

PLAN TOWNS FOR SICK SOLDIERS TO RECUPERATE

Victims of Tuberculosis Due to War, to Be Given Chance

Atlantic City, June 16.—Special reconstruction towns may be established by the government in the near future, where soldiers suffering from tuberculosis can regain their health and at the same time work at light trades to fit themselves for a full return to industrial life, said Colonel Estes Nichols, commandant of the United States Army General Hospital No. 16 at New Haven, Conn., in an address at the annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis Association to-day.

"This is being considered," he says, "as a part of Uncle Sam's plan for vocational re-education which, since the armistice, has for its purpose the fitting of men disabled by the war for new occupations in civil life."

The idea of special communities for these men and their families has been advanced by Captain F. A. Waugh of the United States Sanitary Corps, and would be for the purpose of bridging over the gap between sanatorium treatment and full return to industry.

Locate in Forests
"These towns," said Colonel Nichols, "might be located upon lands in the national forests. This would permit of the setting up of attractive and healthful wood-working industries for the patients and afford an opportunity for them to retain permanent control of land holdings after they were cured."

"No matter where these towns might be located proper medical supervision would be necessary," he said, "but, whereas, medical treatment has first place in sanatoriums, productive industry would take precedence in the proposed reconstruction towns. These communities would require financial assistance at first, but might eventually become self-supporting."

Surgeon B. J. Lloyd, of the United States public health service said the building of the Panama Canal was but a day's work in comparison to the task of eradicating tuberculosis.

Philadelphia Bills in the Final Stages

"I hope to see the Legislature clean up all the Philadelphia bills, charter and reorganization bills, tonight and to-morrow. I can see no reason for any further delay and think that the two houses will act promptly," said Senator Gotes Pennington to-day soon after his arrival here. The Senator was in conference with a number of legislators and urged that the work of the session be expedited.

Conferences will be held to-day between Governor Sproul and legislative leaders in regard to the "woman suffrage" amendment, ratification resolution and it would surprise no one at the Capitol if the resolution reached the Senate for action this week.

It is also likely that an agreement will be reached this week on amendments to the workmen's compensation bill.

Chairman W. J. McCaig to-day held final conferences with heads of departments on the general appropriation bill. Officers of the Public Service Commission discussed the pension resolution and the plan is to report on the bill to-night if it can be completed.

Railroad Notes

Reading employees are now receiving their semi-monthly pay in checks and vouchers. The pay is distributed personally to the men, who no longer wait on the paycar.

On Sunday June 22, the Reading will run a one-day excursion to New York.

The order to cut Reading shopmen on short time has been recalled. They will work 45 hours each week.

Morgan Hartman, a familiar figure to railroad men who has been stationed at Alburtis nearly 48 years as station agent, has been placed on the pension list by the Reading. The Hartman family has had charge of that station since it was established.

Members of Local No. 315, Federation of Railway Employees of Lebanon, will hold their annual outing at Coney Island, New York, June 15.

Eleven crews are now working on the Lebanon Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The date of the next meeting of the Friendship and Co-operative Club is Thursday, June 25. Indications are that it will be some meeting.

GERMANY PLEADS FOR "PEACE OF JUSTICE"

In Reply to Peace Treaty, Submitted at Versailles, She Asks For Return to Original Terms That Allies Proposed at Time Armistice Was Signed

By Associated Press.

Paris, June 16.—The German reply to the Peace Treaty submitted at Versailles on May 7, maintains that the enemies of Germany have forsaken the peace of justice to which they had pledged themselves in the armistice negotiations, for a peace of might.

The reply, an official summary of which was made public here by the German government, demands that the Allies should return to the original armistice terms, and states that Germany expects justice on a basis of equality and reciprocity.

The document covers one hundred and nineteen pages and includes a covering letter by Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau under date of May 29, which has already been published, and a second section of comments following the main outline of the original draft treaty. Two separate papers on legal and financial questions are included as part of the German reply. Both English and French translations have been furnished in pamphlet form, the former totalling about 60,000 words.

The reply begins with a detailed analysis of the legal basis of peace, alleges a flagrant series of contradictions to this basis and points out that the results would be the complete enslavement of the German people and the betrayal of all the world's cherished hopes of peace.

In the counter-proposals Germany demands immediate admission to the League of Nations as part of the armistice agreement and as necessary for the acceptance of the proposed military, naval and air terms. She then analyzes the territorial changes demanded, claiming that the right of self-determination has been willfully violated throughout.

Germany bitterly assails the abolition of all German rights outside the frontiers of the armistice, and as preliminary negotiations and as wholly impossible to a great people, who not only have supreme needs for markets and supplies, but who have shown a bitter protest against bringing the world's task of colonization.

Germany is wholly unable to accept the reparations commission set up by the Allies as involving an act of fringement of her sovereignty, but 13,000 feet and the fliers never sighted a single ship.

"I did not know once during the night whether I was upside down or not," said Lieut. Brown. "Once we ascended hurriedly when we saw the green Atlantic only 30 feet below."

Would Have Turned Back
The breaking away of the propeller generating current for the wireless apparatus soon after the start prevented communication with the shore. When Lieut. Brown noticed that the propeller had carried away with it one of the stay wires, but he did not tell Captain Alcock until after they had landed. When Alcock learned of the incident, he said: "I would have turned back, had I known."

Weather conditions were very bad during the trip and Lieut. Brown had to climb from his seat to clear the ice away from the petrol gauge.

"Enough Flying for a Bit"
After breakfast to-day, Lieut. Brown went to bed, while Captain Alcock inspected the machine. The lieutenant, however, was unable to sleep and soon got up. By noon both were looking perfectly well. Captain Alcock wanted to fly to England in a borrowed plane, but his companion observed:

"I have had enough flying for a bit. Captain Alcock exhibited a bunch of rain-soaked letters which he had been asked to mail if the flight was successful, saying: 'I am the first trans-Atlantic postman.'"

Once in Real Danger
The aviators said they were only once in real danger, when the machine went into a flat spin, owing to the pilot being unable to know how the machine was moving. Lieut. Brown noticing that the compass needle was swinging from side to side was the first indication that something was wrong. He managed to get Captain Alcock to understand the difficulty. The machine travelled at a rate of 140 miles an hour at times and the pilot found himself diving straight toward the surface of the ocean. He was so near the water that he had to "snatch" the machine from its dive so quickly that it almost looped the loop. He says he had it touched the water at the speed it was then travelling.

YANKEES CLEAR TOWN OF MEXICAN REBELS

trymen, sent across the border just before midnight to stop the firing into El Paso by Mexican rebels, are in flight southeast of Juarez, headed toward Guadalupe, opposite Fabens, Texas, 32 miles from here. United States cavalry are in close pursuit.

Information as to the location of rebel troops was brought here by a Carranza captain, who had just been in contact with the Villa forces. The Villa forces, the twenty-fourth infantry (colored), who were in contact with the rebels early to-day, captured Gonzales.

Major General Francisco Gonzales returned to Juarez to-day and resumed command of the Federal troops which remained after American soldiers entered. Upon the occupation of Juarez by the Americans General Gonzales withdrew toward Samalayuca to prevent any clashes between the American and Mexican government troops because of mistaken identity or purpose.

General Gonzales was assured by Lieutenant Cox, aid-de-camp to General Erwin, that he would be given every consideration. His officers and men who had been temporarily detained at the United States immigration station were released.

Up to Carranza
"This is a matter for my superior officers and for my president to consider," General Gonzales said. "I have adjusted the matter of my own views upon the situation, although I did not and do not yet think the crossing of the American forces was necessary for the defeat of the Villa forces, as the forces defended the town most bravely."

It was announced that the 70 Villa prisoners had been taken to the United States. The officers of Villa's command made prisoners had been executed. It was also stated that the body of Manuel Casas, a Villa officer, had been found in the trenches east of town.

Villa Loses Many Men
The number of Villa rebels killed during the engagement was placed at 200 by the Federals, while 70 were wounded, they said. They said they had no estimate of their own losses.

The American troops, mostly Twenty-fourth infantrymen, guard the American approaches to the international bridge. The Mexican soldiers stand guard at the Mexican end of the bridge.

One American officer in command of the colored infantry company told of his experience during the fighting with the rebels last night. He said one band of rebels held up their hands in token of surrender, then opened fire on the Americans at close range. All the rebels' band were killed.

Erwin Makes Statement
In announcing his action in ordering Americans into Mexico, Brigadier General Erwin, a statement said he had done so to prevent the indiscriminate firing into El Paso by rebel soldiers, endangering the lives of Americans.

As soon as the Villistas have been dispersed and the safety of the citizens of El Paso has been assured, then the troops of my command will be withdrawn to the American side of the border," he said.

Major General DeRosey Cabell, commander of the Southern Department of the army, is expected to arrive here to-day from San Antonio. An American soldier shot and killed a Mexican sniper who fired on him from the top of an adobe house at the intersection of the main street and the river morning. Orders have been given for the American soldiers to shoot all snipers. A woman and another person were on the roof, with the sniper were captured.

Heavy Storms Bring Much Rain and Wind

Rain, thunder, lightning, hail and high winds figured in two heavy storms that passed over Harrisburg last evening and Saturday evening. Considerable damage was reported in and about Harrisburg and throughout the county.

Last night's storm was more severe, and brought darkness in many sections, prevented church services in the suburban districts and held uprolley traffic. Trees were blown down in the parks and along the river road. The total rainfall during the two storms was nearly one and a half inches. The total last evening was .33 of an inch.

Damage Across the River
Along the Marysville line of the Valley Railway Company there were washouts at Enola, West Fairview and near Marysville. Workmen at the Marysville camp hill were without lights for some time. At Oyster's Point a number of Locust trees were blown down.

TWO-HEADED SNAKE

One head is slightly smaller than the other, but each end is alike. At the largest part of the body it is about one and one-quarter inches in diameter. The reptile was captured in the hills nearby. Its species is unknown.

LEADER OF RED GOVERNMENT

BELA KUN

This is the first photograph received in America of Bela Kun, Foreign Minister of the Hungarian Soviet government. Official denial has been made in Paris that he was invited to the Peace Conference. He was told in a dispatch from Premier Clemenceau that he would not be invited if he did not cease fighting the Czech-Slovaks. This was twisted into an invitation to Paris.

Penrose Blames the Wilson Pussfooting

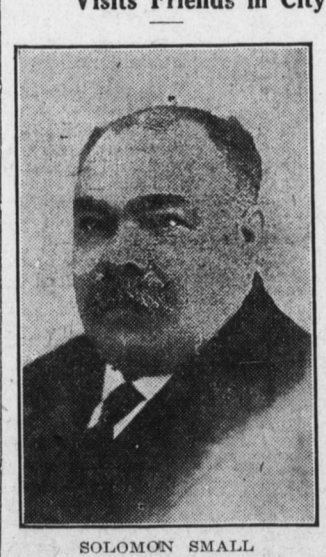

The United States would not have had trouble on the Mexican border if the Wilson administration had been firmer in its dealings with the Mexicans according to United States Senator Penrose. The Senator when told of the action of the Army at El Paso to-day made this comment:

"If we had adopted a firm policy toward Mexico the situation down there would have been cleared up long ago and we would not have had trouble. There is no question about it. Just remember what the Americans did in the days when Scott and Taylor and Grant and other soldiers paraded through the country and took the city of Mexico. That was when Santa Anna was in his prime and Mexico was a militant nation. You can hardly blame people for not having the same spirit in regard to Mexico under the pussfooting policy of Wilson."

EVERY FLY IS POTENTIAL ANCESTOR OF MILLIONS

Civic Club Tells How to Make Approved Trap and Swatters; Now Is Time to Put Up Flypaper

"Every fly is the potential ancestor of millions of other flies," says the Civic Club's fly comm.tee.

"Every fly lessens the present fly population by one and the future population by numbers untold. If Harrisburg is to be flyless, and why not? now is the time to get busy. Have you sticky fly paper scattered about the house? It not get it. The kind that is suspended from the ceiling in strips is most alluring to flies. Have you plenty of swatters? If not, get them. Do you know how to bait a swatter? Here's how: Cut a sugar barrel or nail keg. Knock the ends out. If it happens to be a barrel you use, send over to the hardware store for 2 1/2 yards of wire screening, 30 inches wide. The head of a sugar barrel is about two feet in diameter, so you will first cut a piece of screening 30 inches square, which will cover the top of the trap, and give plenty of room for lap over the edges. Cut the remainder in the form of a semicircle, twist it into a cone, fit the cone into the other end of the trap, as seen in the cut. When you have adjusted the flared end of the cone to the inner side of the rim of the barrel, sew the edges of the cone with strong thread or wire. Next clip off the point so as to leave an opening about 1/2 an inch in diameter at the top. Fasten the cone in the trap, stick three or four legs to the cone end of the barrel and there you are. You have a first class fly trap. The trimming from the screening you can make into swatters.

"Now bait your trap, for it is useless unless properly baited, put upon a plate, placed under the cone, a piece of dead fish, or some sweetened water, or a banana skin, or a bit of jelly. The flies will be lured by the bait and after feeding, will be attracted by the light from above walk up the cone, through the hole at the top and become prisoners. To empty the trap, pour boiling water in from the top, when the flies have been killed, remove the top, dump the trap and start over."

Rain Interferes With Big Gospel Tank Program

Rain interfered with the opening of the Gospel Tank season here last evening. The P. R. R. Y. M. C. Club had planned a big program for the night. Services were scheduled to be held at Sixth and Foster streets. The heavy thunder showers made it impossible. The same program was held last evening. The Gospel Tank last season covered the entire city and this year will appear at the same time. One big feature is the pictures shown on a screen.

William Lewis and Frank Brisbon, of the Gospel Tank season, are in custody of the police, charged with shooting crap at Tenth and Cumberland streets on Saturday evening. Edgar J. Moore and William E. Scourbe, are being held on charges of fighting at Fourth and Market streets; Marie Thomas is said to have been disorderly at Strawberry and Cowden streets on Saturday evening. The big reptile had taken refuge in the cellar, much to the consternation of the family. When they learned of the two women volunteered to be the reptile's executioners. Armed with stout clubs, they descended into the cellar and in a few minutes killed the snake, which put up a battle, they said. It measured 6 feet 6 inches.

DIG UP BURIED LIQUOR

Easton, Pa., June 16.—Revenue Officers Young and Freeman searched the farm of Ignatz Gashel, at Seemsville, and dug up thirteen barrels of Whisky and three of gin. Gashel, an Austrian, with one leg, declared that the spirits had been sent to his farm by R. F. Robert, proprietor of the Park Hotel, Northampton. It had been buried in a hole in the cellar, and was discovered when he purchased it in July, 1917, and intended keeping the whisky until the country went dry.

ARMY OFFICIALS ORDER TRUCK PROBE

been ordered by army officials, according to announcements issued from Carlisle.

The men came to this city from Carlisle for entertainment by the Knights of Columbus. Two of the trucks had already arrived at Cathedral hall in North street, and were awaiting the third, when the crash came. They were 160 yards from the intersection of Vaughn-Villa near Riverside, where a vaudeville entertainment had been planned.

The second and North street intersection, at which the accident occurred, is said to be one of the most dangerous in the city. Residents of the section have recalled a number of other accidents and narrow escapes. Dr. John T. Ensminger, who conducts a drug store at the southeast corner, has been quoted as saying that he plans to circulate a petition asking council to place a traffic officer at the intersection. Other nearby residents declare that there is need for such an appointment.

Rupture Kills 7,000 Annually

Seven thousand persons each year are slain—the burial certificates being marked "Rupture." Why? Because the unfortunate ones neglected themselves or had been taking "snake" pills. The "swelling" of the affliction and pain is not due to the cause. What are you doing? Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, apron, summer suit, or work clothes which make it? At best, the truss is of a makeshift—a false prop against collapsing walls—and cannot be expected to act as more than a mechanical support. The binding of the summer suit, blood circulation thus robbing the weakened muscles of what they need most—nostril.

But science has found a way, a every truss sufferer in the land is urged to make a FREE test right at the privacy of their own homes. The VICKS method is unquestionably the most scientific, logical and successful self-treatment for ruptured hernia.

The VICKS PADS when adhered closely to the body cannot possibly take any place on the market. They are easy to apply— inexpensive, and they will save you work and sleep. No straps, buckles, springs attached.

Learn how to close the hernial opening as nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Send your name to-day to the VICKS PADS, Block 672 St. Louis, Mo., for FREE VICKS PADS, and the information necessary.
