

WHEAT OUTLOOK REPORTED FINE

Damage Done by Rust and Other Pests Will Not Keep Down a Record Crop

Judging from what men connected with the crop report service of the State Department of Agriculture say Pennsylvania will go into the 33,000,000 bushel class in wheat this year. The reports cover the month of May and it is not believed that storms, rust and pests will cause much material difference, except in isolated cases in the Cumberland and Lebanon Valleys.

The June 1 estimates of Secretary of Agriculture Rasmussen are given as follows:

Weather conditions were favorable during the month of May and wheat still continued to improve. The condition is estimated at 105 per cent, compared with normal, and forecasts a yield of 21.5 bushels per acre. On this basis, the total production will reach 33,932,800 bushels, and will be Pennsylvania's record crop. The yield last year was estimated at 26,023,674 bushels. Some damage from rust, smut and fly is reported from scattered sections, but it is believed that the injury will not be serious. The area of wheat abandoned this spring was so small that no deduction is made in the acreage on that account.

Rye is in splendid condition and forecasts 103 per cent, compared with a full crop. This indicates a yield of 19.6 bushels per acre and a total production of 5,379,000 bushels. The production last year was estimated at 4,876,500 bushels.

Due to weather conditions, the sowing of oats covered a long period this year as it was begun in March in the southern counties and was not completed in some of the northern tier counties on June 1. The area of oats is estimated at 1,133,717 acres, which is practically 100 per cent, compared with last year. The condition on June 1 is 95 per cent, compared with normal and indicates a yield of 3.2 bushels per acre and a total production of 3,733,000 bushels. The crop will probably be above or below these figures, according as the change in condition from now until harvest is above or below the average condition. The crop last year was estimated at 4,103,000 bushels.

The estimated area of barley is 14,000 acres, which is the same as last year. The condition is 97 per cent, and indicates a yield of 407, 400 bushels. The 1918 crop was estimated at 396,200 bushels.

The outlook for hay is encouraging and shows an improvement of four points during the month of May. On June 1, appearance indicates a yield of 97 per cent, compared with normal, or 1.5 tons per acre. It appears that there are approximately 327,300 tons of hay in the farmers' hands. This is eight per cent of last year's crop.

Franklin Away Up—According to estimates, Franklin county has an average area of twenty-three acres of wheat for each farm in the county for the 1919 harvest, and ranks first in this respect. Cumberland is second with twenty-two acres to the farm, and Millin third with nineteen acres.

Col. Foster Here—Col. Samuel D. Foster, former chief engineer of the State Highway Department, recently returned from France, was a Hill visitor.

No Awards Yet—Bids made for State roads are being studied at the Highway Department. Awards will be made later.

Big Wool Clip—The number of fleeces of wool clipped in Pennsylvania this spring is estimated at 672,000. This is four per cent larger than last year. The average weight of fleece is 6.4 pounds. The approximate aggregate weight of clip is 4,435,300 pounds.

State Committee—Chairman W. J. McCaig, of the House appropriations committee, said that the committee is reporting out an appropriation of $750,000 for the Philadelphia-Camden bridge, committed the State to the project. The idea is to make $250,000 available for the first year and $500,000 for the second, the remainder being for other Legislatures. The committee thought that the organization of the commission could hardly be ready to handle the main sum for a while.

Outlets—The House appropriations committee reported out the Ramsey bill appropriating $16,000 for aiding young men and women to higher education. They are to be chosen by examination, one from each Senatorial district under supervision of the State Board of Education. The committee also reported out $100,000 for a site for the new State Home for Boys and $5,000 for the Providence General Hospital, Philadelphia.

Welfare Appropriation—Half a million dollars was recommended for the Public Welfare Commission by the House appropriations committee in a report to the House. The bill was amended so that if the Commission is ended at any time the Governor may designate whether the Departments of Health, Labor and Industry or Public Instruction shall expand any funds remaining.

Unveiling Date—The unveiling of the statue of Adjutant General Stewart in the Capitol rotunda will take place June 30. General W. G. Price, Jr., of Chester, will be the orator.

License Bill Held—The Fishermen's license bill was held up in the Senate Fish and Game Committee last night, but backers of the measure are confident that action will be taken this week.

Sessions To-Morrow—The House is scheduled for three sessions to-morrow and it is expected to clear the calendar of all House bills before adjourning. This was the cause of many members of the House staying here all of to-day.

Concert To-Night—The Capitol Orchestra will render its complimentary concert for Speaker Spangler to-night in the hall of the House. The program will begin at 7.15 and last for about an hour.

Back the Bread Bill—The State Bakers have endorsed the standard weight for bread bill. The bill has had a hard time in the Legislature.

Stream Polluted.—Game and fish protectors have reported to the State Commissioners that Buck run, the Conestoga stream that has figured so much in the news from time to time, has been polluted by chemicals from a paper mill. Many fish have been killed. Commissioner Buller ordered an inquiry.

Dr. Montgomery Spoke.—State Librarian Thomas Lynch Montgomery, delivered the address to the graduates at York Collegiate Institute last night.

How to Conduct a Business

There are numerous details in every business in which the public is not interested; but large questions of policy "do" concern the men who use the store. That's our feeling in the matter—We want the men of Harrisburg to know what we are aiming at; to know on what basis we buy; in other words, to know what they can expect of us. That's why our truthful advertisements talk a great deal about service, quality, and our guarantee of satisfaction. We lay no claims to perfection; in fact we don't aspire to it.

Try the Dependable Doutrich Service
That Everybody Is Talking About

We do believe, however, that we can serve you efficiently and satisfactorily, that you'll want to buy merchandise we have at this "Live Store" because it's the best that's to be had anywhere, high in quality and style value, but reasonable in price. Merchandise that will bring you back again not because we ask you but because you want it.

We're not satisfied today with the service we gave you yesterday and we'll only be satisfied with tomorrow's service if it shows an improvement over today's. We ask you to help us grow "bigger" and "better" by telling us any time you are not satisfied so that we can immediately "make good" the Doutrich guarantee of complete and lasting satisfaction.

Serving The Public And Serving It Right

The merchant of today, if true to his principles, true to his business, true to his customers and true to his employes, must place himself in the light of a PUBLIC SERVANT.

He must study the requirements of his trade to the minutest detail, select well his merchandise, having in mind at all times just what his trade demands.

He must study his store system and store service, so as to raise them to the highest standard of perfection.

He must study his employes, their personality, their temperaments and must surround them with every comfort and convenience possible.

He must study well the rush hours of business and provide additional help to properly take care of it, so that those who must be served can shop in the comfortable hours of the warm days to come.
