

NEW YORK WIRE OPERATORS ARE TO JOIN STRIKE

Leader Gets Assurance 3,500 Keymen Will Leave Their Posts

Chicago, June 12.—In the face of statements by officials of the telegraph companies that the nationwide strike of operators had failed, S. J. Koenekamp, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, announced today that assurance had been given that the New York broker operators, some 3,500 strong, would join the strike.

Officials of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph said the strike was practically at an end. S. J. Koenekamp, president of the union, declared between 18,000 and 20,000 operators had quit work yesterday.

St. Louis, June 12.—An order directing members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers to discontinue handling business of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies after 6 a. m. Saturday was issued today. The order affects 80,000 railroad operators and 30,000 railroad telegraph operators, according to union officials.

Atlantic City, June 12.—Moral support of the strike called for June 14 by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, which includes the bulk of union telephone operators throughout the country, was voted today by the American Federation of Labor, which unanimously adopted a resolution containing such a provision.

TAMPA WOMEN FORM LEAGUE TO CLEAN UP VICE

Will Furnish Confidential Report on "Double Life" of Any Man

Tampa, Fla., June 12.—Five hundred Tampa women have formed the Woman's Protective League and say they propose to clean up organized vice by direct action—that they propose to undermine its support. By the establishment of a sort of moral credit bureau this organization proposes to furnish any woman a confidential report of the "double life" of her husband if she wants one. The inquirer does not even need to give her own name in making the inquiry; she may designate a post office box address or any place where an agent of the league may deposit the report on its investigation. Organizers of the bureau say that seventy of their number have pledged to do the investigating work in the open while the remainder will work in secret.

A gold medal for scholarship, presented by Mrs. Robert McCreath and Miss Susanna Fleming, in memory of their mother, Mrs. George R. Fleming, was won by Miss Marian Bassler, while a silver scholarship medal was given to Miss Edna Egkert. The application prize, a gold pin, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bailey, was awarded to Miss Elizabeth Harris, and Miss Katherine Rutherford received the English prize, a gold piece, presented by Miss Martha Fleming, a former teacher of English at the school.

For fifty years, Jacob F. Seiler, father of Miss Martha O. Seiler and Miss Sue Seiler, was headmaster of the Harrisburg Academy and for sixty years the name of Seiler has been identified with the private school life of the community. During the past season, the Misses Seiler have supervised and instructed many children of the third generation to have received their education under some member of the family. Now, after twenty-one years of service, they have given up the leadership of the Seiler school and when the institution opens in the autumn it will be under the principalship of Miss Sara Jacobs and Miss Katharine Andrews, well-known as teachers of more than usual ability.

ALLIES AGREE ON REPARATIONS IN THE PEACE PACT

Reply Will Be Ready Friday; German to Get Five Days For Final Action

By Associated Press.

Paris, June 12.—Distinct progress was reported today on the reply of the Allied and associated governments to the German counter proposals, and indications are that the reply will be ready for delivery on Friday.

The Germans will be given five days limit for final action, which would therefore come on or before June 18.

The main feature of this progress was an agreement regarding the reparation terms, which have been the subject of a sharp controversy during the past ten days.

The proposal to continue the Supreme Economic Council, or to regulate the distribution of raw materials and provide a centralized organization for the control of international economic and trade affairs during the post-bellum transitional period is now before the Council itself.

The British representatives, who raised the question with a view to the formulation of a recommendation to the Allied and associated governments, contended that some continuation of governmental control during the difficult period of transition was necessary and that the present organization offered suitable facilities.

KIWANIS HEARS IT'S KEE-WANIS

Businessmen Get a Few Pointers at the Weekly Luncheon

The grill room of the Penn-Harris was jammed to the gunwales at noon today with the dynamic Kiwanis Club luncheoners, presided over by the president, Baron Neffe, and with the chief speaker Benjamin M. Nead, president of the Harrisburg Historical Society. Mr. Nead threw a distinct jolt into the lively "Kee-wanis" folk, for that is the correct way to pronounce the nifty Redskin word, when he deplored that Harrisburg and community were greatly to be blamed for not marking points of history, and he urged all the Kiwanis members to join the Historical Society and pay some attention to history in the midst of their routine business claims. Mr. Nead expressed the opinion that neither the jail or courthouse should be dedicated to make way for modern buildings, saying it was an insult to the memory of John Harris.

When he related how in his boyhood the boys fished and swam in Market Square, Al. K. Thomas whispered that he had a bath there himself not long ago, but did not say how he got it. Mr. Nead eulogized the Kiwanis for its enterprise and efforts to help humanity, comparing the organization most favorably with the Egyptians who built pyramids for worthless monarchs. He urged the Kiwanis to study history, which disciplines the understanding and makes an intelligent man capable of reasoning from cause to effect.

In Secretary Breckenridge's report was read a letter of thanks from H. I. Romig, father of Reide Romig, the Telegraph reporter who died so suddenly and who was accustomed to cover the Kiwanis luncheons for his newspaper. Kiwanis sent some lovely flowers to the bereaved parents and helped in making funeral arrangements.

Al. K. Thomas had a violent complaint to make, charging that some member of the club put an advertisement in a local paper asking any one to send him a "good watchdog." Thomas threatened to bring a watchdog for every member next week if the guilty perpetrator of the ad is not exposed.

Charles Beckley, of the business college, a six-cylinder flyer, was chosen to replace Bill Alexander on the publicity and membership committee and he promises to "put Kiwanis on the map." Rabbi Haas followed and emphasized the program, "Do things and not talk about 'em," was his slogan. He suggested an afternoon outdoors with the sick soldiers of Carlisle hospital as guests.

As nobody volunteered for host next time, the president appointed Harry Lowengard. To-day the trophy for the occasion, a paper knife, was given by the Bogar Lumber Company. Al. Thomas got the attendance prize two boxes of candy. They did not go far. President Neffe called attention that every member should have a Kiwanis placard in his office and nearly every one bought the affair, at 65 cents each.

Among the big list of guests were: Charles S. Grubb, county commissioner's office; M. G. Hoke, just returned from thirteen months' overseas service in the 321st Field Artillery; Lieut. E. H. Smith, R. M. A.; Charles E. Kurzenkobe, also from overseas, the son of the well-known and venerable musician; Corp. F. O. Ivter, 108th Field Artillery, 28th Regiment; W. M. Renshaw, Greeley Publishing House, New York; N. W. Renshaw, Corporal Samuel J. Ferguson, Lieut. George Haak, and a number of others.

The Elks have invited Kiwanis and Rotary to their great jubilee on Saturday night in celebration of Flag Day.

ARREST OF HOUSE MEMBERS IS DIRECTED

showed only sixty-seven members present.

"Less than a quorum is present. The clerk will certify the names of the members who are absent to the sergeant at arms, and the sergeant at arms will bring the absent members before the bar of the House," announced the speaker.

Mr. Showalter then moved to adjourn until 10 a. m. Friday, quoting the Constitution, which allows adjournment from day to day. This motion was debated by Messrs. Flynn, Elk; Wallace and others.

Must Remain Here

The motion carried, and the speaker announced that members present must remain in Harrisburg and appear Friday morning. The clerk immediately certified the list to Sergeant at Arms Daniel E. Humen, who started out to bring in absentees with his assistants.

ereal members straggled in and were who had been locked in.

on the calendar. Messrs. Bower, Perry; Beckley; Cumberland; Shellenberger, Junata; Magill, Franklin; Comer, Fulton; Grist, Adams; Woodruff, Snyder; Cook, York; and Corbin, Millin, were present. The absentee list contained the names of Bowman, Cum-
