WILL WELCOME SCOUTMASTER

Samuel E. Phillips, Returned Soldier, to Be Guest at Joint Meeting

Two will have a joint meeting with Troop Sixteen to-night at 7.30 for the purpose of welcoming Samuel E. Phillips, one of Sixteen's assistant scoutmasters recently returned from France. Mr. Phillips was in the front line trenches when the armistice was signed. The meeting will be purely social. We hope to have Dr. Hazen present in his capacity as District Deputy Commissioner.

Last Friday we received the application of Charles Walters. One star was awarded to Joseph Bristol, who is moving this week to Collinswood, N. J. Charles R. Bink has passed all the two star tests.

In spite of the heavy storm on Flag Day, 17 Cubs were on hand to parade and on Sunday 11 Cubs went to Harris Street Evangelical Church in a down pour of rain.

Next Thursday, a supper hike. Meet at the church at 5.30 with a lunch and six cents carfare. We'll hike about three miles and eat, and then ride home about dark.

New, Positive Treatment to Remove Hair or Fuzz

(Beauty Notes)

Women are fast learning the value of the use of delatone for removing hair or fuzz from face, neck or arms. A paste is made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on the hairy surface. In 2 or 3 minutes it is rubbed off, the skin washed and every bit of hair has disappeared. No failure will result if you are careful to buy genuine delatone.

THE WIGWAM

"BE PREPARED" By G. PARK WEAVER, A. S. M. TROOP 20

"Be Prepared," the motto of the Boy Scouts of America is one which any person or organization may be proud to own. To be prepared for anything at any time and at any place is the object of the entire scouting program.

A scout's first step in this direction is taken when he prepares on his honor to keep himself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

Besides being instructed in how to take care of himself, he must be prepared to give and protect the lives of others. For this reason he is taught to swim properly; to enter burning buildings in a systematic way; to tie knots that will hold, so that people may be let down from burning buildings quickly and with safety; to rescue people from death by breaking through ice and drowning; and to save people from being killed by electrical shock. By having a knowledge of first aid, a scout knows how to treat the victims of such accidents as are mentioned above, and others.

Very few people know how to rescue a drowning person without putting themselves in a very dangerous position; or what precautions to take when entering a burning building; or what to do when once inside the building. Nor can many people tie a knot which will be sure to hold and yet will not bind the person being lowered. A scout knows how to go about getting a person out of a hole in the ice without putting himself in a dangerous position. He also knows how to handle a person in contact with a live wire.

A person is not a hero who swims after a drowning person, who enters a burning building, who goes out on the ice to pull some one out, or who tries to get a person away from a live wire, unless he knows the proper method of getting about each. Better is it by far to keep such an inexperienced, unprepared person away from the one in danger, for a heroic deed, he is putting his own life in great danger and instead of one person being killed the number is increased to two.

Just recently there appeared in the daily papers an account of how a scout, just twelve years old, saved a companion from drowning after he had gone down for the second time. More than this, because he was prepared to treat the boy, by artificial respiration he brought the boy back to consciousness and then made him as comfortable as possible until a doctor arrived. Had this scout not been prepared to take the proper care of the victim after he had gotten to shore, he would surely have died before the doctor could get to the scene of the accident.

Likewise a scout makes use of signaling in different ways to save life and property, by day with his arms or flags, by night with lights. Suppose that a scout has his leg broken when within sight of camp but too far away to make his voice heard. At night, if he has a flare, he can use it to send a signal. But he has with him a flashlight and he can use that. He can also use a flare if he has one. He can also use a flare if he has one. He can also use a flare if he has one.

A scout is at home in the woods. He is prepared to stay out in the open and knows how to take care of himself while there. He can cook without the ordinary cooking utensils, and he can make a fire with a "lean to" or hut to sleep in.

He is prepared to draw a rough sketch map of a given territory to scale, and can judge distance, size, number, height, and weight with practical accuracy. He can track animals and people and by certain symbols, such as placing sticks, grass, or stones in different positions can warn others of danger.

He can travel a long distance in a short time without becoming fatigued and can tell direction by day or night without the aid of a compass. He knows how to fell a tree properly and can make it fall in any direction desired.

A scout is able to do all these and many other things because he is prepared. The main object of all these requirements is to make a boy a useful citizen, one who can think with accuracy, act with quickness and accuracy, and who can be trusted at all times. A prepared efficient citizen—what higher aim could be set for an organization than the training of such? Is such a citizen not an asset to his home and his country?

As you turn these things over in your mind; as you realize the opportunities which are presented the boy of to-day by this wonderfully efficient organization; would it not be to your advantage and the advantage of your community if you were to have for your motto, as do the boy scouts, "Be Prepared."

TROOP TWENTY HAD 43 SCOUTS

Eighteen New Scouts Enrolled During Past Year; Good Financial Report

Since the organization of Troop 20 on June 4, 1917, forty-three different boys have been connected with the troop. Of the original organization, fourteen scouts are still active members.

Since last June, eighteen applications for membership were accepted, but only eleven took the Tenderfoot Tests; three scouts resigned and two scouts were dismissed.

During the year the troop has met for scouting instruction, rallies, religious services, parades and for special duty, sixty-seven times. Six hikes were taken by an average of nine miles per hike.

Twenty promotions were made, and a member of our troop had the honor of being appointed the first official scout bugler in the city.

One hundred and ten visitors have been to see us in the past twelve months. The troop had several up-town meetings at which time up to one hundred and thirteen scouts from other troops were present at one of these meetings.

A successful ten-day camp was run last August with an attendance of twenty-six boys at a cost daily of fifty-eight cents per boy. There were no accidents.

Under the supervision of Assistant Scoutmaster Weaver, members of the troop made and erected sign-posts in Wildwood Park for the use of all the scouts in the city, marking off 100 feet, 100 yards, one-quarter, one-half, three-quarters, and one mile. The 100 foot stretch was intended to be used to find the length of a scout's pace; the 100 yard stretch for races, and the remaining distances for races and for practicing scout pace.

The troop helped in all public demonstrations where scouts were asked to serve, such as the inauguration of the Governor, in which the scouts acted as aides; on the day the armistice was signed, when they took charge of traffic in the Memorial Day parade when scouts assisted the Civil War veterans in many ways; and on last July 4 when they furnished ice-water to the troops and assisted the police in keeping the side streets open. The troop always had a large representation on hand when asked to respond to this kind of service.

The financial report summaries for the year ending June 1, 1919, shows total assets of $97.65, of which $15.84 is cash in bank.

Graveyard Experiences For Troop 17 Members

Well, Scouts, I have to tell you about the initiation that all the members of Troop Seventeen had given to them by the Scoutmaster and his assistant.

First, he had us march at double-quick time until we came to his home. There he got a bottle, a cup and spoon and a big piece of rope. Next he blindfolded us and then had us to get hold of the rope, by which he led us along. Well sir, we thought we were going over ditches, plowed ground and everything else.

Then we were fed some of the best tasting stuff that you could ever think of. We were led on for a little while longer, and then somebody let loose some of the sweetest smelling chemical that you ever heard of.

By this time it was dark so we were led into what seemed a very large field, still blindfolded, and separated from one another. After each one was standing alone and quite a distance from the rest we heard the command to assemble at double quick. Boy, that was some double quick.

One of the scouts while still blindfolded, reached out his hand and felt a nice big cold tombstone. We were next led into an old cave-d-in church, and made stand in there very quiet, while there were some very queer noises going on and from the Yscons saw spooks, ghosts and everything else. Well, taking all in all, we had a very splendid time, but we certainly did feel better after we were out of that graveyard.

Scout scribe, RALPH B. WHISLER.

WORLD'S STORMIEST PLACE

The stormiest place in all the world is said to be Cape Prince of Wales, which is the westernmost point in Alaska. It is marked by a considerable mountain 2,210 feet high, and fierce winds blow there perpetually. Storms from the Arctic Ocean assault this inhospitable region all the year round.

On the south side of the mountain are Eskimo dwellings—"igloos" dug underground and walled and roofed with timbers. No trees grow in that region, but the natives of the North have always a plentiful supply of driftwood, carried from the Yukon river by an ocean current that skirts the coast. The underground igloos (constructed to escape the storm and wind) were built as to form connecting rooms, with communicating doors that the occupants are obliged to crawl on hands and knees. The only ventilation is afforded by the vertebra of a whale (which serves as an air tube), thrust up through the roof.

On the north (or Arctic) side of the cape is one of the most prosperous of native villages, whose inhabitants keep and breed reindeer, and sell the meat at a good price to passing ships—Detroit News.

Dr. John Fager Addresses Members of Troop No. 2

A very interesting meeting was held by the scouts of Troop 2 this week. Dr. John Fager, Deputy Scout Commissioner, was present and urged the boys to become second class scouts. He also told the scouts some interesting facts about his old troop of which he was scoutmaster.

Troop 9 Will Go on Hike to Rockville Tomorrow

The Scouts of Troop Nine, who are going on the overnight hike to Rockville on Saturday, will please be at Capitol Street Presbyterian Church Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. If you happen to be late, meet the rest of the bunch at the same place where we camped last year. The installation and demonstration meeting has been postponed until Friday, June 27, but be sure and come to the meeting to-night.

Lieut. Col. Roosevelt Gets Harvard Degree

Cambridge, Mass., June 20.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, Major General Enoch H. Crowder, Henry P. Davison, chairman of the war council of the American Red Cross, and the late Robert Bacon, former secretary of state and ambassador to France, were awarded the honorary degree of doctor of laws by Harvard University yesterday.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Big Cargo Carrier Is Launched at Hog Island

Philadelphia, June 20.—The 7,825 ton cargo carrier Corson, named for the Liberty loan committee of Corson county, South Dakota, was launched late yesterday at Hog Island. Miss E. M. Chapin, of McIntosh, S. D., was the sponsor. The Corson was the thirty-seventh vessel sent down the ways at Hog Island, making a total of 289,523 deadweight tons of ships launched at the big yard.

Horlick's the Original Malted Milk. Avoid Imitations and Substitutes.

That's the Trouble — Hot Biscuits. THEY go hand-in-hand with indigestion, and the Doctor only a step behind. Why do mothers persist in serving hot breads? A child's digestion is as undeveloped as its body. It should be given nutritious food, that is easily digested. Hot biscuits are not easily digested. —Ask your doctor.

solves the problem. It is easily digested. It is a wholesome, dainty, appetizing food. Builds bone and muscle. It will make a man of that boy, and he will love every crumb of it. The GUNZENHAUSER Bakery

Inter-Patrol Meet of Troop 8 Is Won by Eagles; Get 32 Points

Troop Eight's third inter-patrol meet was successfully pulled off last Monday evening. The Eagle Patrol won the meet with 32 points.

After a short business meeting that evening we adjourned to the basement of the church. We were greeted by W. L. Lyon, deputy scout commissioner of our district. Then we took our seats and the fun commenced. Some of the contests were: First and last, peanut race, crab race, centipede race, three-legged race, bag race, ice cream race and the whistle race. The ice cream race afforded the most fun.

Two Scouts from each patrol were blindfolded, given plates of ice cream and told to feed each other. The first spoonful went into the Scouts' mouth, but the remainder of the meal was poured down their necks and over their clothes. After the races were over refreshments were served, and during this time the troop was addressed by Scout Commissioner German, and Deputy Commissioners Lyons and Scott.

Mr. Jenkins then presented the Eagle patrol with their prize which consisted of an aluminum cup for each of its members.

Troop 28 Enjoys Novel Hike to Bellevue Park

Troop 28 enjoyed a novel and exciting Scout hike last Friday night. It was more in the nature of a trailing game through the woods from Bellevue Park to Penbrook and return. No highways were traveled at all. A line along fences and streams of water was followed the whole distance. Fifteen Scouts made the trip with Scoutmaster Irvin Martin in the lead. Several times during the evening the Scouts separated from one another and followed a trail of broken grass and bent twigs and in other places mere footmarks, but all succeeded in arriving at the goal, having followed their leader the whole distance.

Troop Seven Holds Scout Service in Rainstorm

A scout's reverence was tried to its fullest measure on Sunday when forty scouts of Troop 7 and 16 assembled for a service of a down pour of rain at the Harris Street Evangelical church for a special scout service.

An excellent solo by Mr. Bailey, Assistant Scoutmaster Bailey, entitled "Be a Hero," was the keynote of a good meeting. The address by our energetic scout executive, J. J. Virgin, was thoroughly enjoyed by all. We believe it was seed sown on good ground, so watch for results. Mr. Flexer concluded the services with an expression of the very gratifying results that are now being shown by the Boy Scouts of America.

The following scouts have been named to serve on camp committee: Lloyd Gotwalt, John Bogar, James Hay, William Bodmer, and Rudolph Miller. RUDOLPH MILLER.

"Harrisburg's Dependable Store"

"My son they're good clothes, for I have been dealing with Wm. Strouse for twenty-five years and I have always found his suits dependable".

After all is said and done the one fact shining out above all others is that Wm. Strouse has been in business in this city for twenty-five years--which means that there MUST be DEPENDABILITY--HONOR and SERVICE connected with his merchandising methods.

Because as Abraham Linco'n said "you can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time"---and when a merchant INCREASES his sales yearly, for twenty-five consecutive years---it's pretty good evidence that he's on the level"---and NOT trying to fool ANYBODY.

So the gentleman in the picture speaks to his son advisedly---and whether it's a "Palm Beach" or a light weight cloth suit you desire, one thing is certain ---you will receive one hundred per cent. satisfaction at Wm. Strouse & Co.

Palm Beaches with or without the waist seam and in every popular shade are---

$13.50 --- $15.00 --- $16.50 --- $18.00
Summer Weight Woolen and Worsted Suits are $25 --- $30 --- $35 --- $40
