SNODDLES

RED CROSS ALWAYS IN RIGHT PLACE

BY REV. FRANCIS P. DUFFY, Chaplain of the One Hundred and Sixty-fifth Regiment (New York's Old Sixty-ninth), of the Railway Division. I think that I never saw finer women anywhere than the Red Cross women in service overseas. At every point that their operations touched our regiment they showed up 100 per cent. worth while—nurses in the hospitals, canteen workers at railway stations and at docks. Workers and all, they were splendid, high-spirited American women whom one can only praise. They were always where they should be, at the time they should be there. Nobody had to look twice for them. Sometimes they were where you would never think of their being—under fire, for instance. Take the time at Chalons when the three or four girls who were in charge of the railway station canteen remained under fire for days because they wouldn't desert their job of feeding the soldiers who were constantly passing through. And they stuck, mind you, when more than half of the native population evacuated. They were in a momentary danger of their lives, but they went ahead without a thought of themselves. I regret that I cannot recall all their names. One was a Miss Nott, I think, and another was Miss Wilson, an aunt of Major Hamilton Fish. There is nothing too good to say about women like that. I'll say as a result of the punning he said in his article that he thought—Catholic News.

Doughboy and Poila Boxing to Amuse Their Pals Between Boats With the Bolsheviki

Russia does not offer much entertainment for the soldiers who have been there fighting the Bolsheviki so they try to entertain themselves. This picture, taken at Archangel, shows Color-Sergeant Anthony Choike, Headquarters Company, 33rd Infantry, welterweight champion of the Eighty-fifth Division, and G. Fionner, one of the best welterweights in the French Army. They met in a three-round bout, which ended in a draw. Theirs was the star bout on a program which packed a Y. M. C. A. but the 33rd Infantry, Eighty-fifth Division, originally was composed of men from Michigan and Wisconsin who were trained at Camp Custer, Michigan.

METHODISTS GO OVER THE TOP IN BIG CAMPAIGN

Churchmen of City Respond Liberally to Centenary Demands. Methodists of Harrisburg and Carlisle went over the top in the centenary campaign. Last night the great victory was celebrated in Grace Church. The quota asked for this district was $5,358. The amount of subscriptions turned in was $6,702. This total will be greatly increased as Grace Church canvassers were unable to make a complete report, and other churches will add to their subscriptions. Grace Church will get the necessary $1,568 to cover its quota, and River Avenue Church will have a goodly sum, it is said. The conference is still behind but it is the belief that the deficiency will be overcome. Bishop Anderson of Cincinnati was the principal speaker last night. He was emphatic in his praises for the work of the Methodists in this district. He gave in detail what the results would be in the great reconstruction efforts to follow this campaign with money to back up the work. Work Starts in July. This work will start early in July and Bishop Anderson is one of the two leaders in the Methodist Church of the United States, who has been assigned to the work of reconstruction abroad and to betterment of conditions in America. He will leave for Europe on July 1, taking with him a cargo of livestock, seeds, farming implements and building materials. District Superintendents and district chairman met yesterday at Penn-Harris Hotel, Commissioner Warren Van Dyke, of this city, R. A. Director Board of Baltimore, were present at this conference and discussed plans for the round up. Those in attendance were: District Superintendents E. R. Heckman, of this city, John R. Sousser, of Sunbury, and H. L. Jacobs, of Williamsport, and District Chairmen Warren Van Dyke, of this city, R. A. Zentmyer, of Tyrone, and M. B. Beck, of Woolrich. Efforts are to continue to secure the required amount for the entire district, and increased activity will be in evidence until the amount is reached. A failure will affect the entire Washington area and conference. City Junior League Needs One New Club; Algonquins Beat East End

LEAGUE STANDING. W. L. Pct. Swatara 9 4 .692 East End, Jr. 8 5 .615 Algonquins 7 6 .538 (Undertimed) 1 7 .125 The Algonquins had a hard job downing the East End Juniors last evening, seven innings being played, the final windup being 8 to 7. After the Algonquins had a lead of 6 to 0, the East End Juniors got busy and showed seven runs across the plate, making it 7 to 6. Things began to look bad for the Algonquins but in the last bat a run was scored with two out making it tie, and in the last half of the seventh, Reel smashed out a double and Lutz followed with another double scoring Reel, making the final score 8 to 7. "Daddy" Heagy started to twirl for the losers and was taken out in the second inning after five runs were scored with an out. Books came to the rescue and only two runs and five hits was made off his delivery. This and to-morrow evening's games will be canceled on account of the Albin management being not sure whether they can enter the league on account of some conditions which they will not be able to meet. Any first class team averaging over 18 years of age, and would desire to enter the City Junior League under certain conditions, should get into communication with Manager Matchett, 1543 Swatara street, as soon as possible. Saturday afternoon is to be the next scheduled contest between Swatara and Algonquins. The score: EAST END JUNIORS. AB. R. H. O. A. E. Myles O. Eveler and Timothy J. Euker engaged in a pitching duel on the ball grounds at Fourth and Seneca streets last evening and when the smoke of battle had cleared away after the first half of the seventh inning the last named twirler had snatched the honors of the contest from his rival and romped off with the medal. The game was between the Engineers and Firemen and the West End teams and a thousand or more people stood for an exciting hour and a half and watched the battle royal. The score was 2 to 1. There were heart-breaking periods in the rout. For instance, young Mr. Knight, catcher for the winners, met one of Eveler's fast curves just at the psychological moment and sent it skimming into center field for a two-base hit. But he tarried there, for "Mo" Eveler lightened and struck both Tim and Myles. Myles and Euker made an easy out of Bell, the second sacker, to the sore discomfiture of certain boisterous admirers who had been calling on Eveler vainly to deliver the necessary walt to bring Knight home. The West End had a lead of one run, but what's one run, said the crowd, with the stout-chested clouters waiting to bat the railroaders to victory. Nevertheless, when the Engineers and Firemen came to bat in the beginning of the seventh, young Tim Euker arose in his might and mowed the first three up in true Johnstonsian style, ending his agony. There were all the thrills of the big league games in the contest. Johnny, the peanut man, stood outside the grandstand and shouted his blandest. Rooters with splendid lung power were scattered through the crowd and kept the spectators in good humor. Occasionally, a snarling, softly-spoken, unubbical adjectives and impolite invitations to his himself elsewhere to Umpire Jackson, who appeared fully clad in shiny new shin pads and who didn't, of course, please everybody by his decisions on balls and strikes; but he kept closely to his job and ended the evening's work with a clean record and a smile that wouldn't wear off. Once, when he called a ball that appeared fair to be foul, catcher Oscar Walt furiously barked out objections, but the smiling arbiter waved him aside and the backstop went back to his tasks. Eveler is a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman. He is as big as a house and last evening had speed to burn. In the first half of the first inning it seemed as though he meant to keep every West End runner away from first base, sending his "spitter" across the plate to the mitt of Walt with a thud that gives it in his "Own Story." Esig and Stauffer Star at Bat in Open Hearth Victory Over Gen. Office

Open Hearth jammed General Office further down the cellar last evening when they scored seven runs to Esig and Stauffer. The batteries were Williams and Yost; Wrightstone and Koons, and the feature of the bat was a double play from Esig. Esig's bat in two times up and the same number from Stauffer who was three times at bat. Score: Esig, 1; Stauffer, 1; Williams, 1; Yost, 1; Wrightstone, 1; Koons, 1; total 7 runs. Dauphin-Perry on July 4 to Stage Double-Header

Representatives of the Dauphin-Perry Baseball League, comprising of Marysville, Newport, Duncannon and Millersburg, held a regular meeting last evening at the call of the President E. E. Knauss, to discuss plans for the remainder of the season that had a related opening due to rainy weather. Newport and Marysville agreed to play off their first two contests from May 24 and May 29, on Independence Day. The morning game will be played at Newport, while the afternoon battle will be staged at Marysville. The regular schedule did not call for games July 4. Duncannon and Millersburg will play two week games later in the season, the date to be decided later by Managers Duncannon and Frye. This Saturday, Newport will travel to Duncannon with "Dick" Nebinger as the umpire. Clark Hawley will officiate at Millersburg, with Marysville as the visitor.

Willard All Right Outside, Says Dempsey's Manager, 'But How About Inside?'

Toledo, Ohio, June 5.—Walter Monahan, chief sparring partner for Jess Willard, is nursing a lumpy jaw to Galahad, one of the best welterweights in the French Army. They met in a three-round bout, which ended in a draw. Theirs was the star bout on a program which packed a Y. M. C. A. but the 33rd Infantry, Eighty-fifth Division, originally was composed of men from Michigan and Wisconsin who were trained at Camp Custer, Michigan. Willard plans to increase his road work daily until he reaches the five-mile mark. He is scheduled to take a run of four miles this morning, but then box four rounds and do his other stunts at the Maumee Bay camp this afternoon. Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, who is to face Willard in a 12-round championship contest here July 4 asserts that Willard never could and never can defeat Dempsey outside, but on the inside things may be different. Kearns said, "If he is only 35 years old as he claims, he is 12 years older than Dempsey, which will make considerable difference. I do not believe that with all his size and strength he will be able to stand up long under the punishment Dempsey is bound to hand him from the start. Dempsey hits hard with both hands and every time he lands there is a sting in his punch. Willard's waist line has disappeared because he is on a light diet, which is not conducive to strength. Dempsey is eating drinking everything he wants, and in my opinion has a big edge on the champion in that regard."

RESCUED FROM DROWNING

Henry Mennier, an employe of the Harrisburg Hospital, narrowly escaped drowning while swimming in the Susquehanna river yesterday afternoon. Mennier is not an expert swimmer, but dived into the river when his companions did. Howard Jones, another employe of the Harrisburg Hospital, pulled him to safety and he was taken to the hospital, where he was revived.

All Stars of Harrisburg Lose to Marysville

A team, including several Marysville Dauphin-Perry regulars, and a number of youngsters carried off the roster, last evening defeated the Harrisburg All-Stars, including a number of Tarsus Club men, by a score of 7-5. The game was played on the Seidel Park grounds at Marysville. Kutz, visiting teacher, featured with his clubbing. He secured a total of four hits of Sanders' delivery.
