

Typographical Union Endorses Mayor Keister

Mayor Daniel L. Keister was endorsed yesterday in resolutions passed by Harrisburg Typographical Union No. 14, as follows: "Whereas, Harrisburg Typographical Union No. 14, has been signally honored during the past two years in having one of its oldest continuously members, the Hon. Daniel L. Keister, a former president of No. 14, and a representative from this union to International Typographical Union conventions, elected to the office of Mayor of the City of Harrisburg, and

"Whereas, During the past two years, while serving the unexpired term of the late Mayor Ezra S. Meals he has conducted the affairs of the city with a marked degree of efficiency, and

President Finishing Message to Congress

By Wireless to The Associated Press. On Board the U. S. S. George Washington, Sunday, July 6.—The Presidential fleet, which is steaming toward New Harbor, to-day continued the first breath of the heat wave which has prevailed along the Atlantic coast. It was accompanied by humidity and considerable fog and the ships slackened their pace to twelve knots an hour.

President Wilson rested a good part of to-day but spent some time on the upper deck and with Mrs. Wilson, visited wounded soldiers in the deck hospital. He will devote tomorrow and Tuesday morning in finishing his message to Congress. This will probably be in shape to go over with some of his Cabinet advisers on Wednesday, preparatory to its presentation and the submission of the Peace Treaty, the Treaty with France and the protocols to Congress on Thursday.

All arrangements have been made for arriving in New York early Tuesday afternoon and in Washington Tuesday night. It is expected that the outgoing fleet of warships will be met on Tuesday morning, when the first salutes will be exchanged and the combined fleet will proceed toward the North Atlantic. It is expected that the fleet will reach some where near noon and the fleet will then move slowly through the Narrows to the upper bay.

Johnson won from G. R. McMillan; A. H. Armstrong won from A. H. Hafner; Dan Kunkel won from A. J. Martin; Horace Miller won from J. H. Gross; Warren Baldwin won from W. R. O'Hara; Harry Neal won from F. Riddell; John Sweeney won from G. H. Brown; Robert Moorhead won from C. F. King; C. B. Miller won from J. B. Collin.

TELLS OF WAR WORK Dr. H. E. Wiendard, of Lancaster, made an interesting address at the services in Christ Lutheran Church last evening. Dr. Wiendard saw service in France as an English instructor for French officers and in that way acquired some first-hand information as to the effect of the American forces on the French population. He made the statement that French educational life has been imbued with new stimulus by its contact with western religion. A service flag demonstration was held at the close of the service.

A Winter's Scene on the Up-Town Lake

ITALIAN PARK LAKE

For many years the girls and boys of Harrisburg, now grown to manhood and womanhood, have known about Italian Park and the lake at Division and Third streets, just south of the Harrisburg Academy grounds. But there is more interest in this tract now than at any time in 50 years. It embraces an important feature of the attractive plan submitted by the City Planning Commission to City Council the other day and seems to have met with the approval of everybody who believes in the creation of as many fresh-air and recreation spots as possible.

EXPOSE SECRET U. S. GOVERNMENT

"Immediately he took from the members of that council their power to order purchases and fix prices and soon dispensed with the services of those members of the advisory commission who had so deplorably bungled the control of the supplies for the Army."

"Afterwards," Mr. Graham declared, "when there was evidently discussion in Congress as to the illegality of members of the commissions on the Council buying from the matters referred to as violations of national policy and it was suggested that this embarrassment might be removed by the plan of the committee reorganization now under consideration."

Citing cases in which he said the Council formulated legislation before war was declared, which legislation later was considered by Congress, Mr. Graham declared that on February 15, 1917, the Council discussed the draft system and considered a report from Commissioners Samuel Gompers and Howard E. Coffin relative to the exclusion of labor from military service, on the same day recommended that Herbert Hoover be employed by the Government in connection with food control, and on March 3 endorsed the daylight saving scheme and recommended a Federal censorship of the press.

About the first thing the commission did was to take up the matter of arranging an easy method of communication between the manufacturers and the Government," Mr. Graham continued. "In several meetings, long before war was declared, the commission met with representatives of the manufacturing industries and formed an organization of them for selling supplies to the Government."

"This method consisted of having the representatives of various businesses producing goods which the Government would have to buy, form themselves into committees so they might be able to sell to the Government direct. When war was declared this machinery began to move."

"Although this scheme was supposed to enable the industries to deal with the Government as one man, the Government was at no time able to deal with the industries through one man and, on the contrary, throughout the war numerous Federal bureaus were bidding legislation each other for the same supplies with greatly increased cost to the Government. Under the ministrations of the Council, 'big business' was highly organized, while the Government remained wholly disorganized and incapable of protecting itself against flagrant profiteering."

"The officers say they do not expect during their westward voyage, as weather reports promise westerly winds and arrangements have been made by which they hope to obtain fuller and more frequent information about weather conditions on their way home."

Many Gatherings Are Scheduled For Penn-Harris

Assistant Manager Worthington at the Penn-Harris is very busy booking conventions and meetings at the big hotel these days, gatherings from all parts of the State taking advantage of holding their annual meeting at this famous hostelry. On July 29 the Pennsylvania State Grange, with two hundred guests, is to occupy the ballroom all day; an especial significance being attached to the sessions of the Committee of Conservation, the officers of which are Gifford Pinchot, chairman; William T. Creasy, Frederick Breckenman, George W. Woodruff, counsel; A. Nevin Detrich, secretary.

Altoona Honors Men Who Return From Overseas

Altoona celebrated the homecoming of the Blair county soldiers with a fine program covering Friday and Saturday, and as a fitting climax, a religious patriotic service was held in the First Lutheran Church yesterday under the direction of Rev. Dr. M. J. Kline, former pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church in this city. Dr. Kline stated in a public announcement that it was not until America entered the war—Christian America—that victory came to the Allies, and it was his thought that no community celebration in honor of the returning soldiers would be complete without a religious service in recognition of the hand of God in the winning of the war.

Dr. Kline in his morning sermon gave a brief resume of the history of the Republic, its wars, the achievements in the peaceful arts and industries, the restoration and developments of the ideals of government by the people, for the people and by the people and the priceless heritage which has been given to the whole world by the heroic sacrifices of the noble lives of the sons of the Republic.

Prohibition State Committee to Meet

park and lake features in the recommendation of the City Planning Commission. Once or twice in the history of the city generous tenders of this sort have been mistakenly declined, but it is believed the proposition now under consideration will be promptly accepted in view of the large and increasing population of the section of the city to be improved under the proposed plan. Prompt action is believed to be important.

Stowaway Hides in Rigging of R-34

New York, July 7.—That the first crossing of a lighter-than-air ship should lack none of the excitement connected with a seagoing voyage, there was a stowaway on board.

W. W. Ballantyne, a rigger, who was once a member of the crew, was told a few days before the dirigible "topped" that he would not be taken on the flight. Ballantyne, who was a prize-fighter before he enlisted, went to the head coxswain and learned that it was necessary to lighten the crew by three men and that he was one of the "unlucky ones." The way he changed his luck was told in this way by the stowaway:

"I'd worked hard, I had, bloody hard, on the bally blimp, but that didn't matter so much. You see, I'd never been to America, had my heart set on it, and my mind, too. So I sneaks out a bit before midnight, about two hours before the R-34 left Scotland. I hides in the rigging. No one saw me and we were off. When the balloon was about 200 feet up I changes my position to a more comfortable one. I hid between the gas bags No. 6 and No. 7 at the top of the bag."

CALLS FOR CURB ON MEAT PRICES

Department of Agriculture Says Retail Cost of Beef Is Not Justified

Washington, July 7.—In recommending that joint Federal and State supervision be effected over the "manufacture, sale, and distribution of meat products," the Department of Agriculture, through Clarence Ousley, Acting Secretary, declared that the retail prices of beef to the consuming public in every part of the nation were not justified by conditions found in the wholesale market or by the returns now obtained by the producers.

The situation which confronts the nation, Mr. Ousley says, demands drastic action, as the public is not consuming beef on anything like the pre-war scale, and as a result there is great danger that the livestock industry will suffer a decline. Producers who came to the aid of the Government during the war by increasing their stocks, he feels, should not now be forced to face such a situation and sell their stock at a loss.

creasing their stocks, he feels, should not now be forced to face such a situation and sell their stock at a loss. The need for the conservation of beef and lamb for export to Europe as Great Britain, Italy and other European countries have already turned to South America and Australia for these meats and require only the pork products of the United States. He adds that the present high scale of prices is undoubtedly a cause of the falling off in the public buying of beef products and that this situation should receive immediate attention, with a view to remedial legislation which would protect the consumers.

Mr. Ousley quotes figures to show that retail prices have not decreased in ratio to the decrease in wholesale prices. He also states that the packing industry is obtaining 'big returns' from by-products as a result of the jump of almost 50 per cent. in the quoted prices of hides.

VOLLEYBALL POPULAR Volleyball is coming into its own. When the Motor Club had its outing some time ago, C. A. Thomas, manager of the Bolling Springs Hotel, was an interested observer of a game of volleyball which waxed fast and furious on the lawn. So enthusiastic did Mr. Thomas become that he invited two teams to come over to his hotel and stage a game. So to-morrow afternoon fourteen or fifteen men will journey to Bolling Springs, there to be the guests of Mr. Thomas at dinner and later to put on three games for him. The host has promised that the winning team shall receive a silver cup.

For Biliousness
Biliousness is a common form of indigestion. It is brought on by food-waste which the stomach, intestines and bowels fail to expel. If you will take a few doses of Beecham's Pills, when bilious, you will soon rid yourself of the impurities, relieve sick headache, stimulate the liver and bile and tone the stomach.
