

SEIZES WHEAT TO SUPPLY GREECE

Canadian Board of Grain Supervisors to Ship Fifteen Million Bushels

Toronto, July 1.—Wheat in all Canadian elevators has been commandeered by the Board of Grain Supervisors in order to provide Greece with 15,000,000 bushels within the next twelve months, it is announced. No shipments can be made at present without permits from the boards.

It was explained this method is to be employed in order that Greece's supply of wheat may be furnished as equitably as possible from the different elevators where it is held. The first part of the order, 3,500,000 bushels, must be filled within two months and a large part of this is now at Montreal awaiting shipment July 15. All Canada's wheat is now in the hands of millers and experts assert there is enough to meet the requirements of Greece as well as the Dominion until the new crop arrives. It is expected here that the restrictions now in force will be lifted within a few days.

PRODS MAN WHO WROTE EDITORIAL

Court Consumes Day in Examining Raymond in Ford Case

By Associated Press.
Mount Clemens, Mich., July 1.—Practically all of yesterday's session of Judge Tucker's court was taken up with the examination of Clifford S. Raymond, who wrote the editorial of June 23, 1916, headed "Ford is an Anarchist," on which the Detroit manufacturer based his $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune.

The witness said that about 1916, the Tribune finally became convinced that only armed intervention in Mexico would bring anarchy to an end south of the Rio Grande.

"And at about this time the Tribune was also arguing that we should keep out of war with Germany?" asked Attorney Alfred Lucking.

"Yes, that we should keep out of war with Germany if that were possible and consistent with national interests and honor."

Mr. Raymond expressed the opinion that war with Mexico would not have caused any considerable reduction in the war supplies which the United States was shipping to the Entente allies and he thought that the building of an army, even of sufficient size and equipment to restore order in Mexico might have impressed the Germans with an idea that they would better not wantonly incite us to join the Allies.

THEY ALL JOINED IN
The attack had been made with dash in the woods, and though it was not yet dawn, the Yanks were getting their breath in their new positions.

From his dugout, which a late lamented Heinie had burrowed, one of them spied something which another and less fortunate member of the bunch had regarded as so precious that he had carried it into the attack. It was a banjo, made of a cigar box.

He crawled forward, got his hands on the trophy and retreated with it to his shelter. It was battered and two of the strings had snapped, but in another moment the whole nervous, fuddled group was humming as he played.

"I wanta go back, I wanta go back I wanta go back to the farm!"—Stars and Stripes.

Lily Leitzel Coming Here With Combined Circuses

Few girls have had as remarkable a life as Lily Leitzel. The little lady's mother, herself a wonderful performer, brought her up in the hope that she would become the greatest of all aerial gymnasts. Lily inherited her mother's genius and proved an apt pupil. But likewise, from her father, she inherited a great love for music. And she cultivated this talent also.

For a time, as Miss Leitzel puts it, "there was a battle between music and music." But music came out victorious and the girl put aside tarantulas and spangles and gave her entire time to the concert platform.

For two years she followed her chosen career with considerable success. But she could not forget the circus. As time went on the "call" became stronger and stronger and finally she succumbed and came back to it.

To-day Miss Leitzel is considered the greatest aerial gymnast that has ever thrilled a circus audience. This season she is under contract with Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey shows combined and will be seen here next Friday, July 4. All else comes to a standstill in the mammoth "big top" when she performs. Among other wonderful feats Miss Leitzel suspends herself by one hand from the end of a rope and then performs as many as ninety consecutive "giant swings" without pause.

"But I have not forgotten my music," says she, "I practice continually. Some day I shall go back to the stage all the more fitted for it because of my greater power of endurance and breath control. Even now I can sing cadenzas of any length without even thinking of passing for breath."

JESS WILLARD COMING TO REGENT

In "The Challenge of Chance," coming to the Regent for a three-day engagement, starting Thursday, Jess Willard plays the part of Joe Bates, a Texas ranch foreman, who meets a pretty girl on a train while on his way to take a better job. He gets off and thrashes a man who is mistreating a horse, later to find that he had whipped the man who is to employ him. His job lost he finds a bigger one in trying to save the face horses which belong to the girl, Fay Calvert (Arline Pretty), and which are to be stolen from the Suarez track by an instigated attack of rebels.

Bates saves the horses after a chase from the thieving band. Willard and his fists are much in the picture. Every time he gets in a tight place he begins to swing right and left, and his assistants, number one more than a score in one instant, tumble down like ten pins.

ers perform some good comedy feats on the bounding pad; Emily Darrell is a clever comedienne who hands out a generous supply of clean, wholesome comedy, and June and Irene Melva entertain with high class and popular selections on the xylophone.

A picture that rings true to human life is now being shown at Stanley's Victoria Theater. It "Common Clay" is "Common Clay," play which ran one solid year at the Republic Theater, New York, featuring the charming dramatic star, Fannie Ward.

It is the century old story of a girl who was wronged—and wanted to be right. She was raised on a back street. Her father didn't work while her mother took in washing. She secured a position as maid in the home of Hugh Fullerton. Hugh fell in love with her and they married. But the child was wronged—the curse is a wonderful story. This is only a minor incident in the play. To learn the story you must see this wonderful picture.

Harrisburgers have to-day only to see Alice Joyce, the star of "The Lion and the House," at the Regent and many other notable productions. In her latest photoplay release, "The Spark Divine," at the Regent, Miss Gordon plays to large audiences yesterday and indication for to-day are even greater than yesterday's.

To-morrow and Thursday Viola Dana, the girl from gay Paree, star "The Parisian Tigress," will be shown in her best production, "Some Bride." This is a picture every man and woman in the city should see. It's the kind they'll like.

Friday and Saturday Bert Lytell will be shown in "The Lion's Den."

Kitty Gordon, former vaudeville star who played several years ago at the Orpheum Theater, is producing "Playthings of Passion," to Harrisburgers, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Miss Gordon wears $250,000 worth of clothes in this picture. It is the story of a social butterfly playing in the realm of love.

Harrisburgers have to-day only to see Alice Joyce, the star of "The Lion and the House," at the Regent and many other notable productions. In her latest photoplay release, "The Spark Divine," at the Regent, Miss Gordon plays to large audiences yesterday and indication for to-day are even greater than yesterday's.

To-morrow and Thursday Viola Dana, the girl from gay Paree, star "The Parisian Tigress," will be shown in her best production, "Some Bride." This is a picture every man and woman in the city should see. It's the kind they'll like.

Friday and Saturday Bert Lytell will be shown in "The Lion's Den."

Lila Lee appears in "Puppy Love" to-day at the Regent. It is said the photoplay is as delightful as the star.

Lila Lee at Regent star. The story is one of young love in a setting of the country town variety. It tells of the tragedies of youth and unrequited affection.

Presented only Shirley Mason as presented in "The Rescuing Angel." A beautiful young girl marries a millionaire because her father is in desperate financial straits. She is happy only in the thought that she has made a noble sacrifice to save her father.

But after she is settled down in her new home, a discarded suitor, not knowing of the marriage, and the wife arrives, tells her husband that she married him for his money. This results in a quarrel and the wife arranges that she really loves her husband and not his money.

Those who saw the show at the Paxtang Park Theater last evening got real value in their money. The bill was a hit with the park audience from the time the curtain went up on Nelson's Rats and Cats until it went down again when Pedgie's Japs finished the last stunt in their thrilling aerial act.

The feature act on the park bill is "The Four Musical Kilties," consisting of the famous Pepper twins and two attractive young Scotch lassies who put over a line of music, melody and melody that would make a favorable impression on any kind of an audience.

Martin and Walters are also very much on the park bill with a bright, snappy kit entitled "Can Fanny be white." John Healy, the old colored parson, late of Al. G. Field's Minstrels, is presenting a strong argument against the late Mark Twain's assertion that there were only seven original jokes in the world. John has at least eight new ones anyhow.

On Thursday evening there will be a grand fireworks display at the park. Manager Davis says when he was a boy they always started celebrating the glorious Fourth the "night before," and he thinks it a good idea to revive the custom. So on the evening of July 3 there will be a real fireworks display at Paxtang.

I SAVED $100 & GOT WELL, DECLARED A HAPPY WOMAN

Story Interests Everybody In These High Cost of Living Times

"This is my third box of Natonex and it has saved me more than one hundred dollars," said Mrs. Anna J. Potelunas of 136 South Main street, Wilkes-Barre. "You see," explained this Wilkes-Barre woman, "I was preparing to take a treatment for which there was a big fee in advance and so much a week. But, luckily for me just at that time a friend told me about Natonex and how people are praising it everywhere.

"They surely do not exaggerate what Natonex is worth. I had been miserable for three months and getting worse. I was getting weak and did not realize it until one day, while throwing a carpet over a line, I got a severe pain in my breast.

"The pain would be first on one side and then on the other. When it was near my heart it got me very nervous. I lost desire for food and would be kept awake all night by indigestion. I would get dizzy spells and it got so I would faint when sleeping.

"I was awfully worried and wondered how I was going to get through the spring house cleaning. But thanks to Natonex, that worry is the thing of the past, as well as all my other worries. My appetite has come back, my sleep is sound and so I have gotten my strength back.

"Another thing, I found Natonex splendid as a bowel and liver regulator. I have a friend who is taking the treatment I intended to take and it is not satisfactory and I am going to advise her to take Natonex."

"In these times of high living costs every dollar saved counts," said the Natonex representative. "Natonex can be taken for the trifling cost of ten cents a day."

Natonex is fully explained at the Gorgas drug store, 16 North Third street. It can even be tested free. Natonex is sold by leading druggists in every town. Demand the genuine Natonex and avoid disappointment.
