

MAORI TROOPS WELCOMED HOME

Battalion of Aborigines Is Greeted With Feast and War Dances

By Associated Press.
Auckland, New Zealand, June 12.—The battalion of Maoris, New Zealand's aborigines, who fought in the Gallipoli campaign and afterward in France, has been welcomed home with a great feast, haka (war dances) and tangi, or lament for those who fell in battle.
The Acting Prime Minister, Sir James Allen, told them: "You Maoris hold a proud position. You have not one conscript." From the time of its formation early in the war the Maori battalion was maintained at a strength of 1,200 entirely by voluntary enlistment.
Great quantities of mutton, beef, and other food had been baked in earthen ovens for the occasion. About 2,000 Maoris in all shared in this feast. There were several poi (a native delicacy) dances.

The tangi was a scene of much emotion. The soldiers sat by tribes, encircled by sorrowing natives. Led by their chiefs, the mourners grieved with low, wailing chants for those of their race who will never return. All the treasured heirlooms of the tribes had been brought from their safekeeping for the welcome. There were jade ornaments, mats, chief's hats, headresses and beautiful kilts. The chiefs of the various tribes delivered speeches of welcome couched in florid South Sea language, after which there was a haka by the famous Arawa tribe and the speech of welcome by Sir James Allen.

Nature's Tonic Of Herbs

STEVENS MEDICINE CO., Inc., 548 Vanderbilt Av., Brooklyn, New York

"I ONLY ATE TO KEEP ALIVE," SAID MRS. BYERS, OF HERR ST.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and nervousness for several years and since having the 'flu' last fall my condition has been much worse than usual because I have not had strength enough to throw off the after-effects of the dreadful epidemic," said Mrs. Mallada Byers, of 2727 Herr street, Harrisburg.
"After eating I would become bloated and gas would press around my heart and cause terrible pains, even in my chest and arms. There were many things that I did not dare eat at all, and nothing that I ate I was unable to sleep, and most of the time it felt as though I had a weight right in the pit of my stomach."
"I read about this new Nature medicine, Natonex, and what people here are saying about it and how it has relieved them, and I sent my daughter to get a box so that I might see if it would build me up as so many people say.
"It was wonderful what a short time it took before I could see that Natonex was helping me. I told my daughter that after taking Natonex just the first day that I was relieved from gas after eating.
"And gradually Natonex has worked right through my system and reached all the organs. I can eat anything and sleep—why, just this afternoon I lay down on the couch and slept so restfully for two hours, a thing I have not been able to do for two years. I always sleep all right now."
"I think Natonex is wonderful, because I can truthfully say that I haven't an ache or a pain, and I think that is something wonderful after all the suffering I have gone through. I am now on my second box of Natonex, and I have recommended it to my two sons, who are now taking it."
You can learn how the 12 famous Nature remedies in Natonex are designed to cleanse, purify and build the whole system just by calling on the Natonex representative at the Gorgas drug store, 16 North Third street. You can even test Natonex absolutely free there.
Natonex is sold by leading druggists in every town. If your druggist can't supply you, don't wait; address Gorgas Drug Co., Harrisburg.

RULINGS MADE IN RETIREMENTS

Deputy Attorney General Collins Decides About Superannuation

In an opinion passed upon a number of points raised in connection with the administration of the teachers' retirement system, it is held by Deputy Attorney General Emerson Collins that it is not lawful to require a teacher or school employe for superannuation with a retirement allowance who has had less than ten years of service.
This establishes the principle in the retirement system that retirement for superannuation requires ten years service. The disability retirement provision says that the person must have had "ten or more school years of school service," but there is no such express provision in regard to retirement for superannuation. He says: "There must be a service of that duration to permit an allowance in case of retirement for superannuation for the reason that it is essential in computing what the retirement allowance shall consist of."

Destroy the Nests—Officers of the State Game Commission have asked that the Boy Scouts and others who go into the woods should help in the movement to get rid of crows by reporting discovery of nests. The crows to game wardens so that they may be destroyed. Crows have done an immense amount of damage to crops and on farms in Pennsylvania recently and as this is the season of the year when the crows are hatching, the State officers say that the number can be thinned out. Already within short distances of Harrisburg Scouts have located crows' nests, which have been wrecked and the eggs destroyed.

Wilson Promises Aid on Irish Question

Paris, June 12.—President Wilson told representatives of Irish societies in America that he would do what he could unofficially to bring the Irish question to the attention of the other peace commissioners.
Announcement to this effect was made by Frank P. Walsh and Edward P. Dunne, the representatives of the Irish Americans, after they had had a thirty-minute conference with the President. The promise made by the President was in reply to a question from Messrs. Walsh and Dunne as to what the President intended doing in view of the resolution adopted by the Senate urging that the American delegation take steps to have representatives of Ireland heard by the Peace Conference.
Messrs. Walsh and Dunne said that they went over the situation in Ireland generally in their talk with the President.

BEAUTIFUL FRENCH SOUVENIRS
Greencastle, Pa., June 12.—Many and varied have been the souvenirs brought or sent home by the soldiers who have been at the front, but Mrs. Ralph Ziegler and Mrs. William R. Davison have received rather an unusual one from their nephew, Duffield Varden. Corporal Varden sent to them a section of one of the leaded glass windows of the destroyed cathedral at Rheims. The glass is of such exquisite coloring and perfection that it can be readily made into pins or other jewelry.

British, Worried by American Prices, Urge Import Restrictions

New York, June 12.—The news of the cut of $4.25 in American prices for pig iron and of $13 on finished steel has caused anxiety to steel manufacturers in England. At the revised prices, four-inch billets brought $38.50 per gross ton in America, while the British figure was around $55, practically half as much again.

According to reports received by the National Foreign Trade Council,

British steel manufacturers see their overseas trade threatened and even their domestic markets prejudiced by this discrepancy in prices. They have reason to be disturbed, because probably only the heavy freights are averting an immediate flow of American raw steel into British works, and a further cut in freight rates might bring American steel, freight and all, into the British market at less than the British price.

To protect the home markets, leading British steel manufacturers are advocating further prohibition of foreign imports of steel. This is deemed necessary to place British industry once more on its feet. Even with such artificial encouragement, it is doubtful if England will be able to resume the position formerly held in the export trade. With freight to be paid in addition to her already higher prices, England cannot hope to put steel on the Canadian market at a price which will compete with the American. The same is true of other foreign markets.
