"Commodore" was formerly a mascot on one of Uncle Sam's training ships, and the accompanying picture was taken of the monkey and his former ewner. Tom Brown, a sailor who is now serving his country in foreign waters. Realizing that the monkey could not stand the sudden changes in climate aboard ship, his owner-presented him to the circus early in the spring.

The ape is one of the largest mandrils in America, and is the pet of the menagerie. During the hours when the crowds are not in the big tent. 'Commodore' is permitted his freedom, and he romps around the menagerie with the youngsters who belong with the circus. in Many Instances

Many a woman who ought still to be young in feeling is losing the old-time vim and energy that makes life worth living simply because her blood is thinning out and possibly starving through lack of iron. It is through iron in the red coloring matter of the blood that life-sustaining oxygen enters the body and enables the blood to change food into living tissue, muscle and brain.

In commenting upon the alarming iron deficiency in the blood of the
