

ADAMS CO. MONEY BUYS FLOWERS

Contributions to "Kate Wolf Fund" Decorate American Graves in France

Gettysburg, Pa., July 8.—Along with all the other war activities that were carried on by the people of Adams county it has been learned that Adams county money bought the flowers that were used to strew the graves of the brave American boys buried in the American cemetery at Angers, France. Throughout the war Adams county people have been giving to a fund known as the "Kate Wolf Fund" and sent this money to France to Miss Kate Wolf, to be used by her, the first Adams county nurse to be sent to France, in giving some little comfort to the American boys who would pass through her station. A letter has just been received that was written on the first of June, telling how money from this fund financed the Memorial Day services there. The whole French garrison and all the officials, both civil and military, were there. The colonel commanding the French troops spoke, also a civilian, and both paid great tribute to the Americans. Three hundred and ninety American soldiers and one nurse are buried in this cemetery. Most of the graves had been strewn with flowers by the French people early in the morning, because their work would not permit them to come to the cemetery later in the day. There were magnificent wreaths made from French flowers and large bouquets.

Miss Wolf further says that as she stood among those rows of white crosses she thought of the cemetery at Gettysburg and the last time she was there on May 30, 1947, and contrasted the difference between that and the rows of lately-picked earth and freshly painted wooden crosses now surrounding her.

Boy Riding Bicycle Killed by Lightning

Gettysburg, Pa., July 8.—Struck by lightning as he was riding on a bicycle, on a road near Littlestown, Claude O. Winters, 14 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Winters, was instantly killed. His dead body, badly burned, was found soon afterward by people who happened along the road. Part of his clothing had been ripped off and the bicycle was a partial wreck.

Danville Raises Fund For Victory Celebration

Danville, Pa., July 8.—This borough has raised $4,860.25 to date for a Montour county welcome home and victory celebration, which will be held here August 31 and September 2 and 3. The last big contributor was the Reading Iron Company, which sent a check for $300. A memorial tablet will be erected and there will be big parades. Each service man will receive a badge presented by the town.

HEADS BUMPED WHILE DIVING

Hero Who Rescued Three From Drowning Narrowly Escapes Death in River

Sunbury, Pa., July 8.—Diving in ten feet of water while bathing in the Susquehanna at Sandy Beach, near here, Palmer Wheeland, who himself has rescued three persons from drowning there, struck his head against that of a companion and did not come up. Robert Rorick, a returned soldier, dove in and rescued the half-conscious young man, who was resuscitated after much effort. Wheeland has been recommended to the Caregile Hero Fund Commission for his rescues, and his case is being investigated, it is said. He recently returned from service in France.

BUY A NEW HAT WHILE YOU EAT

New York Girls Attend Bargain Sales at Lunch Time

New York.—Shopping while you eat is the newest time and labor saving invention in New York. It is done at the Ann-Fulton Cafeteria of the Y. W. C. A.

A professional shopper, Mrs. Mabel Terwilliger, takes a lot of summer dresses, hot weather hats and blouses to the cafeteria for a noon hour sale once a week. Business girls of the Wall Street district can eat a lunch and buy a gown all in the same building and in the same noon hour.

For a long time the business women who work down there have been complaining about their shopping troubles. Their noon hour is too short to allow them to get up town to the stores. And their closing time in the afternoon is also the closing time of the shops. Saturday afternoon, which they have free, most of the up-town shopkeepers use as a holiday, too.

Mrs. Terwilliger began a shopping bureau at the cafeteria a few days ago. She or her assistant, Mrs. Bernice Schwieder, are at a desk on the fifth floor of the cafeteria every noon hour. They match silks, buy gowns and hats and gloves. They search out all kinds of difficult things like orchid silk and party hats. If their purchases are not satisfactory they take them back and make another try. The entire shopping service is free.

It was through this personal shopping service that Mrs. Terwilliger got the idea of a big sale with costumes for street, office, vacation and evening wear. Mrs. Terwilliger clothes people in Shanghai, China, in India, France and women in all parts of America. She dresses dozens of women whom she has never seen.

"Women are spending more money and buying better clothes now than they ever did," Mrs. Terwilliger said. "Of course, I realize prices have gone up and they have to pay more. But they are dressing better. Some of my business women customers who never would pay more than $29 to $39 for a suit now think nothing of spending from $69 to $75 on them."

Along with the shopping convenience there is a manicurist at the cafeteria every noon. She also will come back after five o'clock for any who desire. And there are shampoo parlors planned for the near future. There are rest rooms and dressing rooms for girls who want to stop in and rest between work and dinner or to change their clothes before going to a party at night.

A professional mender is to be on hand within a few days. She will have her needle and thread ready to sew up any sudden rip or tear. And she will take mending home at a specified price per hour. The Ann-Fulton is much more than a cafeteria. It has a top floor devoted to just being useful.

PAINTED ROCKS FOUND

The only "painted rocks" east of Lake Superior are those on Seneca one of Central New York's Finger Lakes, on which are drawings made by the Seneca Indians in commemoration of a chief who here sang his death song and leaped to the eternal silence of the waters after his warriors had been routed by Sullivan's expedition.

Now You May Eat More Beef and Lamb

The war is over; and all restrictions on meat are off.

Now you may eat all you want with a free conscience—beef, lamb, veal—three times a day if you wish.

You have done splendidly; you have helped win the war by denying yourself meat, as you have in dozens of other ways.

But you needn't hold off any more; it's over "over there" forever.

Most of the boys are back at work; army meat demands are no longer a strain.

England and other European Countries do not have to depend solely upon us any more. Ever since the beginning of the war, the American live stock raiser has been raising so much more live stock that there is plenty to go 'round.

So, go back to your meat and enjoy it.
