

CORRESPONDENTS HOLD THEIR 24TH ANNUAL DINNER

Legislative Newspaper Men Discuss Topics of Day Seriously and Frivolously

The biennial dinner of the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents was held at the Penn-Harris Hotel last evening in celebration of the twenty-fourth anniversary of the organization...

The affair was one of the most delightful in the history of the organization. The tables were decorated with huge bunches of roses and peonies and the program included the coat of arms of the State in gold...

John R. Ball, one of the most widely-known newspapermen of the State, representing the Pittsburgh Post and Sun, president of the association...

The Governor gave the correspondence what one of the members pronounced a "real heart-to-heart talk," saying that he believed when the sum of the accomplishments of the present Legislature has been cast the total will equal the best work of any Legislature along progressive and beneficial lines in the past decade...

Attorney General Shaffer delivered a wonderfully eloquent address on the history of politics in Pennsylvania, painting a series of word pictures of remarkable scenes in the old days of the Quaker regime that ought to be transferred to paper for the benefit of a vast number of people throughout the State who would thoroughly enjoy them...

The Speaker's "Dog" One of the humorous features of the evening was an address by Hiram G. Andrews, of the North American, who presented to Speaker Spangler a large toy dog, which he said was the much-discussed "dog" which the Speaker has been hunting in the newspaper...

The Speaker responded in like fashion, saying that the dog had indeed caused him much disturbance and he was happy to have "this figment to console him if he could not have the promise of the Senate to restore the real thing."

Ed J. Hart, of the Scranton Times, responding to a mock reading of one of the Philadelphia bills by W. P. Gallagher, of the Wilkes-Barre Record, gave an excellent take-off of a recent address by a certain member of the House which has caused considerable merriment on the Hill...

George Nox McCain, one of the most noted of the correspondents of other years, happened in town yesterday and was at once included among the guests of honor. Since leaving newspaper work McCain has been a traveler, lecturer and moving picture maker throughout the world...

his writings, lectures and pictures among them he noted a number of faces that took him back to the earlier sessions when great issues were fought out on the floors of the State house...

George J. Brennan, of the Philadelphia Inquirer, responded to the officials and guests in the name of the association, taking all manner of liberties with everybody in his characteristically witty vein and kept his audience in constant laughter.

President, John R. Ball, Pittsburgh Post and Sun; vice-president, Hamilton, Harrisburg Telegraph and the Associated Press; treasurer, John H. Reitzinger, the Associated Press, Philadelphia; sergeant-at-arms, E. J. Hart, Scranton Times; George J. Brennan, Philadelphia Inquirer; Walter J. Christy, Pittsburgh Gazette-Times; L. R. Goshorn, Pittsburgh Dispatch; Joseph N. Mackrell, Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph; Walter Darlington, Philadelphia North American; T. E. Williams, Philadelphia Evening Ledger; James Cooper, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin; John Odell Hauser, Philadelphia Press; Frank W. Short, Philadelphia Public Ledger; W. P. Gallagher, Wilkes-Barre Record; Frank J. Toohay, Scranton Republican; Charles G. Miller, Harrisburg Patriot; Robert F. Gorman, International News Service and Pittsburgh Tri-State News Bureau; William R. Douglas, United Press; J. Harold Keene, Harrisburg Patriot; Gus M. Steinmetz, Harrisburg Telegraph; Thomas D. Caldwell, Harrisburg Telegraph; Colley S. Baker, Philadelphia North American.

The dinner was arranged by the following committee: Joseph N. Mackrell, chairman; A. Boyd Hamilton, secretary; John H. Reitzinger, treasurer; George J. Brennan, Hiram G. Andrews, L. R. Goshorn, Thomas E. Williams, E. J. Hart, Charles G. Miller, Frank W. Short.
