COAL EXPERT TO FIX VALUATION

Northumberland County Commissioners Employ Sekol to Finish Appraisalment

Sunbury, Pa., July 7.—Northumberland County Commissioners have appointed W. F. Sekol, Scranton coal land expert, to make an expert appraisal of anthracite properties in the county...

For more than a year there has been an agitation for revision upwards of anthracite mining property values in Northumberland county, where there are huge deposits of anthracite, said to be the third most valuable in the United States.

The county commissioners appointed T. Ellsworth Davies, of Scranton, to make an appraisal. He died when he had made only a partial report, and since then nothing more has been done.

Mr. Davies' statement to the commissioners showed that Northumberland county has an area of 469 square miles, 59 square miles or 32-102 acres, are within the coal measure.

Coal deposits, according to this report, originally were 4,044,852,000 tons of anthracite, from which 241,141,035 tons had been removed.

When the triennial assessment of three years ago was made, coal cost, or No. 6, as it is sometimes called, retailed at $7.75 a ton in Sunbury, which is twenty miles from the mine.

Since then it has gone to $8.20 a ton, an increase of more than 150 per cent. Allowing for increased costs of production, including labor and materials about the mine, it is asserted by taxpayers that taxes should be boosted considerably.

Pennsylvania Soldier Has Remarkable Souvenirs

Middleburg, Pa., July 7.—Prof. Nevin W. Moyer, of Linginstown, journeyed to Middleburg on Saturday to be initiated as a member of the Pennsylvania Alpine Club.

LABOR NEEDED ON PERRY FARMS

In Midst of Bountiful Harvest Almost Impossible to Secure Sufficient Help

New Bloomfield, Pa., July 7.—Although many workers have been released through the cessation of many war industries and many Perry countians have come home since the demobilization of the Army, the farm labor shortage, felt in the county during the past several years, continues bad this year.

This, too, despite the fact that wages offered for farm work are far in excess of those offered during previous years.

In the midst of the harvest season, county farmers have adopted several plans to solve the difficulty. In many instances, wives and daughters are going into the fields and are helping to do some of the lighter work. Travelers on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad have noticed large number of women so employed. In other instances the farmers work together, thereby performing their work more efficiently.
