DR. WILKINS IS PLACED ON TRIAL

Woman Testifies She Found Wife's Battered Hat in Vestibule

By Associated Press.

Mineola, N. Y., June 18.—Testimony apparently at variance with Dr. Walter Keen Wilkins' story of how his wife was murdered last February by burglars was given yesterday at the doctor's trial on a first degree murder charge, by Mrs. Cassius Coleman, a neighbor, who visited the Wilkins home at Long Beach shortly after the tragedy occurred. Mrs. Coleman testified that she observed Mrs. Wilkins' battered hat and a bloodstained hardbag lying in the vestibule of the home. Dr. Wilkins, according to the testimony of police authorities who examined him, claimed that Mrs. Wilkins had not entered the house, but had been attacked by one of the burglars in the yard.

At another point, Dr. Wilkins in Another point, Dr. Wilkins in Carried Wilkins in the yard.

At another point, Dr. Wilkins in Garman: Chopin. 'Ballade On. 23'."

At another point, Dr. Wilkins in-terrupted Mrs. Coleman's testimony by crying "nonsense, nonsense," where Mrs. Coleman insisted the phy-sician had told her that he had been struck on the head with a piece of lead pipe while struggling with two burglars in the house.

portant thing that any high school course can give to a student.

Small wages paid to self-sacrificing teachers was mentioned as a matter that is worthy of early correction. While the State is planning to increase largely its appropriations for school purposes in order to provide a living wage for the instructors of the future, the duty of the municipality/along this line is not ended.

The valedictory oration was delivered by Horace Jay Selig, first honor student, his subject being "Americanization." Miss Evelyn Hartman Keitel, second honor student, delivered the salutatory oration on "America and Music." Miss Rosabelle Quann and Miss Mildred Estelle Donmoyer, third and fourth honor students, presented orations on "The Evolution of Democracy." and "What America Has Gained." One other student, Miss Marion Eugene Manbeck, spoke on "The Student and the Community."

Horace Jay Selig, first honor student, was awarded both the W. S. Steele memorial prize, received by virtue of his winning first honors, and the medal for excellence in science and mathematics. Miss Evelyn Hartman Keitel, second honor student, was awarded the prize presented by the class of 1907, by virtue of her high standing. The presentations were made by D. D. A Busy Fountain For Busy People

The fountain in Gorgas' Penn-Harris drug store is always busy. It is patronized largely by busy people, who want to be waited on without delay. The plan of serving appeals to those who like quick service. There are no seats nor tables, consequently no congestion—no one has to wait. This progressive plan is exclusive in Harrisburg with the Penn-Harris drug store. Of course, the good reputation of Gorgas' soda is another reason why the fountain is always flowing.

The Summer Shop Of Harrisburg

Of course it is impossible to secure a really low temperature during such scorching weather as that of last week. But we have done everything possible to alleviate conditions.

In every booth in my shop sounds the quiet hum of an electric fan. The cool, restful tints of my decorative scheme help too, through the sense of sight.

But my chief claim to the title of "The Summer Shop" lies in my stock. Summer frocks, summer waists, summer hats, summer lingerie, summer wraps; you'll find everything you need. And in styles which can not be found elsewhere this side of Fifth Avenue, in qualities which spell splendid service, at prices which reflect my unprecedented low cost of operation.
