

TAKE SOLDIERS FOR MOTOR RIDE

Harrisburgers Urged to Invite Men in General Hospital For Country Drives

"If you want to do the finest kind of war work and get a real 'grand and glorious feeling' while you're at it," said the Motor Lady to the Social Editor, "Just take your car and go off to Carlisle to the General Hospital some day, stop at the Red Cross house at the entrance to the grounds and say you want to take some of the invalids for a drive. It won't take long to fill your car and the hour or more in the country will do wonders for the boys who find the days all too long spent in the same place."

"It will widen your own vista, too," said she, "for there's nothing I find like getting the point of view of these wide-awake lads who have been far from home and had experienced the like of which seldom comes even in a life time."

"The distance from this city to Carlisle is but 18 miles, through a beautiful country, and when one reaches there one sees the soldier lads, many of them mere boys, all recovering after gassing or wounds, more or less severe, they feel that the greatest they can do is but a small thing beside what these soldiers have done for their country."

"Some of the boys are on benches, some with their crutches handy, others lying under the trees, reading or playing games, but all invalids. Time does hang heavily when one is recuperating after an illness at home, but here the days drag, for the home-longing is intense after so long an absence and any variation in the routine is welcomed. Some can be out but a short time, so that two or three relays can be taken in part of a day."

"The Carlisle people have been lavish in their hospitality, throwing open their homes and putting their cars at the disposal of these wounded men, but there is a demand for many more. If it were generally known what pleasure one can give in this way surely all motorists would take at least one day a week, if not more to an outing with the boys at the General Hospital, and I would urge this matter."

The Social Editor promised to send the story broadcast and so here it is.

Miles S. Humphreys, of Pittsburg, was a recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cummings, North Fourth street. Dr. John Oenslager has left for Exeter, N. H., to attend the graduation of his son, Donald Oenslager, a student of Phillips-Exeter Academy.

OLD GRADS ENJOY COLLEGE SONGS

Beta Theta Pi Fraternity Banquets in enn-Harris With Dickinson Chapter

Members of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity held a banquet last evening at the Penn-Harris, under the direction of take Dickinson College chapter, with more than fifty members from Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York and Delaware present.

An evening of college songs and college yarns carried many of the old "grads" back to former days and the inspiring record made by the fraternity in the war, told by First Lieutenant John H. Atkinson, lately returned from France, is one of which the organization can be justly proud.

Frank E. Sellers, of Carlisle, was toastmaster, and introduced these speakers: The Rev. Thomas S. Wilcox, Williamsport, a charter member of the Dickinson chapter, Professor George F. Cole of the University of Pennsylvania, who spoke on fraternity ideals as exemplified by Beta Theta Pi and Professor W. Fowler Buck, of the Genesee State Normal School, Genesee, N. Y. Philip S. Moyer, Harrisburg; Frank C. Hartzell, Amherst, Massachusetts; Harry L. Cannon, Wilmington, Delaware; L. B. Menouh, York; Frank B. Roth, Harrisburg; Joseph P. McKeehan, Carlisle; A. Todd Conaway, Wilkes-Barre; Thomas F. Fagan, Chester, and Frank E. Sellers, Jr., of Carlisle, and Private Gilbert Malcolm, of the 79th Division, who laid stress on the part the alumni should play in the upbuilding of the fraternity.

A committee was appointed to attend to the reorganizing of the Harrisburg alumni chapter which lapsed a year ago due to the great number of graduates in the service. The committee comprised Philip S. Moyer, Frank G. Roth, Gilbert Malcolm, A. Boyd Hamilton, W. T. Holdrup, John R. Robinson, J. Douglas M. Roy and Thomas D. Caldwell.

Music was furnished by the Updegrave orchestra and a theatrical troupe gave several stunts for the amusement of the guests. Arrangements for the entire event were in charge of W. G. Kimmel, Carlisle; Clifton C. Hartman, Bloomsburg, and Thomas D. Caldwell, Harrisburg.

RECEPTION IN SOLDIERS' HONOR

Harrisburg and Mechanicsburg People Join in En-able Program

Mechanicsburg, Pa., June 21.—A splendid reception was given thirty-two convalescent soldiers from the United States General Army Hospital No. 41, Harrisburg, yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. H. Thomas, Sr., 116 West Main street. The affair was given under the direction of Robert H. Thomas, Jr., chairman of the public interest committee of the Women's Club, assisted by a number of prominent citizens of the town.

The program was of unusual excellence and included a talk by Rabbi Haas, of Harrisburg; songs by Mrs. Roy Cox, of Harrisburg, who led the entire assemblage in singing of well-known airs; songs by Miss Elizabeth Ross, with Miss Alice Decey at the piano; both young women of Harrisburg. Miss Marian Strouse, of Harrisburg, sang, and later Mrs. Cox, who is a member of the Red Cross motor service, and drove one of the cars with soldiers, again favored the company with music, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Snyder, piano, and George Naugle, violin. The program was also delighted with Messrs. Sullivan and Crandall, professional player and singer.

Following the wedding ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Zimmerman, where roses and ferns made effective decorations for the house and supper table.

After a wedding journey to Easton, where they had their honeymoon, they will make their home for the present with his parents.

Among those who contributed to the happiness of the boys were Mr. and Mrs. Keller, Houser, who are visiting here, the former a resident of Harrisburg, and the latter a distinguished nurse and saluted Mrs. Little Mary Caroline Hurst, Joanne Bashore and Newton Hersher present baskets of delicious home-made candy and later a hot supper was served.

Emory Strook, of West Main street, who is a Civil War Veteran, was present and presented the G. A. R. Post. This was one of a series of events arranged by patriotic women of this place, and means much to the boys who are recuperating at the hospital.
