

PUT EXPERTS ON WAR MEMORIALS

War Camp Community Service and Committee on Buildings Merged

New York, June 9.—The National Committee on Memorial Buildings, retaining its original personnel, and continues the full scope of its activities, but will hereafter be known as the Advisory Committee on Memorial Buildings. It will function under the close guidance of War Camp Community Service, and has at its immediate disposal that organization's large staff and many bureaus.

This committee, which was organized to advocate the raising of suitable and useful memorial buildings, retains its original personnel, and continues the full scope of its activities, but will hereafter be known as the Advisory Committee on Memorial Buildings. It will function under the close guidance of War Camp Community Service, and has at its immediate disposal that organization's large staff and many bureaus.

Seeing How Well a Friend Looked Gave Her Courage That Won Back Her Health

"I noticed how well a lady friend of mine looked who had been complaining of her poor health and weakness for a long time. Then I saw her splendid endorsement of NatoneX that was printed. That gave me the courage to take this wonderful medicine that I now cheerfully give my endorsement to."

"That is how Miss Catherine Kittrick, of 576 South Main street, Wilkes-Barre, came to win back her health and strength. Like her woman friend whose splendid appearance showed what NatoneX had done for her, Miss Kittrick decided that, for the benefit of others, she would give her endorsement of this Nature medicine. How severe her case was, is shown by her statement.

"When I commenced NatoneX I was all run down," Miss Kittrick had a poor appetite and what little I ate made me miserable. I was subject to nervous headaches and I was in a highly nervous condition all the time.

"My rest was broken and I would get only snatches of sleep all through the night. I was also troubled with my liver and bowels not performing their duties. I lost color and weight. I had no ambition and the least effort would tire me out.

"I had tried so many things in the hope of relief without success that I had about given up when I saw my friend and then learned that NatoneX had brought her relief. That gave me the courage to who fought in humanity's cause. The need for it was indicated in the apparent danger that the country was about to become the permanent sufferer from the erection of hastily planned monuments and shafts of a stereotyped nature. Thoughtful men saw a threatened waste of large sums on memorials that could serve no good purpose, and the committee was formed to turn into useful channels the enthusiasm for honoring our fighters.

Bill Provides For Merging of 10 Suburbs Into Greater Berlin

Berlin, June 9.—The first move for retrieving Berlin its reputation of one of the chief cities of the world is a bill presented to the German National Assembly providing for merging ten suburbs into greater Berlin. These include the municipalities of Charlottenburg, Wilmersdorf, Schoeneberg, Grunewald, and Tempelhof limits would be extended nearly half and probably even Spandau. New ten miles and the greater city would include seventy-one municipalities and communities. It would be governed by a senate of 14 and a lower house of 144.

LEGISLATURE NEWS

CHARTER BILL HOLDS THE STAGE

Reports That Amendments May Be Agreed Upon Are Heard on Hill Today

All plans regarding the Philadelphia charter bill, which is the special order for 10.30 o'clock to-night in the House of Representatives, depend upon what arrangements will be made late to-day when United States Senator Boies Penrose and the delegation of charter revisionists from Philadelphia. That there will be a fight is generally expected, although it is possible that an agreement may be reached between the Governor and the revisers as to the points of difference which were raised by the Governor on Thursday. The chief of these is the size of the council.

All sorts of reports regarding the amendments have been heard here, among them that the revisionists will accept the Governor's suggestion and others that they will reach no determination until they consult with Attorney General William I. Schaffer to-night. The Governor will not be here until Tuesday, as he is to speak at the Swarthmore commencement where Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer is also a speaker. They were classmates at Swarthmore.

The Daix-Brady bills affecting registration commissioners are also scheduled for to-night, having precedence in time over the charter bill. From all accounts there will be no disagreement over the compensation bill and the amendments will be made in the Senate. The rates are not to be changed.

The liquor people are awaiting an opportunity to bring up the Ramsey bill providing what shall be classed as intoxicating liquor and hope to sandwich it in somewhere if opportunity arises. The Vickerman and Fox prohibition enforcement bills are scheduled for Tuesday.

Letters From "Cranks" Purport to Furnish Clues to Bomb Rascals

New York, June 9.—Letters from "cranks" purporting to furnish clues to the identity of radicals who last Monday night placed bombs at residences of public officials are not being ignored by the authorities seeking to run down the anarchists, it is learned.

Offices of the Department of Justice in this city are being flooded with anonymous letters giving false addresses. These missives, however, are not being cast aside, it was said, for the reason that the identity of the summer involved in the Rosenthal murder was established from such a source.

William J. Flynn, in charge of the nation-wide search, will remain here until Tuesday to confer with police officials.

Big Week Ahead

The Associated Press says in its forecast of the week: "More legislation is scheduled to be acted upon in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania this week than in any similar period in any year. June 26 has been fixed as the date for final adjournment and the final rush has commenced. Appropriation bills are on the calendars of both Houses and more are to be reported out during the week. Owing to the fact that the Philadelphia bills, the prohibition measures and various revenue raising propositions together with some administrative bills are in the House of Representatives, that branch of the Legislature will furnish the big news of the week. The Philadelphia charter bill is a special order for third reading in the House Monday night, but reports are that an effort will be made to send it back to second reading for amendment. A continuation of the parliamentary warfare over it is expected. Immediately before this bill the special order calendar are the so-called Daix-Brady bills affecting registration laws for Philadelphia, which are on the second reading stage and which are scheduled for third reading Tuesday morning. The two prohibition enforcement bills are also special orders for Tuesday morning and it is said that an attempt to get before the House the bill regulating alcoholic content of liquors will also be made during the week. The bill regarding the Governor are also on the calendar.

"Forty-four bills are on the postponed calendar in the House, thirty-four of them being on the final passage, among them being the Department of Conservation, Auditor General's physical education, second class city non-resident repealer and fishermen's license bills. Many of them will undoubtedly be brought up during the week.

"The second leading calendar contains 35 bills, many of them important, while 238 appropriation bills are also on second reading. Many more appropriations bills will be reported out during the week in the House, including educational and public works bills.

"There are 38 bills on the Senate third reading calendar including the fire marshal, bakery regulation and memorial hall bills. There are on second reading a large number of appropriation bills.

"During the week there will be conferences held by the Governor with legislative leaders in regard to the revenue and appropriation situation and figures relative to the teachers' salary increase and various other matters will be reached. The Governor will also have some conferences regarding the Philadelphia bills.

"One of the most important matters of the week will be the determination in regard to the character of the compensation code amendment bill. The anti-education and volunteer police bills are also to come up during the week.

"About a score of bills are to be acted upon by the Governor this week."

CONFERENCE ON CHURCH WORK

Delegates Arrive in Cleveland For the Opening Session Tomorrow

Cleveland, June 9.—Delegates from all sections of the country, practical experts in every phase of city church work, began to arrive here to-day for the national conference on "The Church in the City" which will open in the Hotel Cleveland to-morrow morning under the auspices of the Interchurch World Movement of North America.

Everything points to one of the most significant meetings in history of the protestant churches in America, one absolutely unique in that it is the first national gathering of city church work specialists ever held in this country. Besides the scheduled interchange of ideas, there will be reports on actual experiments in the approach of the city church to so-called radical groups.

Inasmuch as Cleveland is still hotbed of interest in this problem as a result of the sequels to the May Day riots, special importance attaches to the part which will be taken by the Cleveland Federation of Churches. This organization, among other things, will have specific guidance of the theme: "The Church in Relation to the Social and Civic Agencies of the City."

The "Passing Saloon and the Opportunity for the Christian Church" is a topic scheduled to come before the entire assemblage to-morrow afternoon. Following the discussions on "the passing saloon," a community program and the church's civic and social influences on Tuesday afternoon and evening, the conference on Wednesday will devote itself to considering different types of church fields. This will be done through a series of sectional meetings concentrating on the downtown church on the thoroughfare, the organization and management of the city mission and church extension societies, the church in the residential and suburban communities, and the church in the foreign speaking community.

The reports on actual experiments will be heard Wednesday evening, and the closing day, Thursday, will be given over to the problem of finding and training the thousands of new workers to be needed for city leadership under the expanded scope of church endeavor.

EXTEND SOCIAL WORK IN ITALY

Settlement House at Sezze Established Under United States Direction

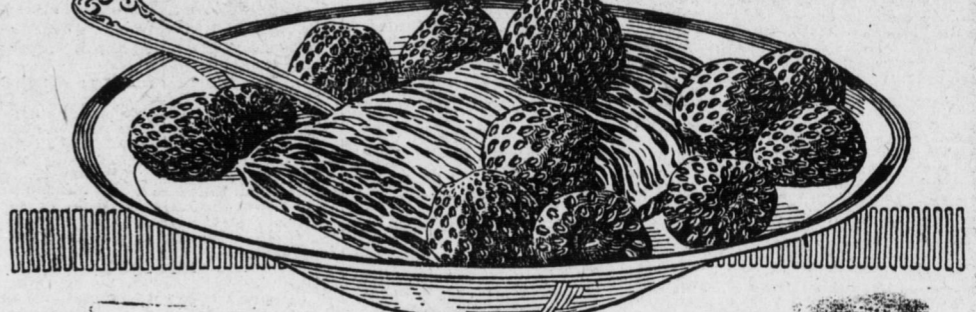

Rome, June 9.—The "Hull House of Italy," emulating Chicago's famous example of social work, has been established at Sezze, a thickly populated mountain town of Rome. There are 14,000 inhabitants there. Under American direction Sezze has established a settlement house, two orphan asylums for orphans of the war, a hospital and a system of visiting nurses. The money has been contributed by the inhabitants of the town. All the institutions are being supported by voluntary contributions.

New Benevolent Plan Is Urged

Lancaster, Pa., June 9.—A new system of laying apportionments and for transmission of benevolent funds is proposed to synods of the United Lutheran church, according to the report of the secretary of benevolence, read at this morning's session of the convention of the Lutheran Ministerium. A speeding up of the work before the ministerium was in evidence during this morning and despite a large volume of business the 172d annual convention came to a close shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The total apportionment asked of the ministerium of Pennsylvania by the Executive Board of the United Lutheran church for the use of the United Lutheran church is $234,117.
