure in House Started After Committee Takes Action

Vare members of the House last night started what bids fair to be one of the most strenuous fights in recent legislative years against the Philadelphia charter bill. Defeated in the municipal affairs committee, they carried the fight to the floor of the House and made the night session exceedingly lively, threatening a renewal of hostilities to-day.

The bill was reported to the House after the rule of the House fixing the order of business had been suspended and a filibuster attempted by Mr. Glass, Philadelphia, one of the Vare members. The incident foreshadowed a battle against the charter bill and when Mr. Glass had been finally refused recognition by Speaker Spangler, he declared he would have his say to-morrow. The speaker abruptly terminated the controversy by announcing a memorial service and requesting the chaplain to offer prayer.

The charter bill, which had passed first reading with amendments some time ago, was to have been considered by the municipal corporations committee at 2 o'clock in the afternoon but Chairman W. P. Stadlander, of Pittsburgh, did not appear. Members of the committee then arranged a meeting at the conclusion of the afternoon session of the House, but adjourned it until 7:30, when with Mr. Powell, Luzerne, presiding, the bill was considered. Amendments proposed by Mr. Ramsey, Delaware, who sat beside J. R. K. Scott, Philadelphia, leader of the Vare forces in the House, and one by Mr. Sowers, were voted down.

SUNDAY CONCERT BILL BUMPED

Philadelphia Clergymen Say It Would Be "Entering Wedge"

The Bucher bill to permit Sunday concerts by orchestras not organized for profit and supported by voluntary contributions and endowments, was denounced and entering wedge for Sunday amusements before a sub-committee of the House law and order committee by Philadelphia clergymen. Arthur Judson, manager of the Philadelphia orchestra, who appeared in support of the bill, said that Philadelphia was a musical center with over 200,000 students taking music lessons and that the plan was one which would enable music of a high grade to be placed within reach of people who could not attend such concerts on other days.

Mr. Bucher said that he had drawn the bill to meet a situation which he saw in Philadelphia and that he was opposed to commenting on the Sabbath. Mr. Judson urged the bill because of the importance of music in Philadelphia, presenting figures to show that many people were interested also remarking that the city appropriated $17,000 for band concerts of which he did not think very much.

Mr. Judson also reported on the Philadelphia bills, although Mr. Glass was raising points as to whether the bill was a question of personal privilege when Mr. McVicar, Allegheny, desired to report a bill, but the speaker received the bill.

After some business had intervened, Mr. Glass, as a matter of privilege, declared that the bill received by the speaker was not the original bill and should not have been accepted. The chair ruled the point not well taken and Mr. Ramsey, Delaware, objected to the method of Mr. Glass, who then renewed objections and was again overruled.

The speaker ordered the memorial service to proceed and Mr. Glass said that the speaker had allowed the hour to pass. The speaker declined to hear him any further, but Mr. Glass again raised a point of order and the speaker declared that he would not listen to him to-morrow. He retorted the Philadelphia.

The speaker ordered the memorial service to begin and asked Chaplain Feldman to offer prayer, ending the matter.

The Vare forces said that they would fight every inch of the way against the bill.

Bank Bill Has Strenuous Time

Strenuous opposition to the bill sponsored by Senator Graff, Indiana, which would confer fiduciary powers on State banks, was manifested yesterday before the Senate committee on banks and building and loan associations.

J. C. Robinson, of Pittsburgh, a member of the executive committee of the Trust Company Association of Pennsylvania, declared that the bill discriminated against trust companies. Mr. Robinson said: "It would confer upon banks all the powers of trust companies, while denying to the trust companies some of the bank's privileges." Among other speakers against the bill was Major David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, counsel for the trust companies, who said that a commission is already at work codifying the State banking laws, and that they should not be interfered with at this time.

Mr. Davis, representing the Deposit and Savings Bank of Kingston, Luzerne county, declared that there is no substantial difference between State banks and trust companies, and that the bill should be passed.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsett's coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and dislodges every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any drug store a few ounces of Blaud's Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisulphate Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion. G. A. Gargas.

British Airships Help to Clear Mines From Isles

London, June 4.—Sweeping up the thousands of mines which strew the seas in the neighborhood of the British Isles has proved such a costly and dangerous job when carried on by the ordinary methods, that the Admiralty has turned to the airship for the North Sea. Experiments conducted in the North Sea, it is announced, have been successful, mines being located and exploded much quicker than when the usual mine-sweeping ship is used.

While the airship has the advantage of height in locating mines, the mere fact that an airship cannot hit a mine adds so much to the element of safety that it is expected that much of the 5,000 square miles of mine-strewn waters which remain will be cleared without loss of life.

British Women Besiege Stores at Times of Sales

London, June 4. — The constantly advancing prices of dress material and other necessities for the female wardrobe, has caused the stores to be besieged at times when unusually attractive "sales" are on. One such sale was advertised for Monday of this week and before 10 o'clock on Sunday morning one woman was waiting outside the establishment. Soon several others came with provisions and campstools. They sat through the whole day and night, and were joined by many hundreds the next morning. Three policemen were requisitioned to restrain their rushes when the doors opened.
